Mayor Weeks At Inaugural Says That He Will Insist On Economy This Year

States That City Lost Money By Accepting PWA Grants for Public Improvements

On January 5, 1874, 60 years ago, the first Mayor of our city, the Hon. James F. C. Hyde, stood before the law-making body of this community and urged his fellow citizens to "adopt a system of careful economy in their homes, in their city, in their state and in the nation," for business was at a low ebb and uncertainty hung over the future. And as your present Mayor, beginning the last year of my service to this city, I feel that I can do no better than to repeat his words—for we too in this city and throughout the nation and the world face an uncertain future. I shall continue to call for ordered economy, as the way out of our dilemma, if I am the only political office holder in America doing so, because it is my most sincere conviction that until we balance budgets, stop reckless spending, eliminate the threat of government competition with business, and give encouragement to legitimate private enterprise that the road we travel will be a rough one.

Listen, if you will, to a voice from the past—listen to the words of Mayor Hyde who started this city on its way. To my mind they might very well have been written for today's uses. His advice is sound and because the men of those days eventually listened to it they emerged from dark and troubled times into the sunlight of prosperity just as we shall when we face hard, sound economic facts and stop listening to the group of dreamers who, at a few strokes, would refashion the whole economic system.

In simple, yet forceful language, the first chief executive of Newton said: "I believe the time has come to adopt a system of the most careful economy in the home, the town, the city, county, state and nation. We cannot, as a people, go on much longer as we have been going for the past 10 years without disastrous results."

"With business at a low ebb, and uncertainty hanging over the future, should we not be very careful in the expenditures we make? We know that some large cities in the country have pursued such an extravagant and reckless course that they find it very difficult to borrow money at any fair rate of interest. On all sides we hear of rapidly increasing city and town debts. The time for payment of both principal and interest of such debts will come sooner or later and must, in some cases, prove a very heavy burden."

"Let us be content to do without some luxuries that we should like well enough rather than burden ourselves and our children with a large debt. I do not ask or expect you to stop all progress and improvement, and maintain a 'masterly inactivity'; but to exercise wise discrimination, and only attempt those improvements which are necessary, and for the best interest of all concerned."

"There may be a few interested parties who will complain if we guard the treasury too carefully, but the majority of our citizens will thank us for all honest endeavors to conduct the affairs of the city in a truly economical manner."

Those were the words expressed 60 years ago by the first Mayor of Newton. I firmly believe they apply today as forcefully as they did then, and that while we must not, as he warned, maintain an attitude of 'masterly inactivity,' we shall be well advised to proceed slowly and cautiously in the matter of municipal expenditures. Fortunately we have a good board of city governors. True we lost only yesterday some of the best servants the city ever had—men who gave freely of their time and talents without compensation but with honor—but today we have replaced them with other good men who are intent on maintaining the proud record of Newton and adding to its reputation. Nine new men have come into membership in this board within a short time. Seven of them are sitting among you today for the first time, and the School Committee presents one new member who was not with us a year ago today.

It becomes my pleasure to welcome them as members of this city government. They must already realize that they are filling the ranks of Newton's leading citizenry, who year after year have held to the objective of creating in this favored spot a city as nearly ideal from every standpoint as man could wish for. You here who will make our local laws have a responsibility and trust that cannot but be considered seriously and discharged honestly and faithfully. I am confident that you will do your part with Newton's high ideals of municipal government ever in mind.

It is gratifying to be able to say once more as I have in several preceding years that Newton's financial condition continues to be satisfactory. We continue to meet our obligations as they mature, and our credit continues to be unquestioned, as is well evidenced by the extremely low rates of interest which we pay for borrowed money. As an example of this, excepting two temporary loans made in January and February, our average rate on the ten succeeding loans for 1934 was less than 1/2 of one per cent. There are, however, some aspects to our balance sheet which are not all that we might have hoped for. Our net debt shows an increase of approximately $610,000, as compared to January 1, 1934, largely due to loans made to cover the cost of our several Public Works Administration projects. I know of no projects for 1935 which will involve the necessity of borrowing money, however, so I anticipate, as a result of serial retirements during the coming year, that the net debt will, 12 months hence, show a substantial reduction from today's total, which I trust may be the high point for some years to come. Our borrowing capacity remains approximately the same as for 1934 in view of the fact that most of our loans during the year were made outside of the debt limit. The figures for the city surplus are not at present available. I anticipate, however, that they will show a moderate shrinkage from the comparable figures for the preceding year. In any discussion of our present financial conditions, it seems to me pertinent to call your attention to the fact that tax collections remain a problem—the evidence being found in the total of tax titles held by the city. The comparative annual figures from January 1, 1930, to date, are as follows:

Year	Amount
1931	38,846.07
1932	49,317.45
1933	109,664.62
1934	177,773.03
1935	195,000.00 (estimated)

The bare comparisons indicate the (Continued on Page 8)

School Program For ERA Centres

Weekly Forums Will Also Be Conducted

In connection with the opening of the community centres in different parts of Newton by the Newton Recreation Department, a plan for the establishment of certain classes by the School Department is under consideration. Such a plan would be financed by ERA funds. It would enable classes to be started in several centres throughout the city in various subjects in which adults in the community may be interested.

Superintendent Warren in discussing the matter suggested for each centre a forum group, meeting once a week to discuss current problems; classes in economics, sociology, art, music drama; maintenance classes for those who have studied foreign languages and wish to continue their study of these languages; maintenance classes in stenography and accounting for those who have had some training in these fields, as well as classes in physical education.

In order to get this program in operation, it is necessary to secure persons who have had training in these various fields and who are eligible under the ERA regulations for employment.

To the end that such classes may be started in various centres, the Superintendent of Schools is interviewing on Saturday morning, Jan. 5, persons who consider themselves qualified by training and experience to undertake such work.

Saltonstall Talks At Meeting of Newton Rotary

Says Federal Government Has Usurped State Rights

The Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the Massachusetts House, gave the members of the Newton Rotary Club and their guests food for thought in his talk to them Monday noon. Speaking on political problems facing the Commonwealth, Mr. Saltonstall emphasized the importance of a strong minority party if our democratic system is to continue. With 46 per cent of the popular vote going to the Republicans, we have then in Massachusetts a strong minority party which should be effective.

"We shall hear a great deal about the gasoline tax during the next session on Beacon Hill," said the speaker. "Shall the tax be used only for the benefit of the highways, or shall some of it be used for other things in helping to balance the budget? Then the question of biennial sessions is bound to come again. Only four or five states still have annual sessions. But can Massachusetts afford to give up its traditional right of free petition? With the enormous number of petitions annually, a yearly session would seem necessary—a safeguard for the blowing off of steam."

Mr. Saltonstall called attention to the tremendous growth of power in the federal government during the past two years and the consequent diminution of state rights. "How much of our local affairs do we want Washington to manage for us, he asked. Massachusetts has worked out some social problems for herself which the federal government now wants to do for states that have not had the same advantages. Is it fair that Massachusetts should be taxed for these federal activities? In conclusion, he asked, "How far do we want a strong central government to go?"

Warren Brimblecom, representative from Newton in the House, introduced Speaker Saltonstall as the next Republican governor of the Commonwealth.

Judge Elias B. Bishop Dies

Judge Elias B. Bishop, of the Massachusetts Superior Court, died at his home, 40 The Ledges rd., Newton Centre, on Sunday, Dec. 30. Judge Bishop's death was unexpected, and followed a heart attack. While presiding at the equity session in the Suffolk Superior Court on Friday, he had mentioned that he did not feel well, but he did not suppose his condition was serious.

Judge Bishop was born in Newton Centre, August 2, 1869, the son of Judge and Mrs. Robert R. Bishop. He attended the Newton public schools and Phillips Andover Academy, graduated from Harvard in 1894, and from Harvard Law School in 1897. In 1898 he became a partner in the law firm of Cushing & Cabot and he was associated with George M. Cushing until he was appointed to the superior court bench in 1920 by Governor Coolidge. In 1905 and 1906 he was a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen. In 1907, 1908 and 1909 he represented Newton in the State Legislature. In 1915 he was appointed City Solicitor of Newton by Mayor Childs. During the fourteen years he served as a judge of the superior court he gained a high reputation for ability, fairness and the proper use of leniency or severity when either was justified. He was a lifelong member of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, and was quite active in civic affairs of his community. He was a member of the Union Club and City Club of Boston, was a trustee of Andover Academy since 1907 and President of its trustees in recent years.

In 1894 he married Emilie F. Hunter. She died in 1904. In 1914 he married Della M. Cleaves, who had been his secretary. He is survived by his widow, four children, Robert R., of West Newton; Mrs. Albert R. of Weston; Stephen H., of Newton Centre, and John H., a student at Andover.

Judge Bishop's funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at his late home, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity Church officiated. Among those present were former Mayors Childs and Hatfield; Senator Hollis, Judges Rugg and Fos of the Supreme Court; Judges Hall, Quidd, O'Connell, Weed, Pinanski, Williams, Gibbs, Greenhalge, Swift, McLeod, Goldberger, Cox and Whiting of the Superior court and many other prominent citizens including a delegation from the Boston Bar Association. Interment was at Newton Cemetery.

Flags on public buildings in Newton were at half-mast on Monday and Tuesday by order of Mayor Weeks as a tribute to Judge Bishop. Prefacing his inaugural address at City Hall on Tuesday, Mayor Weeks praised the character of Judge Bishop and the service he had rendered to the city and state.

Amesbury Again Chairman of School Com.

The Newton School Committee held a meeting at the Technical School Building on Tuesday afternoon and organized for the coming year. Walter Amesbury of Amesbury was again elected chairman and George Kellar secretary.

Townsend Club Meeting Jan. 8 At High School

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 8th, at 8 o'clock a meeting open to the public will be held at the Newton High School auditorium. The speaker will be Dr. Samuel M. Dick and the meeting is under the auspices of the First Townsend Club in Newton. Dr. Dick will give his views on how to lessen crime, increase buying power, eliminate idleness and balance the budget.

Sympathetic Understanding

THE loss of a loved one is a burden enough, and to have someone you can rely on to look after every detail of the funeral is a great relief at such a critical time. Sympathetic understanding of the situation qualifies us to serve you.

Gordon Elected President Of Newton Aldermen, and Floyd As Vice-President

Controversy Over Committee Appointments Delays Start of Inaugural Exercises

The inauguration of Newton's City Government for 1935 took place at City Hall on Tuesday afternoon at 3:25. The exercises were scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock but because of unusual circumstances it was about half an hour later when City Clerk Grant called the meeting to order. About 75 persons were present in the aldermanic chamber, about half of this number being former Aldermen and city employees. Included in the gathering were Senator Hollis and Representatives Baker and Brimblecom.

Alderman Grebenstein, because of being one of the senior members of the Board, was selected to be temporary chairman of the meeting. He appointed Aldermen Bowen, Holden and Temperley as the committee to escort Mayor Weeks and his guests into the chamber. The mayor was accompanied by Bishop Francis J. Spellman of Newton Centre, who delivered the prayer. Mayor Weeks then gave the oath of office to the members-elect of the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee.

The following took the oath—Aldermen-at-large: Ward 1, John E. Barwise, Frank T. McCabe; Ward 2, Albert M. Lyon; Ward 3, Maynard Hutchinson; Ward 4, Charles B. Floyd; Ward 5, Donald D. McKay; Ward 6, Henderson Inches; Ward 7, Clarence C. Colby, George E. Rawson, Ward Aldermen, Ward 1, James P. Atkins; Ward 2, Donald M. Hill; Ward 3, Albert R. Guzzi; Ward 4, Dennis M. Cronin; Ward 5, Clifford H. Walker; Ward 6, Paul M. Goddard; Ward 7, James B. Melcher. Members of the School Committee—Ward 3, George H. Fernald, Jr.; Ward 5, Mrs. Margaret H. Woods, Kirtley Mather, member-elect from Ward 6 was not present.

Mayor Weeks then paid tribute to Judge Elias B. Bishop whose funeral service was then being held. He said that Judge Bishop had served many years as City Solicitor and a superior court judge with ability and distinction.

tion. The Mayor then read his inaugural address, which is printed elsewhere in the GRAPHIC.

At the conclusion of the Mayor's address he and Bishop Spellman were escorted from the chamber. Alderman Grebenstein then called for nominations for the office of president of the Board of Aldermen. Alderman Floyd of Ward 4 nominated Alderman Holden of Ward 4 and the nomination was seconded by Alderman Temperley. This nomination was made unanimous and Alderman Gordon assumed the office. Alderman Holden nominated Alderman Floyd for Vice President of the Board, and this nomination was also made unanimous. The Alderman re-elected Francis Newhall as City Treasurer and Frank M. Grant as City Clerk.

President Gordon then announced that he had appointed Alderman Bowen, chairman of the Finance committee of the Aldermen, and he requested Mr. Bowen to take the seat assigned by custom to the chairman of that committee. Gordon next announced the committees of the Board for the ensuing year, with the exception of the Public Works Committee. He commented that because of the unusual number of new members on the Board it had been difficult to select the committees. He also stated that he would not announce the personnel of Public Works Committee until further consideration was given to it, because he had found it especially difficult to decide on this committee. Only six of the seven members of the Claims and Rules Committee were named. The name of the member from Ward 4 will be announced later.

It was later learned that the reason for the non-issuance of the usual printed committee lists and the failure to name the Public Works Committee was a controversy over committee assignments. It was alleged that President Gordon had agreed to

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Mid-Year Meeting Newton Federation

The Auburndale Woman's Club, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, president, will be hostess to the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs at their Mid-Year meeting on Tuesday, January 8th, at 2 p. m., in the Auburndale Club House, on Melrose street.

The business meeting will be followed by a musical program, given by Mrs. Charles R. Hector, Soprano soloist, who will be accompanied by Leo Lipwin, the popular pianist, particularly known for his work at the Pop Concerts.

Phillips Endicott Osgood, D.D., L.H.D., clergyman, educator, dramatist, lecturer, will address the meeting on "What's Your P.Q. (Personality Quotient)?" Dr. Osgood is rector of Emmanuel Church, Boston; chairman of the Episcopal Church's Commission on Religious Drama; a regular lecturer at the Wellesley Conference; and he has lectured at various colleges in the middle West, as well as before clubs, schools, conventions, church convocations, teachers' associations, and business groups. He is the author of "Old-Time Church Drama," "The Sinner Beloved," and of many religious dramas.

After twelve years as rector of St. Mark's, Minneapolis, Dr. Osgood has recently come to Boston and is very much in demand as a lecturer. A liberal, modern, humorous, and optimistic speaker, he is considered one of the ablest clergymen of today. His contacts and researches are extensive.

Mrs. Victor P. Ratzburg is in charge of the afternoon's program, and all clubwomen are urged to attend and enjoy it. The railroad station is just across from the Club House and the bus stop at Lexington and Commonwealth avenues is only one block from Melrose street.

"Gloucester Through a Color Camera"

"Around Gloucester With A Color Camera," an illustrated lecture by Leonard Craske, sculptor, actor, author and lecturer, brings to the Newton Community Club, on January 10th, a delightful visit to beauty spots along the seacoast. The slides used are taken in natural color on Agfa color plates.

Mr. Craske was born in England, and was educated at City of London School, London University and St. Thomas' Hospital. He studied drawing under the Dictated, and worked as assistant to Paul M. Montford, English Sculptor. Among his best known works of sculpture are "The Gloucester Fisherman," "World War Memorial," in New York City, and "The Joy of Life," at Peterboro, N. H.

The Music committee, Mrs. Wallace Wales, chairman, will present Frank Zecchino, a Violinist who is thirteen years of age. This child prodigy won the 1932 and 1933 scholarships given by the Massachusetts State Federation of Music Clubs. He will make his professional debut at Jordan Hall, Boston, and in New York City, in February.

Among those serving on the Social committee will be Mrs. Arthur D. Weston, Mrs. George L. White, Mrs. Walter C. Whitney, and Mrs. George F. Wilson.

All interested are reminded that Mrs. Harold L. Higgins, chairman of the Public Health committee, announces that Monday, January 7th, will be the date for the first of the series of lectures to be given at a Child Study Class, at 322 Franklin street, Newton. The speaker will be Dr. Margaret Glendy, and the topic "Child Health Problems." Following the talk there will be a discussion and questionnaire. Mothers of children under ten years of age, who are not club members, are invited to join the Class. Tickets for a single meeting, or for the course may be obtained from the chairman (Telephone, Newton North 0442-M) or from members of the Public Health committee.

Presidents' Day At Newtonville

Everyone is cordially invited by the Newtonville Woman's Club to attend the musicale on Sunday, January 6th, at 4 o'clock in the High School Auditorium. The program appears elsewhere in this issue of THE GRAPHIC, as the Concert is open to the public.

The Club will observe Presidents' Day on the afternoon of Tuesday, January 8th. For the entertainment of the guests and members, Adele Hoos Lee will read Philip Barry's "Paris Bound," a play dealing with the intricate problems of a young married couple of the present day. Mrs. Lee, considered outstanding as an interpreter of plays, first came into prominence during the World War when she directed an entertainment group and presented programs throughout the American fighting areas. She is head of the Bishop-Lee School on Beacon Hill and, during the summer, of the Berkshire Theatre Workshop at Malden Bridge, N. Y.

The music of the afternoon will consist of songs by Arthur Wellcome, Tenor, whose smooth clear voice, and intelligent interpretation of songs and arias, and likable personality are pleasing features of his singing. Mr. Wellcome will be accompanied by Edna Hadden.

At the Tea following the program, Mrs. George A. Edmonds, Mrs. William L. Vosburgh, and Mrs. Percy E.

OTHER EVENTS PAST AND TO COME

Social Science Club

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday, January 9th, there will be a paper by Mrs. Frank P. Scofield on "Mexico Since the Conquest." Illustrations will be presented by Miss Florence C. Bacon, through the courtesy of the Bureau of University Travel. Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer and Miss Florence A. Graves will be hostesses.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

A splendid program of violin music and readings was enjoyed by the members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, December 28th. Mrs. Ottilia Netsh Tuttle, of Newtonville, played three groups of violin solos, and Mrs. Ruth Farber was her accompanist, in a rendition that delighted the audience.

Mrs. Roy A. Stinson, one of the talented members of the Club, read most pleasingly three poems, the first two by the well-known writer, Henry Drummond, and the third a Scottish one by Alexander Anderson.

The president of the Club, Mrs. Edgar F. Hay, who opened the meeting, announced that Bowling Classes would be held at the Club Headquarters starting in January. A small fee will be charged, which will be used to raise the quota of the Club for the Cancer Fund.

Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, chairman of the American Home Class, read a financial report of the last meeting. The Club members were very pleased with the substantial amount raised at this meeting, the success of which was due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Otis and her committee, and of Mrs. B. Howard Lester and her committee.

Mrs. Louis A. Bacon, who is in charge of Community Service, in the department of Public Welfare, reported that, thanks to the generous support of Club members, four needy families in Newton were supplied with large Christmas baskets and with a great many articles of clothing.

The meeting was followed by a social hour in the Tea Room.

The Legislative committee, of which Mrs. Raymond O. Littlefield is chairman, invites all members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club to a Morning Coffee to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Keating, 29 Rangeley road, on Tuesday, the 8th of January, from 10 to 12 o'clock. Current legislation will be discussed and a social hour enjoyed.

Waban Woman's Club

On Monday, January 7th, the Waban Woman's Club will hold an evening meeting, for Club members and their guests at the Angier School Auditorium. The speaker will be Whitling Williams and his subject "Give Us This Day Our Daily Job."

Auburndale Review Club

The next regular meeting of the Auburndale Review Club will be held on January 8th, at 10 a. m. The program for the morning will be papers

Variety of Programs at Newton Centre

The International committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will sponsor the second International Supper Discussion at the Club House on Monday, January 7th, at 6:45 p. m. Professor Arthur I. Andrews will speak on the subject "Conflicts in Central Europe." His talk should be of special interest as he has made a special study of the underlying causes of the assassination of King Alexander. Also, Professor Andrews was formerly the visiting professor at the University of Prague in Czechoslovakia, and he has taught history at the University of Vermont.

Supper reservations at 65 cents may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Lucius Thayer, West Newton 1415. Club members will be admitted free for the speaking at 7:45, for others there is an admission fee of 25 cents.

On Tuesday, January 8th, at 10 a. m. the Literature committee will present Dr. Miriam Franc Skirball, who will review "English Journey," by J. B. Priestley, at the Club House.

On Thursday, January 10th, at 10 a. m., also at the Club House, Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will lecture on Current Events.

The American Home committee has planned an All-Day program at the Club House for Friday, January 11th, with the following program offered at 10 a. m., a lecture by Mrs. Imogen B. Wolcott, director of the Homemakers' Service Department of First National Stores, Inc. At 11 a. m., a Demonstration Talk by Miss Edith Jamieson, entitled "The Laundering of Fine Fabrics." Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m., tickets for which at 50 cents must be ordered from Mrs. T. A. Seabrook, Centre Newton 2191, or from Mrs. W. R. K. Mick, Centre Newton 4039, not later than January 8th. At 1:30 p. m., a film will be shown illustrating a talk on "Weaving the Romance of Rugs," with an exhibition of Domestic Rugs. "Practical Interior Decorating," will be discussed by Mrs. Esther M. Andros. And at 2 o'clock, a Fashion Show of Knitted Dresses will be presented by Miss Gertrude Cousins. Guest tickets are only 25 cents for the day.

On the general subject of the year: "Boston," including one on "Musical Organizations," by Mrs. William N. Tenney; "Music of Boston Composers," by the Program committee; and one on "Contributions of the Newer Races," by Mrs. Walter R. Amesbury. The hostess will be Mrs. W. J. Spaulding, of Wolcott street.

Boston Woman's Civics Club

Dean Clarence R. Skinner of Tufts College will be the speaker at the Boston Woman's Civics Club at Hotel Brunswick, on Wednesday, the 9th, at 2:15 p. m. The president, Mrs. John A. Groves, of Newton Centre, will tell of the Washington Crime Conference which she attended, and Mrs. Archer W. Ives will speak on the City Federation meeting.

State Federation

RADIO. Tomorrow morning, the 5th, Mrs. Schuyler Van Ness, chairman of American Home in the State Federation, will speak on the State Radio half-hour 11:30 to noon, over Station WBZ. Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, State chairman of Music, also will give a message on her subject. There will be piano solos by Edwin Bittcliffe.

CHORAL CONCERT. The Choral Society of the State Federation will give a New Year's Concert of early and modern music tomorrow evening, the 5th at the Copley-Plaza Hotel at 8:15 o'clock. Singers numbering over fifty representing many women's clubs throughout the State will be in the chorus, of which Mrs. M. H. Gulesian has charge. Reginald Boardman, pianist, and Leonard Wood, violinist, will be the guest artists, with George Sawyer Dunham conducting. Mrs. Gulesian will play the piano accompaniment when her own composition, "Summer Night," is sung.

An informal reception will follow the concert, with many prominent Massachusetts women composers of music, and with many of the State Federation officers in the receiving line.

GOVERNMENT OF NATION, STATE, AND CITY

With the new year the minds of the people are focused upon the inauguration of new governing bodies in national, state and municipal capacities. It is rather a coincidence that in all three of these divisions of our form of representative government unusual or unprecedented situations are occurring. Nationally the "lame duck" sessions of Congress have passed out of existence. The present Congress was elected last November and begins its work two months later instead of the former fourteen months. In addition the present Congress is marked by a smaller Republican minority than ever before in the history of the country. Such a situation presents dangers which cannot be overlooked. We trust that the Republican minority will be constructively critical of measures which are unsound and co-operatively inclined to a point beyond partisanship of those measures which are of real benefit.

In the state of Massachusetts we have several unprecedented situations. Chief among these are the filibustering measures being carried on in the Senate. A deadlock which prevented that body from taking part in the inaugural exercises of the new Governor. It is indicative of stormy sessions to come later when important measures affecting the citizens of the Commonwealth must be considered. It is indicative of compromises that frequently detract from the full benefits of desirable legislation. A situation which calls for the setting aside of selfish interests. The inaugural of Governor Curley yesterday, in the absence of the Senate, also made history when the new Chief Executive took the oath of office from the Secretary of State at exercises at which the Speaker of the House presided. Governor Curley's inaugural address was another feature. In a few brief words the lengthy message might well be described as characteristic of the man, of his energy, of his alertness, of his feelings, and of his ability.

Locally the inaugural exercises on Tuesday witnessed the induction into office of a larger number of new members of the Board of Aldermen than for many years. The new board will play its part in the affairs of the city in this period of recovery. Mayor Weeks quoted from the address of Mayor Hyde, the first chief executive of Newton as a city, delivered at a time when the country was emerging from a period of depression. That address sounded the call to cling to that which was proved sound yet it pointed out the necessity for progress.

Truly it cannot be denied that the eyes and minds of the citizens are focused upon the governing bodies of the nation, state, and municipality as never before. We do not fear for the future. The traditions of our country, the spirit of our people, will not fail if we aim for a common goal.

Another Auto Fatality on Washington St.

Another fatal automobile accident occurred on Washington street at 6:40 a.m. Saturday morning when a truck driven by Raymond Bourne of Marlboro struck Charles Semple, 64, an employee of the Newton Hospital, as the elderly man was crossing Washington street from 2197 Washington street where he resided. Semple received a fracture of the spine, broken ribs and other injuries which caused his death on Tuesday. Mr. Semple was a native of Bangor, Maine. He was formerly a resident of Lawrence and had been employed at the hospital for about two years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louise Semple; a son, Oscar Semple, of Medford; and a daughter, Mrs. Harriet Riley of Newton Lower Falls. His funeral service was held on Thursday morning at the Pry Funeral parlor, Newton Center, Rev. Ben Roberts officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Important Assessors' Notice

The date for filing lists of Personal Property and Real Estate in Massachusetts

HAS BEEN CHANGED FROM APRIL 1st TO JANUARY 1st.

Under the new law—Chapter 59, Section 29, such lists are required to be filed between January 1st and February 15, 1935.

Blanks may be obtained at the Assessors' Office, and at the local Banks. On application, they will be sent by mail. To avoid mistakes or misunderstandings, they should be made before a member of the Board of Assessors whenever it is possible to do so.

The Assessors' Notices calling on all owners of Personal Property and real estate to make their returns, will also be found on Bulletin Boards throughout the city on and after January 1, 1935.

Gordon Elected President at City Inauguration

name Alderman Bowen as chairman of the Finance Committee because of his seniority on that committee. Instead, he had specified another Alderman for this office. When this became known shortly before the time for starting the inaugural exercises, Gordon was approached by some members of the Board and told that unless he named Bowen as chairman, Alderman Floyd would be elected president despite the action of the December 17th caucus. Gordon then yielded and instead of adhering to the choice he had made for the Finance Committee chairmanship, named Bowen.

The mix-up on Tuesday was a sequel to the rivalry for the Presidency of the Board of Aldermen between Aldermen Gordon and Floyd. Gordon has been a member of the Board for 12 years and chairman of the Finance Committee for the past two years. Floyd has been an Alderman for six years. It has been the practice of the Aldermen in recent years to alternate the chairmanship of the Finance Committee to the office of President of the Board. During the past ten years Aldermen White, George Pratt, Weeks and Collins were so advanced. Some weeks ago Alderman Floyd became a candidate for president and a campaign among the 1935 members was started in his behalf. It appeared that he had a sure majority of the necessary votes. Gordon, however, laid claim to the office on the strength of his seniority in the Board and the established precedent of advancing the Finance Committee chairman. An issue foreign to Newton politics was allegedly injected into the campaign which gave Gordon an added argument. Gordon made it known that he intended to make a real fight for the office. Subsequently, at a caucus of the members of the 1935 Board of Aldermen, held at City Hall on the night of December 17, Gordon was unanimously nominated for the office of President, and Floyd for Vice President. One of the principal prerogatives of the President of the Aldermen has been the selecting of the various committees and their chairmen. The Finance Committee rates as the most important in the Board.

The committees as announced by President Gordon are as follows:—Finance Committee—Bowen, chairman; Floyd, Grebenstein, Holden, McCabe, McKay, Melcher, Franchises and Licenses Committee; Hill, chair-

Girl Scouts

Five Golden Eaglets Awarded

Fifty-five Golden Eaglets, the highest award which may be attained by any girl scout, have been awarded to as many Newton Girl Scouts during the seventeen years of Newton Girl Scouting.

Five new names were added to the list on last Sunday, when this award was given to five Newton girls: Barbara Phinney, Jean Walker, Deborah Wing, Helen Oldfield and Phyllis Sweetser.

The ceremony was held in Memorial Hall at City Hall and was a very impressive as well as beautiful one. It was planned by the Committee of Badges and Awards of the Newton Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Theron Walker of Newton Highlands, chairman, and it was a ceremony which will long be remembered by those who attended it.

At four o'clock "Assembly" was sounded and as Taps was played, girl scouts representing many of the Newton troops, each carrying an American flag, marched into the hall and lined up in front of a very large and beautiful National Flag which was suspended on the wall at the rear of the platform, thus making a very beautiful and fitting setting for the ceremony.

Mrs. Walker spoke to the audience telling them of the requirements of the Golden Eaglet and presented the girls to Mrs. Walton Redfield, Newton Commissioner, who had earned the award as well as being worthy of receiving it. Mrs. Redfield and Miss Freeman, Newton Director, gave the awards.

Fifteen Newton Golden Eaglets were present and they welcomed the girls into the Massachusetts Order of Golden Eaglets. The Rev. Ben Roberts of the Congregational Church of Newton Highlands, gave a very fine address. All joined in singing a Christmas carol and the ceremony closed with Taps.

The large audience enjoyed the Christmas carols sung by the Newton Girl Scout chorus, led by Miss Betty Adams, the Newton Field Captain. The bugle calls were played by Miss Jane Hayden of West Newton, the Massachusetts Champion Girl Scout bugler, and the drummer was Miss Carolyn Hayden.

Woman's Assn. Presents All-Group Program

The Woman's Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Newtonville gave a stunt program at its afternoon session on Wednesday when each of the six groups took part. Two numbers, "The Dance of the Gollywogs" and "The Dance of the Dwarfs," were spirited and picturesque. The eight Gollywogs with their large heads and small bodies gave the grotesque appearance of a group of automata. The Dwarf Trio, who owed their diminutive size to a clever arrangement of scenery rather than to gland trouble, were at their best in "The Man of the Flying Trapeze," which they sang with appreciation.

A dressing contest with a gold (?) medal award for the most quickly executed toilet was very amusing. Another equally amusing stunt was the picture of a gathering of women at a sewing meeting where the chairman was able to keep her helpers at work and in good spirits although not a word was spoken. A co-educational country school was staged by another group. The school bully, teacher's pet, the dunce, and Mafy with her lamb were among those present. A talk by one of two members of the school committee, who came to visit, was a masterpiece of the sublime and the ridiculous. The time between acts was filled in by another group which offered a number of delightful piano selections.

Police Taking Newton Census

Members of the Newton police are calling at all residences in the city to list for the assessors all persons over 20 years of age. In addition the police are collecting cards which were left at residences in connection with the decennial census. These cards were delivered by William B. Gove of Alban rd., Waban, and a corps of boy assistants. Young Gove was paid $100 by the city for his work, and that of his aids. Instructions accompany the cards telling householders what to write on them.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

Mrs. Stephen J. Hallahan of 53 Reservoir avenue, Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Otto A. Lawton of 14 Leonard avenue, West Newton are among the Newton ladies entertaining at the luncheon bridge to be held at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, next Monday, January 7th.

Mrs. Arthur L. Race of the Copley Plaza, Boston, together with Mrs. Hallahan are in charge of the affair and are being assisted by Mmes. Frank A. LeCour, G. Glenn Hopper, Louis H. Hoffman, Frank J. Long and Flynn J. Wells.

About Town

By Edward H. Powers

Some of the "big shots" who manage broadcasting of radio programs over this country's leading systems are more dumb than they suppose the people of this country to be. Most of the millions who listen to radio programs know by this time that the applause which accompanies many programs is machine handclapping produced by mechanical clappers. This artificiality is characteristic of the cheapness and insincerity of the present day. It spoils some good programs, adds to the inferiority of others and causes many listeners to become disgusted and tune-off.

Celebrating the arrival of "New Year," making whoopee on New Year's Eve, is a practice of only recent years throughout this country. It is a boon to owners of night clubs and hotels—and also some restaurants. We don't begrudge the financial assistance derived by hotel and restaurant owners from the "suckers" who pay exorbitant prices for the "privilege" of dining and drinking. It is, however, a sad commentary on the decadence of the times to witness thousands of young men and women, as well as middle-aged shells and sirens spend plenty of money for the purpose of making morbid fools of themselves on New Year's Eve when they know that there is so much want and suffering among millions. Many of those who think they are real devilish when they pay high to get soused, wear a paper hat and blow a nickel horn, could well give part of the money so wasted to some needy relative or neighbor.

Judge Elias B. Bishop, a native son of Newton, was a credit to this city. He inherited the high talents and character of his father, Judge Robert R. Bishop. He was a genuine gentleman at all times. His death is a real loss to the State. There are too few men of Judge Bishop's calibre on the Massachusetts Judiciary.

The present Board of Aldermen of Newton is probably the least experienced in the history of the city. We would change the term of office of many state appointees to coincide with the term of office of the Governor.

One of the largest crowds in history witnessed the exercises or heard the proceedings broadcast through the amplifying system which had been set up. It was estimated that nearly ten thousand persons were at the State House during the exercises.

Wednesday morning at ten o'clock partly caucuses were held by the members of the House and Senate. The House caucus of Republicans was unanimous in its selection of Speaker Leverett Saltonstall to serve in that office for a fourth consecutive term. The House Democrats united on Representative Edward J. Kelley. When the House convened at eleven o'clock Rep. Orvis F. Kinney of West Bridgewater, senior member, was named temporary presiding officer under the statutes. The oath of office was administered to the members of the House by Governor Ely after which the election of Speaker, House Clerk and Sergeant of Arms was held. Speaker Saltonstall was elected over Rep. Kelley, Democratic candidate, by a vote of 121 to 112. Frank E. Bridgman, of Quincy, was reelected House Clerk and Charles O. Holt of Somerville was reelected Sergeant of Arms.

Speaker Saltonstall announced the House committees. Of local interest is the appointment of three Newton Representatives, William B. Baker, Clarence S. Luitwieler and Warren K. Brimblecom. Rep. Baker was reappointed to the Committee of Ways and Means for his fourth term. He is the ranking House member next to Chairman Albert Bigelow of Brookline. Rep. Luitwieler was reappointed Chairman of the Committee on State Administration. He was also named to the second position on House Elections. This committee considers the petitions dealing with disputed elections of members of the House. Rep. Brimblecom was reappointed to the Committee on Power and Light of which committee he was clerk the past two years, and was also assigned to the Committee on Public Service.

The Senate Republican caucus selected Pres. Erland Fish of Brookline as its choice for the presiding officer for the coming two years with Senator Fish and Senator James Moran of Mansfield not voting. The Democratic members after several ballots decided upon Senator Scanlon of Somerville. Convening at eleven o'clock Senator Moran was named temporary presiding officer by right of seniority. Seeking to block the Republicans from organizing the House and with Senator Moran a candidate for the presidency with Democratic support to be swung to him, a motion was introduced to designate a committee on committees. The efforts of the Democratic members to obtain committee chairmanships if Senator Fish were elected presiding officer having failed, the Democrats were determined to block the organization proceedings.

The motion failed by a vote of 20 to 19 as Senator McKeown of Springfield, a Democrat, is confined to his home by illness. The Democratic Senators then began a filibuster which continued throughout the afternoon and evening and until 2:30 A. M. on Thursday. Occasional recesses had been obtained but with Senator Moran presiding the Republican members could not obtain the floor to get a vote on the question. The proceedings were continued on Thursday morning at ten o'clock and were again continued until well into the afternoon. During yesterday's session Democratic members read parts of the Governor's inaugural address as a means of retaining the floor. Late in the afternoon there seemed little prospect of the breaking of the deadlock which will doubtless continue until some members have had their fill and give in. One of the Central Club of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville is going to consider in its January meeting next Monday night the field of economics. The attention of the country under the government has been centered on various angles of the New Deal but little has been said about the consumers.

The speaker at this regular meeting of the Men's Club will be Dr. William Trufant Foster of the Pollak Foundation. Dr. Foster has had a distinguished career as an educator and economist. He is a graduate of Harvard, was for several years on the faculty at Bowdoin, and subsequently became President of Reed College, Portland, Oregon. Since the war he has devoted much of his time to writing and lecturing. The field of economics he has blazed new trails and has done much to popularize that subject.

With Wadill Catchings, who has established the Pollak Foundation, he has been the author of several books which challenged wide attention. They are "Money", "Profits", "Business Without a Buyer", and "The Road to Plenty." He has also contributed many articles to magazines and was the author of a series of syndicated articles which dealt with various economic problems in vigorous fashion which were copyrighted by the McClure Syndicate and appeared in many newspapers a few years ago.

Dr. Foster has been lately engaged in Washington in forming Consumers' Advisory Boards, believing that the consumer was more or less at the mercy of the manufacturers and of the labor unions under the code. His subject is "Can the Consumer Stand the Truth?"

In addition to this feature of the program a musical treat has been set up. Mr. Louis Schalk, who has been for fifteen years the popular song leader of the Boston Rotary Club, will lead group singing and also render several solos. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Schalk. Mr. Schalk is a teacher of singing and public speaking. He has studied abroad and is a recognized expert in his field.

Shortly after noon yesterday His Excellency James M. Curley took the oath of office as Governor of Massachusetts at inaugural exercises which made history in this Commonwealth. Due to the failure of the Senate to organize and to elect a president the upper branch of the General Court was not present at the proceedings although the Constitution of the State reads that the Governor-elect shall be sworn into office by the President of the Senate at a joint convention of the two legislative branches. Calling the House of Representatives to order Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of Newton quoted this statute from the laws. He also quoted a portion of the statutes which makes it mandatory for the Governor-elect to take office on the first Wednesday in January. Thus it became necessary for some other qualified official to administer the oaths of office to the new Governor and the new Lieutenant Governor. Legal opinion had previously been sought as to the performance of this duty by either the Secretary of State or the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. Accordingly the oaths of office to Governor Curley and Lieutenant Governor Joseph J. Hurley were administered by Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook, the only surviving Republican state-wide office holder. Governor Curley's inaugural address is said to be the longest ever delivered in Massachusetts and took approximately an hour and one half to read. The address, characteristic of its author, contained many recommendations for legislation, and constitutional changes, Governor Curley, among other things, would abolish the Governor's Council, the Boston Finance Commission, the State Board of Tax Appeals, county government and the pre-primary convention. He would reduce the membership in the Legislature to one-half of its present size. He would retire judges at seventy years of age and would change the term of office of many state appointees to coincide with the term of office of the Governor.

One of the largest crowds in history witnessed the exercises or heard the proceedings broadcast through the amplifying system which had been set up. It was estimated that nearly ten thousand persons were at the State House during the exercises.

Kinney of West Bridgewater, senior member, was named temporary presiding officer under the statutes. The oath of office was administered to the members of the House by Governor Ely after which the election of Speaker, House Clerk and Sergeant of Arms was held. Speaker Saltonstall was elected over Rep. Kelley, Democratic candidate, by a vote of 121 to 112. Frank E. Bridgman, of Quincy, was reelected House Clerk and Charles O. Holt of Somerville was reelected Sergeant of Arms.

Speaker Saltonstall announced the House committees. Of local interest is the appointment of three Newton Representatives, William B. Baker, Clarence S. Luitwieler and Warren K. Brimblecom. Rep. Baker was reappointed to the Committee of Ways and Means for his fourth term. He is the ranking House member next to Chairman Albert Bigelow of Brookline. Rep. Luitwieler was reappointed Chairman of the Committee on State Administration. He was also named to the second position on House Elections. This committee considers the petitions dealing with disputed elections of members of the House. Rep. Brimblecom was reappointed to the Committee on Power and Light of which committee he was clerk the past two years, and was also assigned to the Committee on Public Service.

The Senate Republican caucus selected Pres. Erland Fish of Brookline as its choice for the presiding officer for the coming two years with Senator Fish and Senator James Moran of Mansfield not voting. The Democratic members after several ballots decided upon Senator Scanlon of Somerville. Convening at eleven o'clock Senator Moran was named temporary presiding officer by right of seniority. Seeking to block the Republicans from organizing the House and with Senator Moran a candidate for the presidency with Democratic support to be swung to him, a motion was introduced to designate a committee on committees. The efforts of the Democratic members to obtain committee chairmanships if Senator Fish were elected presiding officer having failed, the Democrats were determined to block the organization proceedings.

The motion failed by a vote of 20 to 19 as Senator McKeown of Springfield, a Democrat, is confined to his home by illness. The Democratic Senators then began a filibuster which continued throughout the afternoon and evening and until 2:30 A. M. on Thursday. Occasional recesses had been obtained but with Senator Moran presiding the Republican members could not obtain the floor to get a vote on the question. The proceedings were continued on Thursday morning at ten o'clock and were again continued until well into the afternoon. During yesterday's session Democratic members read parts of the Governor's inaugural address as a means of retaining the floor. Late in the afternoon there seemed little prospect of the breaking of the deadlock which will doubtless continue until some members have had their fill and give in. One of the features of the filibuster is the apparent spirit of good feeling between the members of both parties.

Memory's New Friend

It isn't going to be so hard to write Nineteen Thirty-five—in figures I mean—as I thought it would be. I have only muffed it a couple of times since Tuesday and as these mistakes were easily corrected—I seldom bother with mistakes difficult to correct—no real damage had been done. The fact is, I got off at a running start. I practiced writing "5" until I had no inclination to write "4". Then I began to say, "Five times seven are 35," over and over. I also repeated, many times, "Nineteen hundred and thirty-five, hardly a man is now alive." Finally, I became "five-conscious." And thus I hope to remain for the next three hundred and sixty-five—no, I mean three hundred and sixty-one days.

Happy Discovery

Not infrequently somebody sends me through the mails the copy of a newspaper, periodical or pamphlet which they have found interesting and hope that I may enjoy. Almost invariably I profit by the experience, appreciating their thoughtfulness. However, there sometimes occurs the problem of removing the wrapper without damage to the document itself. There is where I actually suffer for I usually make a poor fist of it.

Doubtless I myself am to blame. The temptation to run my forefinger under the wrapper and speedily tear it off is difficult to resist. Nevertheless I am little more successful when I take a paper-knife and cut the wrapper. Either system, as far as I am concerned, is apt to tear the enclosed article and I find I have mutilated the edges of the book itself or made a hole or two in the very article I am expected to read. Should people be more careful when they wrap newspapers and magazines or should recipients exercise patience and skill when opening them?

From far-off New Zealand a friend sent me a magazine containing many beautiful illustrations, depicting the marvelous scenery of that famous country. I shuddered when I took it from the letter carrier for I was sure that I would damage it in some way. Imagine my joy when I found it so wrapped that all I had to do was to tug gently at a little thread and unroll the covering. A little device that meant so much. If I had nothing else to do I would see that every home is supplied with these patented wrappers.

Learning Day by Day

The hunt for 1935 calendars referred to last week in this column and conducted here, there and everywhere, zealously and continuously, has produced, I am proud to announce, a most satisfactory yield. Art in colors, fantastic and simple designs; pastoral scene, still life, rare birds, such as flamingoes and peacocks, pictures of animals, girls dancing—they look so cold this kind of weather—and many other creations of imaginative artists. Bold and plain commercial figures, pictures of half-moons, quarter moons and full moons. Tables of the tides, hours of sunrise and sunset, day by day. The variety is most extended and inclusive.

Difficult as it may appear I have made my choice. It was from none of those described above. The calendar features of the filibuster is the apparent spirit of good feeling between the members of both parties.

Helpful Giving

is not necessarily the giving of relief, but the understanding of the problems of the family to be helped with skill and care in GUIDANCE toward the SOLUTION of their PROBLEMS.

Recent Deaths

WARREN H. HOEY, M.D.

Dr. Warren H. Hoey, of 65 Oak st., Newton Upper Falls, died Monday, December 31, at his home, after a lingering illness of over two years. Dr. Hoey was a graduate of the Harvard Medical School in the Class of 1892 and had been a general practitioner in Newton Upper Falls for many years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alice Mannix Hoey and two sons, Frederick and Richard of Upper Falls and a sister Mrs. Thomas Fleming of Natick.

Dr. Hoey was a man loved by all the residents in Upper Falls for his interest in their welfare as his friends and neighbors and for his interest in the youth of the community.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Thursday, January 3, at 9 a. m., followed by a solemn high mass of requiem at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church at 10 a. m.

Burial was in the St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

MARY FYFFE MITCHELL

Mary Fyffe Mitchell of South Duxbury, wife of Commander George Grant Mitchell, U. S. N., Retired, and daughter of the late Rear Admiral and Mrs. Joseph Fyffe, who for many years made their home in West Newton, died on December 30th at the Newton Hospital.

Mrs. Mitchell was born at the Malden Naval Station. In 1891 the family made a permanent home in West Newton and Mrs. Mitchell was graduated from the Newton High School, thence going to Radcliffe College. She was married in 1893 to Marcus L. Miller, U. S. N. Her second marriage was in 1910 to George Grant Mitchell, Commander, U. S. N., who during the war was District Detail of the First Naval District in charge of enrollment and of assigning to duty the Naval Reserves, who survives her. She also leaves a brother, Captain Joseph Fyffe, U. S. N., Supply Corps; a sister, Miss Elizabeth Fyffe, of West Newton, and a nephew, Joseph Bacon Fyffe, of Wellesley. Her son, Lieutenant Commander Marcus Clifford Miller, also educated in the Newton Schools and entering Annapolis from the Newton High School in 1911, served in the Destroyer Convoy Service throughout the World War and died in 1931.

During her husband's absence on sea duty, Mrs. Mitchell travelled extensively and also spent much time in West Newton, where she had many friends. Since Captain and Mrs. Mitchell settled permanently in South Duxbury ten years ago, she had been active in town and church affairs there. She was president of the Duxbury Branch of the Unitarian Women's Alliance.

Services were held at the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, on January 1st at 2:30 p. m., the Rev. Herbert Hitchen officiating. The music was given by a quartette of young women who had been associated with Mrs. Mitchell in the music work she so loved. Cremation was at Mt. Auburn.

FRANK W. STEVENS

Frank W. Stevens of 1013 Beacon st., Newtonville, died on December 31 at the Newton Hospital. He was born in Westmoreland, New Hampshire 80 years ago and was educated at Nashua. He had been engaged for many years in the manufacture of doors, windows and sash and was president of the F. W. Stevens & Son Company of Newton Highlands. He invented several appliances for use on window frames. He was a member of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons, Newton Royal Arch Chapter, and Beacon Lodge, I. O. O. F. He is survived by a son, Bernard W. Stevens of Westwood; and a brother, Edward F. Stevens of Wellesley. His funeral service was held at his late home yesterday afternoon.

RANDOLPH W. POWELL

Randolph W. Powell of 106 Walnut st., Newtonville, died on Dec. 29. He was born in Chicago, 31 years ago, and had been employed by the Whiting Ice Cream Company. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mabel A. Powell, a son, Randolph Powell, Jr.; a daughter, Janet Powell; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Powell, and two brothers. His funeral service was held at his late home on Monday afternoon. Rev. Randolph Merrill of Central Congregational Church officiated. Burial was in Lincoln.

J. CHEEVER FULLER

J. Cheever Fuller of 22 Shaw st., West Newton, died on January 2. He was born in Charlestown 87 years ago and moved to this city with his parents when 9 years of age. He learned telegraphy and in 1869 obtained a position as a railroad telegrapher at Livingston, Alabama. He later returned to Newton and became treasurer of the Newton Co-operative Bank, holding this position for 47 years. He was also engaged in the insurance business. Mr. Fuller was a member of Dalhousie Lodge and other Masonic bodies. He is survived by three sons Alfred E., George S., and Joseph C. Fuller, all of this city. His funeral service will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at his late home.

Charge Youth Stole Watches From Relatives

Joseph Vespa, 20, of Cross st., Natick, was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday charged with stealing a watch from his father's house at 368 Langley rd., Newton Centre. The watch was the property of the youth's sister. The police alleged that Vespa also stole another watch from his parent's home. The police stated that one watch was sold to a Natick man and the other recovered in a Boston pawnshop. Vespa, who has been unemployed, was recently married.

The case was continued until Tuesday and on that day Vespa was given a prison sentence of 10 days. The sentence was then suspended.

Aldermen to Meet To Provide For Salary Increases

Mayor Weeks has called a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen for next Monday night to take action on financing the restoration of the 7 1/2% salary and wage cut to employees of the City of Newton. Last month Mayor Weeks announced that he had decided to restore the pay cut, the restoration to take effect on Jan. 1. Comptroller of Accounts White has taken the stand that in order to conform with the Municipal Finance Act, it is necessary that the Board of Aldermen take action on the increase in the cases of salaried employees. Employees who are paid daily wages are not affected, as such wages, paid to employees of the Street, Water and Playground Departments are included in the cost of the various activities of these departments instead of being segregated in the annual budget. Because of this technicality, the salaried employees did not receive the 7 1/2% increase this week, but, following the anticipated action of the Aldermen on Monday night, their salary increases will be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

Burst Water Pipe Damages W. Newton House

Broken water pipes in the house at 94 Randlett Park, West Newton, caused damage estimated at about $2000 to the house and its furnishings over the week-end. The house was owned by the National Shawmut Bank and occupied by Mrs. Lotta Van Schick. Mrs. Van Schick had been away recently and it is supposed that the pipes froze during the cold spell of last week. Monday a neighbor observed water running down the outside of the house. She notified the Newton police and Patrolmen Dungan and McDonough went to the residence and discovered water pipes had burst on the second floor. Walls, ceilings and floors had been damaged as well as the furnishings.

Two Overcome by Auto Fumes at West Newton

At 3:40 a. m. Tuesday morning Newton police received a call to go to 130 Waltham street, West Newton where Theodore Trott of that address and Barbara Goodell of Edwin rd., Waltham were found to be partly overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust of an automobile. They were taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment. Trott was only slightly affected and was not kept at the hospital, but Miss Goodell was under treatment for several hours.

Man Who Stole Car in Newton Gets Two Months

George Terrio of 29 Faxon st., Nantum, was sentenced in the Concord court on last Friday to serve two months in Middlesex County prison for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was also fined $10 for drunkenness and $5 for driving without a license. Terrio was arrested at West Concord on Christmas night. The Newton police will arrest Terrio later for stealing the car from this city. It was the property of Michael Keegan of 129 Waban st., Newton.

Patrolman Kills Muskrat in Waban

Newton police were notified on Monday morning that a muskrat was entangled in a wire fence near 95 Collins rd. Patrolman Joe Lyons went to the place and shot the rat to relieve it from its misery. The animal was so entangled in the wire that Street Department employees had to be called to remove it.

Newton Centre Man Fined $50 For Zig Zag Driving

Raymond B. Warriner of 65 Bothfield rd., Newton Centre, was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday by Judge Weston for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He appealed. Warriner was found not guilty of drunkenness. He was arrested early on the morning of Dec. 16 by Patrolmen Davis and Stein who testified that Warriner drove his car in a zig zag manner along Walnut st. Persons who had been with Warriner earlier that night testified that nothing stronger than ale had been served at the party they attended.

Auburndale Asks Better Skating at Ware's Cove

A petition, signed by 400 Auburndale children, was presented to Mayor Weeks on Wednesday. The petition seeks to have the ice kept in better condition at the cove when skating opportunities prevail. The complaint was made that during recent weeks the skating surface there was not kept in good condition as were the surfaces at Bullough's Pond and Crystal Lake.

Sudden Death of Salvation Army Man at Waban

Fred Manning, 65 of Boston, an employee of the Salvation Army, died suddenly of heart failure in Waban on Tuesday morning. F. Leroy Fox of 142 Moffat road, Waban had donated some furniture and other articles to the Salvation Army and one of its trucks came to the residence to collect the articles. While the truck was being loaded by two other men, while carrying an ice chest from the house, Manning collapsed of heart failure and died. The police ambulance took him to the Newton Hospital.

Newton Welfare Department To Be Reorganized

The Newton Welfare Department will be conducted on a reorganized basis starting February 1. The term of Miss Florence Fitzgerald, Director of Public Welfare expires on that date. Because of the continued and increasing demands on the Public Welfare Department, Mayor Weeks has decided that a reorganization is necessary and a new director will be appointed. Miss Fitzgerald has been asked by Mayor Weeks to continue in the department as head of the investigating division. She has not decided as yet whether she will accept.

Miss Fitzgerald has been in the employ of the city for over twenty years. She started in 1914 as a clerk in the Charity Department under Oswald McCourt, then Overseer of the Poor. In 1919 she became secretary to Mayor Childs and in 1925 she was appointed by Mayor Childs as Director of Public Welfare. She was reappointed by Mayor Childs each year until he retired in 1929. She was also reappointed by Mayor Weeks for the past five years. She has had the responsibility of this very trying office during the years of depression which started in 1929.

Blind Artists at Newton Church

The program at the Community Sunday Evening Service at the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church, corner Centre and Wesley sts., this coming Sunday evening, 7:30 o'clock, should occasion unusual and widespread interest. The principal artist will be Robert Barrett, a noted blind baritone. Mr. Barrett, graduate of Perkins Institute, needs no introduction to a New England audience, for he has sung in most of its towns and cities. He has given repeated concerts in Colonial Theatre and always to capacity audiences. Mr. Barrett is also familiar to radio fans, for he has been singing over the radio for years. His rich baritone voice is particularly adapted to sacred music and he makes a lasting impression by the freedom, naturalness and accuracy with which he sings. The accomplishment of one so handicapped is amazing, serving as a rebuke and inspiration.

Manuel Rubin, pianist, will play for Mr. Barrett. In fact, he has played for him throughout his musical career. Mr. Rubin will also render solo numbers.

Drunken Driver Gets Leniency

In the Newton court on Wednesday Judge Allen showed leniency to a man convicted of driving a car while under the influence of liquor because illness in the latter's family have caused financial difficulties. David Fitzgerald, Jr. of 75 Ripley street, Newton Centre was found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor and fined $50. The fine was then suspended. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. Fitzgerald was arrested at Chestnut Hill on the night of December 29 by Patrolmen Green and Keating.

John Lund Heads Connecticut H. S.

John Lund, former superintendent of Newton public schools, has been appointed organizer and principal of the new high school at Hamden, Connecticut, near New Haven. The school will open next September and will have a staff of 60 teachers. It was stated that the salary attached to this position is $5000.

General Daniel Needham Will Be Candidate For Mayor To Succeed Weeks

Many Citizens From All Sections of City Pledge Him Their Active Support

General Daniel Needham, former Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Safety, announced today that he will be a candidate for Mayor of Newton at the next City Election, to succeed Sinclair Weeks, now serving his sixth year in office. Mayor Weeks recently announced that he will not seek reelection next fall.

Needham, who lives at 14 Whittier rd., Newtonville, is noted as an executive and administrator, and came into state and national prominence in connection with the solution of the McMath kidnapping case and the Needham Bank hold-up for which the Millen Brothers and Faber were recently tried and convicted.

General Needham's decision to run for mayor was made after a petition had been presented to him, signed by several hundred leading men and women from every village in Newton, urging him to be a candidate. Those who are sponsoring his candidacy declare that he has unusually fine talent for administration and that he is, by training and experience, admirably qualified to fill the office of Mayor of Newton. It is expected that he will give to Newton the same type of administration, the same humane, efficient, economical and non-political kind of municipal government to which the city has been accustomed.

For more than 15 years Mr. Needham has been a prominent attorney, as a member of the firm of Sherburne, Powers & Needham. In 1933 Governor Ely requested him to head and reorganize the State Department of Public Safety, which included the State police, then in a demoralized condition. He did this with extraordinary success. During the war he served with the 26th Division for 19 months in France, and was twice cited for bravery in action. At the present time he is the Commanding General of the 26th Division, Massachusetts National Guard. He is married, has two children, and has resided in Newton for eleven years.

Among those who have pledged their support to "Dan" Needham's candidacy are the following:

Ward 1—Charles Chaisson, Louis Tabaldi, James Butler, Andrew C. Dunne, Gladys Vedduccio, Mrs. Frank Appleton, Frank A. Welch, Maj. Frank T. McCabe, Edmund Thomas, Matthew J. Hurley, Mrs. Fannie B. Nolan, William J. Boudrot.
Ward 2—Joseph A. Bryant, Roy V. Collins, Harold D. Billings, Harold D. Ames, Miss Margaret McGill, Irving O. Palmer, Angelo T. Annicelli, Charles R. Cabot, Clarence W. Wyatt, George W. Taylor, Theodore Morrison, Augustus L. Wakefield, Fred W. Rust, Mrs. Edwin P. Crawe, Mrs. E. S. Rallsback, Clifford Whitney, Donald M. Hill, Albert M. Lyon, Fred Woodcock, Fred C. Alexander, A. O. Wellman, Edward P. Hendricks, William B. Hanna, J. Edward Theriault.
Ward 3—Sinclair Weeks, Charles E. Hatfield, Richard M. Ott, Mrs. George Fuller, Frederick T. Driscoll, Maynard Hutchinson, Alfred Guzzi, Benjamin J. Bowen, C. C. Wilcox, Frank Gaw, J. Children Hurt Coasting on Newton Streets

Patricia Dunham, 10, of 61 Westchester rd., Newton, had a tooth knocked out Saturday when the sled on which she was coasting hit a parked car opposite 53 Westchester rd.

Paul Doherty, 10, of 22 Laidholm rd., Newton, was injured last Saturday when he collided, while coasting on Langdon st. The truck was owned by the Mitchell Baking Company of Somerville and operated by John Roht of Everett. Young Doherty received injuries to his head and face.

Fall Fatal to 90 Year Old Man

William Eldredge, 90, of 369 Cabot street, Newtonville, died on January 7 of injury and shock received when he fell at his home and fractured a shoulder last Saturday. He was a native of Ellsworth, Maine and served in the Civil War with the Maine Heavy Artillery. He resided most of his life in Bangor where he was employed as a printer and later conducted a store. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. C. A. Block, with whom he resided; and a son who lives in Bangor. His funeral service was held yesterday at the home of his son in Bangor.

Newtonville Car Burned in Waltham

A car owned by J. V. Jurad of Court st., Newtonville, was badly damaged by fire at 4:50 last Sunday afternoon on High st., Waltham. A short circuit was the cause of the blaze.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

NEWTON AND CANTABS TIE—FIRST PLACE DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

Newton tied Cambridge 2-2 and Arlington played a scoreless game with Melrose in the sixth session of the Greater Boston interscholastic hockey league on the Boston Garden ice last Saturday. Consequently the standing changed not at all, and the three leaders are still bracketed a shaky half-game ahead of Melrose. Rindge Tech and Stoneham, however, made the afternoon a success by winning their first victories. Rindge from Belmont 2-1, and Stoneham from Medford by a surprising 4-1 score.

Cambridge Latin and Newton were very evenly matched. Although both teams made threatening sallies during the first period, there was no scoring. It was Ray Chaisson, the league's high point man, who put Cambridge in the lead with a pretty scoring play unassisted in the fifth minute of the second period. Skating up the left lane, Chaisson cut in, beat the Newton defense and fired at close range, the puck bounding off Woodward's shoulder and into the cage. Newton then carried the attack continually to the Cambridge end of the rink, and their perseverance was rewarded in the last minute of play in the period when John Elliot drove a hard shot at Gomes from the blue line and Bill Page scored on the rebound from the Latin goalie's pads.

The third period was well on its way when Cambridge again went into the lead while Castoldi and Norman McCutcheon were in the penalty box. Captain Gus drew a two-minute rest on a leg check, and Doctor Martin at once replaced his line to strengthen the Newton defenses temporarily.

No allowance being made for Castoldi's absence, a full team resumed play, and Newton took a penalty for playing an extra man. When his minute in the penalty box had elapsed, McCutcheon took to the ice just in time to see Ray Chaisson score again, this time on the rebound from Fitzgerald's shot. At this point the game had three minutes and three seconds to go.

In the eleventh minute, with two Cambridge men off the ice, the game was saved for Newton. Sullivan was penalized for holding and Fitzgerald joined him for applying a high stick. Johnny Gomes was detected holding the puck too long at the Cambridge goal mouth, and Newton lined up for the penalty faceoff. The opposing centers lost the puck, McLeod swung and missed, and McCutcheon then recovered it and flicked it by Gomes into the nets. The final score was 2-2.

NEWTON FACES MEDFORD IN LEAGUE HOCKEY TOMORROW

With nothing at stake but another hockey game, Newton lost to the Harvard freshmen on Wednesday by a 12-2 score at the Garden. Page and Butterfield saved Newton from a shut-out. Tomorrow afternoon it will be a different story when Medford is Newton's opponent in a G. B. I. S. game at the Boston Arena. Medford is an up-and-down club, to be sure, and they lack balance, but showed power in beating Melrose only two weeks ago. When they lost to Stoneham last week, three goalies were used, each goalie was replaced as soon as he had been scored on, so it may be that the trouble with Medford is not with the players. Captain Gus Castoldi was uncertain as to what to think about Medford. As he explains it, "When they beat Melrose 1-0, then turn around and lose by 4-1 from Stoneham, we don't know what to expect from them on Saturday." If Newton is at full strength tomorrow, however, Doctor Martin's team will have the edge over Medford by two or three goals.

was Joe Ward, former Watertown coach, who did a very able job.

Newton Swamps Watertown

Last Friday the varsity basketball team had little trouble with Watertown, beating them 31-15 on their home floor. "Bullet" Byrne equalled the home team's efforts, scoring fifteen points for himself. Ted Laffie scored five, Pete Morrison four, Will Spellman three, Savignano and Al Smith two each. The fast Newton attack had the Watertown quintet back on their heels from the very start of the game.

The game between the second teams went to Watertown in the second overtime when Larkin sank a long shot to break the 17-all tie. Red Callanan made three goals from the floor and three more at the foul line for nine points, and Charles Fisher, Stan Gruber and Don Colony completed the Newton scoring.

NEWTON TRACKSTERS SHOW POWER IN CRUSHING LAWRENCE

Captain Al Freeman led the Newton track team to a smashing 61-16 victory over Lawrence in the first meet of the indoor season at Newtonville Saturday. Although it furnished an auspicious opening for the 1935 schedule, the meet was no test for Donald Enoch's boys, who had little resistance from their opponents. Aside from the relay, Newton athletes won every first place and all but two seconds.

Newton hurdlers made a clean sweep of their events to open the meet. It was all Newton in the final heat, with Warren Wittens, Paul Dussossoit and Ray Huling finishing in that order in a close race. The time was 4 3/5 seconds. Captain Freeman nosed out Captain Laplante of Lawrence in the 30-yard dash, with Murphy taking third for the visitors from Bob Mather. The finish was very nearly a tie, and the time, four seconds flat.

Mel Swig won a fine shotputting duel from Albert Roy of Lawrence, with the chunky Carl Bosworth taking third for Newton. Swig's best throw, of 43 feet even, was just one inch better than Roy's best. The broad jump was virtually a tie between Jesse Hale and Howard "Red" Fine of Newton. Fine's best hop was one of 9 ft. 2 inches, while Hale was able to move his bulk a quarter-inch further, to the evident surprise of the spectators. George Lissauskas took the extra place for the visitors.

At the time the 300 was run, there were no lights above the sharp banks of the 98-yard oval, and it may be that Lawrence entries were handicapped by taking the turns in the twilight. Francis "Duke" Laplante ran a 37 4/5 second heat, the best for Lawrence. Two Newton boys ran 37 second heats, Warren Wittens and young Bob Muther, and they divided the honors as the race was decided by time, and there was no final heat. Captain Freeman was right at home in his favorite event, the 600-yard run, and he led out at the start, dogged by his teammate Bob Kiley. While Kiley had to stave off a challenge by Lawrence's George Garrigan before the gun lap, Freeman increased his margin to a lead of ten yards at the finish. The time was 1 m. 24s.

Johnson Quick, running his first race on any track, won the 1000-yard event hands down. Judging his pace well, Quick led away like a veteran, keeping an even, easy stride all through his race, and winning, with plenty of reserve strength, in 2 m. 35 4/5s. Charles Center was second and Henry Petralia, of Lawrence, third.

The high jump was another sweep for Newton, with Julius Aisner, Ross McLean and Joe Blair all going over the bar at 5 ft. 4 in. When the relay team composed of Ivan Wainwright, Richard Cosgrove, Win Phillips and Paul Rich lost to the Lawrence team, the meet was over, and the score stood 61-16 for the Orange and Black. Coach Ernie Perry of Lawrence, who had few opportunities for rejoicing all afternoon, beamed with admiration for the team Coach Enoch is developing at Newton. In his opinion, they will make a very good showing throughout their strenuous schedule. "They are remarkably well balanced," he commented, "without a single weakness and with barrels of power."

Wallace Fullerton, Newton track captain and hurdler of the class of 1927, later of Penn State, took an active hand in the officiating. The venerable Doc Fanning was also on hand.

CONTENDERS FOR STATE TRACK TITLE IN DUAL MEET TODAY

A very fast track meet is in order at Everett this afternoon, where Coach Dennis Gildea pits his Everett high track team against Don Enoch's Newton hopefuls. Since either outfit is a logical choice for the state championship, today's meet has more than ordinary significance. Like Newton, Everett is strong in the running events. Unlike Newton, Everett will be notably weak in the field events.

Al Romoli and Joe Ventura are the best of a large crop of Everett sprinters, and will be the men for Bob Muther and Al Freeman to watch. Ritchie Underwood is Everett's state champion hurdler. Underwood, Springer and Tabb have all come close to 35 seconds flat in the 300-yard run, and Underwood has bettered that mark.

The best race of the meet promises to be the 600-yard run. Frank Mascianica and Newton's Captain Al Freeman are both credited with time trials under 1:20. Walter Palding has run the 1000 in 2 m. 28s., which relieves Johnny Quick from the necessity of running a front race this week. However, reports on Everett's field event strength are unenthusiastic. Newton may score heavily in the jumps and shotput. Jesse Hale, present poundage 222, jumped 9 ft. 9 1/2 in. in practice Monday. If Newton wins today, it will be through strength in the field events.

SPORT NOTES

Warren Colby was Yale's participant hero Monday night when the university hockey team defeated McGill 2-1 at New Haven. Warren scored early in the game on a pass from Stoddard, and made a pass to Stoddard for the winning goal in the second period. Previous to that game, McGill had not lost a game below the border since 1931.

Brown and Northeastern university hockey teams were tied 2-2 after the first period at Providence Tuesday night, but Newton's Charlie Butler scored three goals in the next and one in the last period to help the Bears win 8-5. On that same Brown team, Newton also has Jack Skillings in the goal, Norman Appleyard on defense, and Bob Chapin on the forward line.

Hubert Adams Carter of Newtonville, captain of the Harvard skiing team, won the university ski championship held last Sunday on the Tuckerman Ravine Trail on Mt. Washington. Carter, a junior this year at Harvard, won the three-quarter-mile race from a field of thirty-nine entries in 1 minute, 40 seconds.

Milton Green, who first learned to run the hurdles from Don Enoch at Newton High, is now eligible for intercollegiate track competition for the first time, since he transferred only last year from Cornell to Harvard. Milton is expected to set the pace for college hurdlers in the major Boston and New York meets this winter.

Agostino Signore, who used to run road races hereabouts with his twin,

Vincent, is in town again after almost three years in the tropics with the United States Army. Sig reports that he won the Panama department army mile and half-mile honors, then won the Canal Zone ten-mile race in Panama City.

Albert M. Lyon Added To Newton National Board

At the Annual Meeting of the Newton National Bank held Tuesday, Jan. 8th, Mr. Albert M. Lyon of Newtonville was added to the Board of Directors. Mr. Lyon is an attorney and trustee with offices at 84 State st. As a resident of Newton, Mr. Lyon has taken active part in civic affairs, serving at various times as Chairman of the Planning Board, member of the School Committee and at present is on the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Lyon is also Clerk of the Trustees of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank.

President Thomas Weston reported to the stockholders that the year's business showed a satisfactory gain in volume and net results. The deposits are now over $1,250,000, which is the highest point since the opening of the bank in March 1929. The undivided profits account shows a substantial increase after paying dividends of $2 per share for the year.

The following directors were elected: James R. Bancroft, Waban, President American Institute of Finance; William Ellison, Newton, Treasurer; Proctor Ellison Co. and Trustee; George P. Hatch, West Newton, Treasurer B. S. Hatch Co.; Philip S. Jamieson, Newton, J. B. Jamieson Co.; Charles R. Lynde, Newtonville, Importer China and Glass; Albert M. Lyon; Grosvenor D. Marcy, Newton Highlands, President Sampson & Muddock Co.; James B. Melcher, Newton, Cashier; Vincent P. Roberts, Chestnut Hill, V. P. Roberts & Co.; Fred S. Sawyer, West Newton, Treasurer Thing's Shoe Stores, Inc.; William C. Sills, Newton, President and Treasurer W. C. Sills Corporation; George W. Sweet, Newton Centre, President Studebaker Sales Co. of New England; Henry A. Wentworth, Auburndale, Consulting Engineer; Thomas Weston, West Newton, Attorney and Trustee; Guy M. Winslow, Auburndale, President Lasell Junior College.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Children's Movie Outstanding Event

There will be a Children's Movie at the Paramount Theatre in Newton on Saturday, January 19th, from 10 a. m. to 12 m., under the auspices of the Newton Community Club. Intense interest is being manifested in this event, as a similar one of last year proved so enjoyable and successful. The films for the first hour will be Mickey Mouse in "Giantland", Shirley Temple in "Pardon My Pups", and "Puss in Boots", a Fairytale Operetta with juvenile cast. There will be a short intermission, followed by "Smoky," a picture for the older children. The proceeds of this entertainment will be used for charity through the various contributions that this Club makes during the year.

The sponsors are Mrs. J. T. Alden, Miss Margaret Aubin, Mrs. David Black, Miss Eugenie F. Bradshaw, Mrs. J. LeRoy Conel, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. Leon M. Brockway, Miss Emma D. Coolidge, Mrs. Maurice W. Dennison, Mrs. Lawrence Garvin, Mrs. Joseph W. Gerrity, Mrs. Henry I. Harman, Mrs. Alfred H. Handley, Mrs. Henry E. Hawkins, Mrs. Harold L. Higgins, Mrs. Shirley K. Kerns, Mrs. Emmart LaCrosse, Mrs. Theodore R. Lockwood, Mrs. Edward O. Loring, Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland, Mrs. Arthur J. Mansfield, Mrs. Florence G. Morse, Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer, Mrs. Ralph M. Patterson, Mrs. George L. Parker, Mrs. J. H. Powers, Mrs. George E. Rawson, Mrs. Clarence K. Reiman, Mrs. Clarence C. Smith, Mrs. Loran D. Towle, Mrs. A. Thomas Sundborg, Mrs. Wallace Wales, Mrs. Royal C. Warring, Mrs. Frederick White, Mrs. Steven Bayard Wilson, Mrs. Kendal A. Woodrough and Mrs. Clarence H. Spike.

Tickets may be obtained from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Frederick White, 73 Sargent street, Newton, from any of the sponsors, or at the theatre after 9:30 a. m. on the morning of the show. No seats are reserved.

The tickets are 25 cents for all school children, and 45 cents for adults.

The Child Study Class, sponsored by the Public Health committee of the Newton Community Club, will hold its second meeting at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Harold L. Higgins, 322 Franklin street, on January 14th, at 2:30 p. m. "Tasty Meals for Children," with menus and recipes, will be the subject, and Miss Mildred Carlson, a dietitian who broadcasts over WBZ, will be the speaker. There will be an open forum following the talk. Mothers of children under ten years of age, whether or not Club members, are invited to join the Class. Tickets for the series are $1.00, or 50 cents for a single meeting, and may be obtained from the chairman or members of the committee, Mrs. David Black, Mrs. Elwood A. Howe, Mrs. Chester F. Smith, Mrs. Peter Turchon, and Mrs. William M. Wasson.

Cause and Cure of War Conference

Clubwomen who are to attend the Board Meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington from January 15th to 19th, and among them are the Massachusetts State Federation president, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker and Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, former president and now the State's Director in the General Federation, are arranging in many instances to remain in the capital to attend the Conference on Cause and Cure of War. Interest in this annual meeting is especially keen this year in view of the agitation of legislative measures concerning munitions, and Congressional action in investigation of this industry of war munitions. This is what Mrs. Walker has to say about attendance at this Conference, worth thinking about not only by clubwomen but by all citizens:

"I wish we might bring home to you news of a cure which would guarantee everlasting peace for our country and for all countries the world around. However, I do believe that women are going to play an important part in the eventual discovery of that cure for I agree with that lecturer who said recently, 'It is not the business of women to produce death. It is the business of women to contribute to life—life that is more and more abundant.'"

Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.

On Monday, January 14th, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. Hiram A. Milner of Erie avenue. Miss Adelaide R. Webster and Miss Mary E. Hyde will discuss the "Origin, Habitat, and Government of the American Indian." Mrs. Robert E. Clark and Mrs. Ernest G. Hapgood will report on Current Events.

West Newton Woman's Educational Club

The next meeting of the Travel Class of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club will be held on Monday, January 14th, at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Wells, 28 Parsons street, West Newton. Mrs. Harold Fiske will be the assisting hostess at this meeting. The first paper, "McKenzie River to the Polar Sea," will be read by Mrs. Alfred E. Thayer; and the second, "Montreal and Suburbs," will be given by Mrs. B. Howard Lester.

Monologue Program For Guest Night

Monologues by Adele Neff will be the feature of the entertainment at the Newtonville Woman's Club's Annual Guest Night, January 15th, at 8 p. m., in the Club House. Miss Neff, who writes her own sketches, representing life from the humblest to the most pretentious, is said to move her audience from laughter to pathos in her character portrayals and is most fascinating in her unique program. Mary Dyer, Dramatic Soprano, familiar as a soloist with societies such as the People's Symphony Orchestra, the Handel and Haydn Society, and other similar musical organizations; also Edwin Bittcliffe, Composer, Pianist, and accompanist, who studied with Arthur Foote and Guy Maier, and whose technique and interpretation have won for him excellent criticism, will be heard on the same program.

After the entertainment, refreshments will be served in the Social Hall under the direction of Mrs. Henry M. Weidner, Hospitality chairman, the hostesses being Mrs. Alfred E. Fuller, Mrs. H. Story Granger, and Mrs. Edwin F. Quinlan.

The fourth in the series of Conferences on Education under the direction of Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker, chairman of the Education committee, will be held at the home of Mrs. Cecil W. Clark, 363 Walnut street, on Wednesday afternoon, January 16th, at 2:30 o'clock. The guest speakers will be Miss Alice J. Kennedy and Miss Sadie V. Johnstone of the faculty of the F. A. Day Junior High School. Miss Kennedy will talk on "Further Interpretation of the Curricula of the Junior High School." There will be opportunity for questions and Tea will be served. All adults interested in the Junior High School are invited.

The next in the series of eight lectures on "History in the Making" by Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will be given on January 17th, at 10:15 a. m. Admission is by course ticket, or on payment of fee for the single lecture.

Mrs. Howard M. Waybright, chairman, will meet the members of the Hospital committee on the 17th, at the Newton Hospital for an All-Day Sewing Meeting.

Auburndale Review Club

The annual business meeting of the Review Club will be held Tuesday, January 15th, at 10 o'clock with Mrs. John E. Williams, 152 Grove street, as hostess. A full attendance is requested.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Literature Study group of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Francis P. Garland, 504 Ward street, on Wednesday, January 16th, at 2:30 p. m. The subject will be "The Informal Essay in France." Essays of Montaigne; Letters of Madame de Sevigne.

West Newton Community Service Club

The program for the January 16th meeting of the West Newton Community Service Club, at 2:30 o'clock in the Parish House of the Second Church of West Newton, will remind of summer days and vacation time. For Mr. Leonard Crask will give an illustrated lecture entitled "Round Gloucester with a Color Camera," showing sea, rocks, sand-dunes, harbors, ships and sunsets. Mr. Crask, formerly leading actor at the Copley Theatre, has of late years devoted himself to sculpture. "The Gloucester Fisherman" in the square at Gloucester is considered one of the best pieces he has done.

This meeting will be preceded by a Food Sale in charge of Mrs. B. J. Bowen.

Tea will be served by Mrs. George H. Fernald, Jr., and her committee.

Social Science Club

Mrs. Henry O. Marcy, Jr., will give an illustrated lecture before the Social Science Club on the 16th of January. Her subject will be "A Journey to Persia."

Mrs. Frank A. Day and Mrs. Nathan Heard will receive.

Newtonville Woman's Club

On the evening before Christmas at 7:30 o'clock, an Outdoor Christmas Program was held on the grounds of the Newtonville Woman's Club House on Washington park. A beautifully-lighted living tree, sponsored by the Woman's Club, was on the park opposite the Club House and about this tree carols were sung by those who attended, led by Mr. Frederick Briggs. Members of the DeMolay band played the accompaniment for the carols, and trumpeters added a pleasing feature. Words of the carols were shown on a lighted screen for the benefit of the singers. A group of tableaux was depicted under the direction of Mrs. Percy E. Woodward in the east entrance of the Club House, exemplifying the spirit of Christmas most effectively. These tableaux and those who appeared in them were: An Angel, Mrs. Ralph Wales; Madonna (by Jessie Wilcox Smith), Miss Grace Rangnow; Four Shepherds (by Harold Copping); Mr. Walter Jamieson, Mr. Allan Weston, Donald Emig, and Edlston Whittemore; Madonna of the Olive Branch (by Barabino), Miss Eleanor Brown; Madonna of the Star (by Fra Angelico), Miss Mary Jane Rallsbach; An Angel, Miss Mariada Comer; Kings, Mr. Edward Titus, Frederic Drew and Robert Irwin; and Pages, Edlston Whittemore, and Ralph Wales, Jr. The two attendants at the door were Fred Fairfield and James Jamieson.

This is the second Christmas eve program held by the Newtonville Woman's Club and each has been so beautiful an affair that it will surely become a yearly event.

The Sunday afternoon Musicals given at the High School Auditorium on January 6th, under the sponsorship of the Newtonville Woman's Club, was a most unusual event in this city. The Greater Boston ERA Chorus, with Frederick Lamb, supervisor and director; the Newton ERA Orchestra, with Dr. Thompson Stone, director, and Albert H. Webber, supervisor; and the assisting artists, Franklin Field, Baritone; and Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, Composer-Pianist, contributed a varied and well-balanced program, which was planned under the direction of Mrs. Ernest L. Nichols, chairman of Music in the Newtonville Club. The first group was played by the Orchestra, an assembly of about fifteen accomplished musicians, whose selections were artistic and delightful. Another feature was the group of Baritone songs by Mr. Field, who was accompanied by the composer, Mrs. Gulesian, his splendid interpretation of Mrs. Gulesian's music being most pleasing. The Club appreciated the generous contribution of these artists to the afternoon of music.

An excellent program was given by the Chorus, a group of one hundred and two trained singers, which has developed into an outstanding and unusual music unit under the able and enthusiastic leadership of Mr. Lamb.

Mrs. Edwin P. Crave, president of the Newtonville Club, welcomed the audience, and the introductions were made by Mrs. Nichols. Several members of the Club served as patronesses. The enthusiasm of the large audience was indicative of the appreciation.

THE NEXT MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN

Although the next Mayoralty campaign will not come to a head for more than ten months announcement has been made of the candidacy of General Daniel Needham to succeed Mayor Sinclair Weeks. The announcement will be received in many parts of the city with considerable approbation as indicated by those who have urged that General Needham seek the office. Undoubtedly there will be other candidates for the office and further announcements will be awaited with great interest. At least one fact is certain—which is that there can be little doubt about General Needham's qualifications to administer city affairs. In the past few years he has demonstrated his ability as an executive of which Newton can well be proud.

POSTOFFICE POLITICS

It is regarded as a practical certainty that Postmaster William Hurley of the Boston postal district will be supplanted early next month upon the expiration of his term of office by a political appointee. The Boston postal district is regarded as one of the most efficient and best conducted of any in the country. This fact is due entirely to Postmaster Hurley's long connection and administration of its affairs. He is a career man, having risen from the ranks. While it is believed that he may be continued as assistant postmaster it is to be regretted that this position is again to be made the football of politics. There can be no question of the desirability of reappointing Postmaster Hurley. The voice of public opinion stands behind him in demanding that he be continued in office.

A DEMOCRATIC STATE SENATE

The selection of Senator James G. Moran, a Republican, as president of the Senate virtually places the upper branch of the legislature under Democratic control. Senator Moran forsook his party affiliations when the opportunity to become president was given him by the promise of Democratic support. With practically an even division of the Senate as regards party lines the presidency of the Senate for the next two years will not be a bed of roses. Under the existing conditions a lengthy session is in prospect with little indication of harmony.

You'll Have to Tell

Nothing has upset me as much as the census card from the Mayor's office. It was slipped through the door on a Sunday afternoon, which I thought was rather neat as they knew everybody would be at home to talk the whole thing over and fill out the blank at once if so inclined.

I don't know anybody who has filled out his card but I know a lot of people would like to fill out the cards of their friends, neighbors and enemies, particularly the latter. What a chance to learn the ages of other folks. What an opportunity to clear up some mysteries in the neighborhood. No one will have any such privilege, of course, but what a lot of volunteer census-takers could be recruited if such a call were sent out from City Hall.

Not that they'd expect to get the correct figures, but how interesting to see what age the party of the first part was willing to acknowledge. That is, how far he would go. As it stands it is going to be something of a guessing contest. There's no penalty for knocking-off a few years, if I am properly informed. If there were our jails would be overcrowded.

The card asks one to give the age at the last birthday. Those who have stopped having birthdays are safe with nothing to fear. Possibly people will be a trifle less talkative about ages. Of course, I have no doubt but what things will turn out all right.

When I said I was disturbed I meant this frequent reference to the police in the official notice. "The police officer will call"; leave the card "so the police won't have to wait" and "the police should call before January 20." It makes me feel as if I were under suspicion. Therefore, if my nerves keep on like this I shall employ an amanuensis.

Far from Welcome

It seems to me they might have waited. I mean the idea the State Income Tax Department got into its head of mixing up the 1935 blanks with the New Year's cards. Of course there was no confusion. The State envelope was so large and distinctive you could tell it a mile off.

Yet, with almost everybody broke, or nearly so, and unable to do justice to the celebration of the arrival of the new year, the income tax collector had to shove his demand under your nose, or have it shoved there by the letter carrier. Now I don't believe letter carriers like that kind of a job. They were loaded down anyway with January statements and so forth. Everybody wanted to collect money due them. The letter carriers, I am sure, would have been just as well pleased if the mailing of the blanks had been postponed. This would have made for greater happiness all around and the carrier would have found more smiling faces on his route.

Again, I repeat the State might have waited until people stopped saying, "Happy New Year" and returned to their favorite greetings such as "How's the old sport?" or "Far yer" or "Hu-lo."

Put It in Writing

When undertaking to keep a diary one in confronted with several questions. The first is, how are you going to put yourself on record? Are you going to make the notations brief and snappy or what? If a day-by-day journal, should it be a frank statement of what you have done in the past 24 hours or what you failed to do?

I don't suppose one is in favor of putting down in black and white the mean things one does. Not that any reader of this column does mean things intentionally. And yet, may I ask, should one take an opposite view and only record the fine and noble deeds he has performed that day. Isn't that flattering oneself and wouldn't it be poor taste to write, "Today I was more generous than usual and gave a large check to charity" or, "I am convinced by my conduct of this date that I am a splendid citizen, righteous and upstanding and an example to the youth of our time."

Perhaps it would be equally embarrassing to continually rebuke oneself. It wouldn't make good reading in after years if the diary said, "Today I was bad tempered" or, "This is the day I failed to go through for a friend."

Well, there you have it. Should a diary be colored to make it interesting or prosaic and consequently dull. Or how should it be written. Why not strike a balance? If you've done something to be ashamed of, do something praiseworthy and make an entry of each, side by side.

Autos Collide at Newton Centre

A car operated by Mrs. Evelyn McDuffie of Woodland rd., Brookline, collided with a parked car on Beacon st., near Grant ave., Newton Centre, on Saturday afternoon. The parked car was owned by Samuel Cassiano of Brockton and contained several valuable paintings. Joan McDuffie, 19, was slightly injured in the collision.

Mr. Ernest Schleicher delighted his many friends in Wayland with his rendition of "Caleno Custrae Mae" and "Home on the Range," assisted by the entire club. The program ended with the "Hallelujah, Amen," by Handel.

Grant Lunch Room License at West Newton

The Newton License Commission on Tuesday granted a common victualler license to Santo DePuccio at 97 Elm st., West Newton. The commission refused to grant a liquor license to DePuccio for the reason that there are already enough such licenses at that village.

Rotary Club

Earle S. Johnson entertained his fellow Rotarians of the Newton Rotary Club at last Monday's meeting with some of his experiences on a trip around the world which he undertook with Mrs. Johnson a year ago. It was a most interesting journey by way of Havana and the Canal, California, Hawaii, Japan, China, the Philippines, India, the Red Sea and Europe. Mr. Johnson tried hard to visit Rotary clubs but unfortunately the weekly meeting everywhere came just before his arrival or a day or two after the Dollar line boat sailed on for the next port. However, interesting contacts were made with individual Rotarians and their hospitality much enjoyed. The speaker showed a unique trunk made for him in China and also souvenirs picked up on the long journey.

Wilbur Thompson read a letter from the secretary of the Orvedio, Spain, Rotary Club, telling of the tragedies connected with the Revolution in that part of Spain last October which resulted in killing and much destruction. As a member of the Orvedio Club of the celebration of the last week of the Boston Rotary Club's twenty-fifth anniversary, which he attended, and urged the members to go to Waltham this week to the Thirty-first district meeting at the Hovey Institute.

Newton Ladies Interested In Play for Children

Mrs. F. M. Butts of 306 Franklin st., Mrs. J. Fern Hollis of 101 Hammond st., Mrs. Howard C. Thomas of 464 Albemarle rd., and Mrs. Herbert F. Jordan of 101 Exeter st. are actively promoting Clare Tree Major's "Dick Whittington and His Cat," the next of the series of plays for children at the Repertory Theatre, to be given Saturday morning and afternoon, Jan. 19.

As a member of the Play Committee of the Boston University Women's Council, the ladies are distributing posters, flyers and telling more parents of the value of these plays for their children.

The devotion of a lad for his pet is part of the next play, which is perhaps the gayest of the six being given this winter by the Children's Theatre of New York at the Repertory. This popular legend of "Dick Whittington and His Cat" tells the story of the poor lad who thought the streets of London were paved with gold, and, after a series of adventures, became Lord Mayor of London, and is as dear to the hearts of boys and girls now as in the years gone by. It is a satisfying story because, historically, Whittington was so kind and generous with his wealth to those less fortunate than himself that one is glad the famous cat made himself successful.

Six Newton girls will be among the candy sellers. They are the Misses Martha O'Neill, Ruth and Mildred Baird, Betsy Blake, Nancy Savage, and Ruth Moshier.

David Rallsback, younger son of the Ernest Rallsbacks, of Foster street, Newtonville, and Tarzan, posed for the program cover of the play.

Tickets from 50 cents to $2 for Dick Whittington and His Cat at the Repertory, January 19th, on sale at 146 Commonwealth ave. Tel. Circle 6826 and at Herrick's, Filene's, Jordan's and Repertory Box Office. Good 50 cent and 75 cent seats available on floor.—Advertisement.

Highland Glee Club In Concert at Wayland

The Highland Glee Club gave a concert Tuesday evening, Jan. 8th, at the Town Hall, Wayland, under the auspices of the Wayland High School Athletic Association. A large and enthusiastic audience applauded an excellent program under the leadership of D. Ralph Maclean with Karl Switzer, accompanist.

In addition to eight selections rendered by the club in the first part of the program, there were two solo numbers by Ermond F. Lewis, a new member of the Highland Glee Club, whose work deserves special mention. In the second part varied selections were rendered and very excellent solos by F. Nelson Lane which were appreciated, with encores requested.

Sacred Concert at Lincoln Park Church Sunday Eve

A sacred concert by the Forrest Trio of Boston will feature the West Newton Community evening service this Sunday at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton. Miss Maude Turner, soprano, William Hathorne, tenor, and Pierce Chaffin, baritone, will be accompanied by Mrs. Louise Forrest.

The pastor, Rev. John Shade Franklin, will preach a twelve-minute sermon following Miss Turner's interpretation of "Nobody Knows the Trouble I See" afterward the trio will conclude with Haydn's "The Lord is Great" from "Creation" and Houseley's "Salvage, Breathe An Evening Blessing."

Newton Men Elected Directors Roosevelt Club

Two Newton men were elected directors of the Roosevelt (T. R.) Club at the recent annual meeting of that organization. Robert M. Washburn, organizer of the Roosevelt Club, was re-elected president for the twelfth time. Former State Treasurer John W. Hais was elected vice president. A. P. Loring was re-elected treasurer and Harold P. Delaney of Lynn secretary. The board of directors, which includes the officers, was increased by the election of seven members including Philip W. Carter of West Newton and Edward E. Whiting of Newtonville.

Last night the Massachusetts Senate elected James G. Moran of Mansfield president for the session of 1935-1936. The election culminated a deadlock which had existed since the upper branch first met on January second. The failure of the Senate to organize previously had delayed the progress of the Legislature and the organization of committees. The House has met daily but with the exception of the adoption of a few routine orders has adjourned almost immediately.

The Senate deadlock was due to the small Republican majority of 21 to 19 in the Senate with Senator Moran, a Republican, voting with the Democrats, making a 20 to 20 deadlock. Senator Moran, a senior member of the Senate, was in the chair as the presiding officer and a Democratic filibuster was maintained for several days in an effort to delay proceedings until Senator McKeown, of Springfield, who had been ill, was able to be present. The filibuster ended on Wednesday when the Springfield senator was sworn in by Governor Curley and the Senate began balloting for its president. Eleven ballots were taken on Wednesday without a majority choice before a recess was taken at about ten o'clock until two yesterday afternoon.

On the first ballot Senator Erland Fish, former president, who incurred the displeasure of the Democrats by refusing to grant their demands for Democratic committee chairmanships, polled 19 votes; Senator Cotton, Republican of Lexington, 1; Senator Moran, 1; and Senator Scanlan of Somerville, 19. On the second ballot the entire Democratic strength was thrown to Senator Moran, giving him 20 votes while Senator Fish polled the remaining 20 Republican votes. Late Wednesday evening Senator Nicholson, of Wareham, was called home because of the fatal illness of his sister.

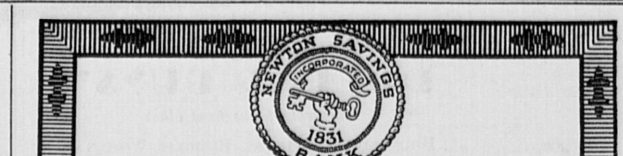

When the Senate met yesterday afternoon it was agreed by Senator Moran that he would not vote because of Senator Nicholson's absence, thus continuing the deadlock at 19 votes each for the two leading candidates. For six ballots there was no change with the seventh showing signs of a break with Moran receiving 18, Fish 17, Scanlan 1, and Charles G. Miles of Brockton and Angier L. Goodwin of Melrose, both Republicans, 1 each. Proceeding to the eighth ballot Senator Davenport, Republican, stated that he felt that the Senate owed it to the Commonwealth and their constituents to elect a president. It was taken for granted that the Greenfield senator would vote for Moran on the next ballot. The result of the 8th ballot gave Moran 20 votes, Fish 13 and Samuel Wragg, Republican, of Needham 5. With 20 votes necessary for a choice Senator Moran was elected. He collapsed from the nervous strain which he had been under but after an hour's rest was able to be driven home. Senator Wragg, next Senator in point of seniority, took the chair upon Senator Moran's request after the election. Senator Hollis of Newton moved that the Senate adjourn until Monday. Senator Davenport asked Senator Hollis to withdraw the motion in order that a motion to make the election of Senator Moran unanimous might be put but the Newton member made no move to do so, stating that his motion had been made upon Senator Moran's request. Senator Wragg put the question and it being carried the Senate will meet again next Monday when it is expected that Senator Moran will announce the committee assignments.

In view of Senator Moran's election with the aid of the one Republican vote, presumably cast by Senator Davenport, it is believed that the Democratic members of the Senate most of the time.

A bill of extreme importance to Newton voters was filed on Thursday by Representative Brimblecom at the request of the petitioners, former Alderman William E. Earle, former Alderman William A. Sprout, former Alderman Edward H. Powers, and David Greer. The bill seeks changes in the charter of the city of Newton eliminating the so-called "off-year" election and changing the method of election and the length of terms of members of the Board of Aldermen and of the School Committee. The act provides for twenty-one aldermen, three from each ward to be elected by voters of the ward to serve for a two-year term each. Members of the school committee would also serve for a two-year term and would be elected by the ward, one each from the seven wards. This would result in the elimination of the "off year" election after that of 1936. During the transition period the act provides for two-year and one-year terms of those elected to the Board of Aldermen and School Committee so that at the city election of 1937 the two-year term would be operative for all. The last section of the act authorizes the placing of the provisions of the bill before the voters at the election in December 1935 and if a majority of those voting do not favor the act it does not become operative.

Governor Curley this week announced the membership of the various committees of the executive council. Councilor Brooks of the third councilor district of which Newton is a part was named to four of the six committees. He will serve on the Committee on pardons, charitable institutions and prisons, the committee on the State House, the committee on military and naval affairs, and on the committee on nominations.

At a meeting of the Council late last week Governor Curley indicated that he would nominate Frank Goodwin, former chairman of the Boston Finance Commission and former Registrar of Motor Vehicles, to his former position on the Finance Commission if the Council would confirm the appointment. He did not do so when it became apparent that Councilor Coakley would not vote with the other Democratic members. Councilor Brooks was believed to have been ready to vote for Goodwin's appointment as the latter was one of his staunch supporters years ago when Governor Ely sought to remove Brooks from his position as head of the Parole Board.

Among the appointments confirmed this week by the Council were those of Governor Curley's office staff, Robert Gallagher of Channing st., Newton, nephew of Dr. T. M. Gallagher, is assistant executive messenger for Governor Curley.

Among the late appointments of Governor Ely before he vacated office was that of William F. Callahan, of Waban, as Commissioner of Public Works. Mr. Callahan, who is a native of Stoughton, has been an associate commissioner for the past year in place of Gen. Richard K. Hale, who was given the opportunity of filling the other position as associate commissioner when that of Herman A. MacDonald expired. Commissioner Callahan succeeds former Commissioner Frank T. Lyman, who was appointed as associate commissioner. Commissioner Callahan is 42 years old, and until a year ago was treasurer of the Quincy Dry Dock and Yacht Corporation. He received his engineering experience on waterfront construction and on river and harbor work. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Boston City Club, and the Merchant Marine Club. He has two sons. The family residence is at 792 Chestnut st., Waban.

What Makes Snow?

PERHAPS the simplest explanation is that when vapor in the air condenses in a temperature lower than the freezing point (32 degrees) it freezes and results in a snow fall.

Just as a little snow ball can be rolled into a great big ball, so can small regular deposits build up a fat bank account. Try it.

Recent Deaths

EMMA B. FESSENDEN

Mrs. Emma B. Hart Fessenden, wife of Frederick J. Fessenden, headmaster of the Fessenden school in West Newton, and since the founding of the school in 1903, school mother and counselor, died yesterday in New York after a brief illness.

Born in Albion, N. Y., Jan. 6, 1867, she was the daughter of E. K. Kirtland, a congressman from the state of New York, and Louise Anderson
Hart. She was graduated in 1890 from Vassar College.

Active as a member of the D. A. R., Mrs. Fessenden was at one time regent of the Lucy Jackson Chapter in West Newton. She was active for many years in community service and various other types of work.

Besides Mr. Fessenden, Mrs. Fossenden leaves two sons, Hart Fessenden and Frederick J. Fessenden, Jr., and two daughters, Mrs. Charles
Weeden, Jr., and Mrs. George P.
Buell, all of West Newton. She also leaves five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Fessenden home at the Fessenden school on Walnut street, West Newton, tomorrow at 2 P. M. and burial, which will be private, will be in Newton cemetery.

HELEN JUDD FARLEY

Mrs. Helen (Judd) Farley of 251
Central street, Auburndale, died on January 9. She was the widow of Arthur C. Farley of the Farley, Harvey Company of Boston, Mass. Farley was born in Kauloa, Hawaii, on May 5, 1862, the daughter of Col. Charles Hastings Judd. Her grandfather, Dr.
Garrett P. Judd went to Hawaii as a medical missionary in 1828 and the family has since been quite prominent in the affairs of Hawaii. She attended Miss Newhall's School in Boston and married Mr. Farley in 1882. She moved to Auburndale in 1892. Mrs. Farley was a member of Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R.; Boston Woman's City Club, the Review
Club of Auburndale and the Auburndale Congregational Church. Her funeral service will be held this afternoon at her late home. Interment will be at Forest Hills Cemetery.

She is survived by two daughters—
Mrs. William P. Massey of Winchester, Virginia, and Mrs. Stephen E.
Wright of Wickford, Rhode Island;
two sons, C. Judd Farley and Arthur
F. Farley of Auburndale; nine grandchildren; and two sisters and a brother who reside in Honolulu.

ROSE O'DONNELL

Mrs. Rose O'Donnell of 135 River st., West Newton, died on January 9, at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of pneumonia. She was a life-long resident of West Newton. She is survived by her husband, J. Francis O'Donnell of the Newton police department; a son,
Paul O'Donnell; her father, James Dignim; a brother, Frank Dignim; and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Brown and Annie Dignim, all of West Newton. Her funeral service will be held on Saturday morning at St. Bernard's Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

MARGARET MCKINLEY

Mrs. Margaret McKinley of 192 Auburndale avenue, Auburndale, aged 66, was found dead in bed on Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. George Hapenny, 20 West street, Nonantum.
Heart failure was the cause. The preceding night Mrs. McKinley was walking from Auburndale to Newton Corner. Feeling exhausted, she stopped at the home of her friend, Mrs. Hapenny and was invited to remain there for the night, she had made her residence with her son in

will also be reports from clubs doing outstanding work among the foreign-born. The afternoon session will open at 2 p. m., with a half-hour of music under the direction of Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, State chairman of music. The speakers will be Andrew J. Casassa, ex-Mayor of Revere; Miss Tina Stranberg, Consulate-General of Finland; and Mrs. Kenneth W. Foran, a resident of India for five years. She will dress in native costume and will exhibit Indian silks, brasses, and carved wood.

Recent Deaths

MARY LATHROP TUCKER

Mary Lathrop Tucker, wife of Fred H. Tucker, died at her home, 206 Church st., Newton, on Jan. 5th, after several years of illness. Mrs. Tucker came of an old New England family, being descended from John Lothrop, first pastor of the town of Scituate and later leader of a small group that left Scituate and founded Barnstable on the Cape. Some of his pioneering spirit and independence of thought and action as well as his zeal for social justice seem to have come down through the years to this descendant of his line. Mary Lathrop was born in Ellington, Conn., in 1849, but her early childhood was spent in Tolland, the home of her father and grandparents. After her mother's death she lived with her aunt, Mrs. George Waterman, in Lawrence, Mass., and there went through high school and received her training for teaching. For several years before her marriage she taught Latin and history in the Girls' High School of Boston under Dr. Samuel Eliot. The warm associations formed there with her fellow teachers and pupils she kept up until her death, attending as long as she early childhood was spent in Tolland, the home of her father and grandparents. Recent Weddings

MacMASTER—ALLARDYCE

Miss Margaret Wilson Allardyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brodie Allardyce of Webster street, Needham Heights, and Mr. John Charles MacMaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner MacMasters of Port Shoreham, Nova Scotia were married at the home of the bride's grandmother,
Mrs. Mary Allardyce, 60 Solon circle,
Newton Highlands, on Thursday evening, January third, at eight o'clock.
Rev. G. Vaughan Shedd, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Newton Upper Falls officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 150 guests.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white silk crepe with net trimmings, a silk tulle veil trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas with ferns.

Miss Helen Murphy of Pettee st., Newton Upper Falls, attended the bride as maid of honor wearing a gown of pale pink taffeta silk with light blue trimmings and a silver tiara and carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations and pink sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Mr.
Charles Kilmain of West Roxbury.

Grace Allardyce accompanied by Mrs.
Annie Allardyce Doyle, aunts of the bride, sang "O Promise Me."

The parlors were beautifully decorated with ropes of laurel and Christmas trees with many tiny lights.

The bride party were assisted in receiving by the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Jamaica Plain, uncle and aunt of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMasters are members of the choir, and organizations of the First M. E. Church, Upper Falls. They will reside on Boston st., Dorchester.

RUMMEL—BLACK

Miss Ruth T. Black, daughter of Mrs. Maude Black of Lynn, formerly of Court street, and Mr. Howard E.
Rummel of Newton were married Jan.
9 at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. Laurence W. C. Emig. They were attended by Miss Martha Black and Mr. Stephen Black, sister and brother of the bride. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Kenneth Thayer (Dorothy Black) on Morse street, Watertown, following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Rummel are living at 19 Terrace avenue, Newton Highlands.

PECKER—DUNBAR

Miss Elaine Whipple Dunbar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whipple Dunbar of Chicago, Illinois was married to G. Sydney Pecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Pecker of Highland avenue, Newtonville on Saturday, December 29.

Mrs. Pecker attended the Chicago
Girls' Latin School and Northwestern University. Mr. Pecker prepared for college at Lawrence Academy in Groton and graduated from Williams College in 1929. He is now in charge of the financial department of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. in their Chicago offices.

Mr. and Mrs. Pecker will reside at 648 Roscoe st., Chicago, Illinois.

son rd. Miss Kleven attended Abbot Academy at Andover and is continuing her studies at the Damon Hall School in Newton. Mr. Rubin was graduated from Harvard College in 1932 and is now a senior at the Harvard Law School. He is a member of United Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and the business men's council of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies and during the recent campaign of the latter he served as chairman of the junior division.

Bigelow Junior H. S.

The American Junior Red Cross
Club of the Bigelow Junior High School and other members of the school donated a number of toys which were renovated by the pupils, and at Christmas were distributed by the Welfare Bureau to children who otherwise would not receive toys. The Red Cross Club also gave fifty match boxes covered with colored paper, each containing seven jokes to the veterans of the Chelsea Memorial Hospital as a New Year's remembrance.

A very exciting basketball game with the Alumni opened the Bigelow's season. The outstanding players in this game seemed to be Kiley and Smith for Bigelow and Guillette and Jackson for the Alumni. An extra period had to be played to break a twenty to twenty tie. At the end of the overtime period, the score was Alumni, 27; Bigelow, 25.

There will be a band concert in the school on Friday evening, Jan. 11, at eight o'clock. Pupils, their parents, and friends are invited.

The Guidance Department has been organized with Mr. Laughton and Miss Hamilton as counselors for the ninth grade, Mr. Ring and Miss Larrabee for eighth grade, and Mr. Baker and Miss Auger for the seventh grade. The new addition to the building has provided facilities for a guidance room for boys and one for girls.

The home room officers for January are as follows:

and Robert Gallant, secretary.

On Monday a typical radio program was presented by the Day Broadcasting Club from Station WBZ. The presentation included School News, Birthday Bits, a skit written by Nancy Flagg, "Things You'd Never Know," and an interview. The skit was a burlesque about an episode in the life of Ithan Allen, the capture of Fort Ticonderoga. Mr. Sloat, landscape architect with the C.C.C. camp at Andover, was the guest whom club members interviewed. Participants in the program were Jane Jewett, Weston Haskell, Nancy Flagg, Norman Ross, Walter Crane, Ernest Colarullo, Dean
Lewis, Alice LeBaron, and Katherine Dargan.

Another broadcast of a similar type was given on Thursday evening from Station WIXAL, World Wide Broadcasting Corporation. The skit, written by Betty King, was two episodes. In the life of Alexander Hamilton. Participants were Norman Ross, Joan Cox, Beverly Green, Rita Matthews,
Betty King, Ernest Colarullo, Ruth Putnam, Elizabeth Parkhurst. Two seventh graders, William Gallupe and Ernest Gibson, also took part. This is the first time that the seventh grade has been represented this year.
The club has recently been enlarged to include some seventh graders.

Weeks Jr. High

The basketball season had its official opening on Thursday, Jan. 3, when the Varsity defeated the Faculty in a very fast and closely contested game. A three-minute overtime period was necessary to break a tie, and the boys finally came out on the long end of a 25-22 score. The game was attended by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

At the Jan. 9th assembly, Yvette Goldstein introduced Mr. Cronin, story-teller from the Newton Library.
Mr. Cronin, in his usual inimitable way, gave a reading from a recently published book, "Anything Can Happen on the River," by Carol Rylid Burt.

INVISIBLE ARMOR AGAINST WINTER'S ILLS

Overshoes and umbrellas keep you dry in rainy weather. But these alone cannot prevent sickness. To protect yourself against the mil-

New Aldermen and Shifts From Last Year's Committee Cause Turnover

With nine members of the Newton Board of Aldermen who were not Aldermen a year ago, it is inevitable that the various committees of the Board are largely changed. But, in addition, a number of committee changes have been made even among the members who were on the 1934 Board. The Finance Committee last year was composed of Aldermen Gordon, Holden, Jamieson and President Collins. Gordon, because of being elected President of the Board, did not remain on the Finance Committee, as customary. In his place from Ward 4 he appointed Alderman Floyd. Alderman Holden was named chairman of this committee. The other members for 1935 are Grebenstein from Ward 2 in place of Collins, McCabe from Ward 1 in place of Gallagher, McKay from Ward 5, who succeeded Chandler when the latter resigned a few months ago, Holden from Ward 6, and Melcher from Ward 7 in place of Jamieson. Thus the Finance Committee, rated as the most important of the Aldermanic committees, has five new members out of the seven comprising it, and of these McCabe is a new member to the Board, as are all the Aldermen from Ward 1.

The 1934 Public Works Committee was composed of Aldermen Murray, chairman, Coddingley, Floyd, Grebenstein, Mansfield, Hutchinson and Temperley. When Murray resigned from the Board last autumn because of receiving the appointment as Water Commissioner, Floyd was made chairman and Melcher succeeded Murray as the Ward 7 member. This year's Public Works committee has Hutchinson of Ward 3 for chairman. Barwise succeeds Mansfield from ward 1, Lyon takes Grebenstein's place from ward 2, Cronin succeeds Floyd from ward 4, Temperley again is the ward 5 member, Goddard succeeds Coddingley from ward 6, and Rawson takes Melcher's place from ward 7. Thus this committee, like the Finance Committee, has five new members out of seven, and three of these five are serving their first year on the Board of Aldermen.

The Claims and Rules Committee of last year had Grebenstein as chairman. The other members were Bowen, Chandler, Floyd, Holden, Murray and Sproat. Grebenstein is succeeded as chairman this year by Alderman Holden. He is also of the new members. Alderman Rawson from ward 7 replaces Murray. Four of the members of this committee are new Aldermen. Last year's Franchise and Licenses Committee was composed of Hill, chairman; Cronin, Goddard, Farrell, McKay, Melcher and Sproat. Formerly it was the practice to appoint new members to this committee, but in the past few years deviations have been made. Some of the new members have been placed on the allegedly more important committees, although as a matter of fact the Licenses Committee probably transacts more business than Highlands Couple Observe Golden Wedding Anniv.

Rep. and Mrs. C. S. Luitwieler Receive Friends

Representative and Mrs. Clarence S. Luitwieler of Newton Highlands quietly observed their golden wedding anniversary on Monday by a family dinner at the home of their son, Clarence S. Luitwieler, Junior, 26 Stowell road, Winchester, after which they returned to their home in Newton Highlands where they were greeted by a few of the immediate family friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Luitwieler were married in Springfield, January 14th, 1885, by the Rev. William T. Eustis, pastor of the Union Memorial Church. They have resided in Newton Highlands 44 years. They have three children, their daughter, Helen, is the head of the Lynn Public Library, their sons, Edward B. of Malden, and Clarence S. Jr., of Winchester, are both associated with their father in the manufacturing business in East Boston. There are five grandchildren.

Mrs. Luitwieler was Lucy B. Billings, daughter of Horace Mann Billings, of Springfield. She is a direct descendant of Governor William Brewster of the Plymouth Colony.

Mr. Luitwieler is the son of James Calvin Luitwieler, who came to this country from Holland and settled in Rochester, New York, in 1835. Mr. Luitwieler has represented the City of Newton in the Great and General Court of Massachusetts for the past ten years and was re-elected last November for the two-year term now in session.

Arrested for Stealing Car At Newton

Warren Gleason of 299 Centre st., Newton, and Roland Brouillard of Mount Vernon st., Brighton, were arrested early last Friday morning by Patrolmen Barr and Elliott charged with stealing an automobile owned by Clifford Benoit of 254 Washington st., Newton, while the car was parked near that address. The policemen saw the car on Watertown st., gave chase and captured the pair in it. Benoit told police Allen that the car had been damaged apparently in collision with a tree or a pole. Gleason and Brouillard were given suspended sentences of 30 days in jail on condition that each pay $25 to Benoit to repair the automobile.

Will Enforce Law On Denatured Alcohol

Any person selling denatured alcohol, whether garages, filling stations, hardware stores or other lines of business, must obtain permits from the Licensing Board of the City of Newton and also file a bond for 1935. The law compelling this went into effect last year and the Licensing Board sent out notices to all known dealers of denatured alcohol in Newton. Some have paid no attention to these instructions and the Board intends to compel such persons to obey the law. Every person to whom such a license is granted must keep a book in which must be entered the date of sale, name and residence of purchaser, quantity and price of the alcohol sold, and the purpose for which it is to be used.

Ald. Temperley Protests Against Discrimination

On Monday night the Newton Board of Aldermen held a special meeting to draw several jurors and transact a few unimportant routine matters. The meeting which started at 7:50 and adjourned at 8:10 was featured by a protest made by Alderman John Temperley regarding the obvious discrimination made against him the past few years in appointments to committees.

Temperley took the floor on the basis of personal privilege. He began his service as an Alderman on January 1, 1928 and is exceeded in service on the present Board only by Aldermen Gordon and Grebenstein. He opened his remarks by referring to Mayor Weeks' inaugural address of January 1, 1935, in which the Mayor stressed the need of economy. He commented that during the seven years he has served on the Board he has usually supported any efforts made to practice economy in the conduct of city affairs. He alluded to the shifts made in committee appointments just before the annual exercises started on January 1st of this year as evidenced by the withdrawal of the printed lists of committee members. He said he has been asked by his friends and constituents this year and in previous years why he was not appointed to the Finance Committee in accordance with the custom that such an appointment has been the prerogative of the senior member from each ward. He said these questions have embarrassed him. Temperley said that in view of his bent toward economy and his habit of asking questions regarding expenditures of city money, perhaps his negative votes on a number of important appropriations were partly responsible for his non-appointment to the Finance Committee. Among these expenditures against which he had voted or protested, he mentioned the purchase of land at Needham for the water reservation, the remodeling and modernizing of the water pumping station on which he claimed $40,000 too much was expended; the payment of $14,000 for the land of West Newton where police headquarters are located, years before such payment need be made. He also mentioned his objections to the transfer of funds from the Excess and Deficiency Fund in October of 1933 to the General fund, and to the taking of $45,000 last year from water revenue excess funds for the alleged purpose of reimbursing the city for personal expenses of employees of the Water Department, retroactive to 1921. He said he protested against this latter transfer because the water department had during those same years furnished free to other city departments water, which with interest on its cost, have totaled in value nearly $500,000.

Temperley also referred to his opposition last year of the city engaging in so many projects under P. W. A. auspices and that he had then warned his fellow members about placing too much faith in saving 30% through Federal grants. He told the Aldermen to read in Mayor Weeks' last inaugural address the comment on this very matter, and he remarked that the Mayor now agrees with him after one year's experience.

Temperley said he was not making a personal criticism of President Gordon of this year's Board, as the discrimination against him on committee appointments has existed for the past several years. Gordon replied by saying he had not put Temperley on the Finance Committee this year because the Ward 5 Alderman was not on this committee last year.

ERA Recreation Centres Refused In Court For Poultry Theft

The four recreation centres which were to have been started in Newton are not to materialize. It was expected that the Federal government would provide funds to give employment to about 70 Newton "white collar" unemployed in these centres and the Board of Aldermen recently appropriated $1800 for supplies for these centres. Plans for operating these four recreation and educational centres had been formulated by ERA officials in Newton in conjunction with Supt. of Schools Warren and Supt. of Playgrounds Hermann.

Newtonville Car In Fatal Accident

A car driven by Harry Wansker of 195 Mill st., Newtonville, hit Mrs. Mary Tarrasi, 42, of 66 Myrtle st., Somerville, as the woman was crossing the corner of Pearl st. and the Northern Artery in that city on the afternoon of Jan. 11th. She received a fractured skull, fractured legs and other injuries which caused her death at Central Hospital, Somerville, on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Tarrasi is survived by her husband and two children.

Council Appeals For Support Of Good Movies

We are rather weary of people who talk about what ought to be done to make our community a better place in which to live while they themselves do nothing to bring about those better conditions. So far as motion pictures are concerned the problem here would be well on its way to solution if all the people who said they would attend the local theatre if worthwhile films were shown would keep their promise.

Naturally the purpose of an exhibitor is to offer films that will bring the public to the theatre. Recently many pictures have been shown here which have been remarkably not alone for their quality and their general excellence and achievement but even more for the dignity and thoughtfulness of their themes. Questionable subjects have largely given way to new type of film that is educational, uplifting and at the same time entertaining. It is significant therefore, to note that Newton people have not supported the new movie. Some of the best pictures have been financial failures. For example, when the Paramount Theatre opened its splendid program of "Anne of Green Gables" and "College Rhythm" last Monday night there were but a handful of people in the house!

Here is our challenge! As a Motion Picture Council composed of representatives of the churches, the schools, the press, the service groups and the Federation of Women's Clubs, we have believed that Newton people preferred to buy their entertainment intelligently. The Council has compiled therefore, after studying the prevailing judgment of outstanding organizations, a monthly list of endorsed pictures selected with careful thought and consideration of moral values, decency, artistry, and intelligence of production. Moreover the films have been classified according to their audience suitability as either "adult" or "family" pictures and the lists have been printed in the various local papers and otherwise called to the attention of the people.

Furthermore, Mr. Snider, Manager of the Paramount, has offered every assistance to the Council in providing lists of his future bookings, in furnishing a meeting place for discussion, in showing feature pictures first on Family Night programs, in furnishing a free parking space for automobiles, and in selecting and combining programs suitable for family entertainment but those persons who once decried the motion pictures for vulgarity have not made better films pay.

According to motion picture production administrator Joseph L. Breen one of two things is bound to happen if this condition is not remedied "either the producing companies will go into bankruptcy, or we shall have enormous difficulty in maintaining our present standard of film fare."

Here is our challenge! "Let's go to the movies!"

Three Injured In Collision

Monday morning at 10:30 a car operated by Bradford Thurston of 846 Watertown st., West Newton, chauffeur for Herbert M. Cole, of 20 Somerset rd., West Newton, stopped at the corner of Otis st. and Lowell ave., Newtonville, before entering the latter st. Following the Cole automobile was a car driven by John Law of Winthrop. As this car was coming to a stop it was hit in the rear by a third car driven by Edward Phillips of Winchester, and forced into the Cole car. In the collision Mrs. Herbert M. Cole was severely shaken up, Joseph McNamara of Cambridge, who was riding with Law, received cuts and bruises, and Phillips' son, Richard, age 3, was also slightly injured.

$10,000 Damage Suit Against City Takes Much Time

The suit of the estate of Joseph A. Brocklesby of Murray ter., Auburndale, against the City of Newton has been on trial in the Newton court before Judge Lynch of Milford on several days during the past few weeks. The attorney for the plaintiffs is Benjamin Thornburg of Waltham and the city has been represented by City Solicitor Bartlett. The amount sought is $10,000. Brocklesby, who was 21, received fatal injuries when the car in which he was riding hit a tree on Commonwealth ave. near Norumbega park about 12:30 a. m. on the morning of Feb. 12, 1934. The car was driven by Norman Dow, 22, of 66 Eddy st., West Newton.

A water main had broken near the scene of the accident and the street surface was covered with ice and water. The plaintiffs contend that the city did not take proper precautions to safeguard traffic on the street, thus causing the car to skid and get out of control on the icy surface. The city solicitor argued that the accident was caused by Dow driving at excessive speed in view of conditions. Bartlett stated that Dow admitted driving at a speed of 35 miles an hour, and he expressed the belief that the speed was even in excess of this. Judge Lynch took the matter under advisement when the testimony and arguments concluded last Monday.

Senior Class To Present Annual Play

On January eighteenth and nineteenth in the High School Auditorium, Newtonville, the class of 1935 will present its annual play. This year the production is "Once in a Lifetime" by Moss Hart and George Kaufman. The play was a Broadway success and was later made into a motion picture. Frankly a satire on the follies of Hollywood, the plot tells of the adventures of three vaudeville troupers who go to Hollywood to make their fortunes by teaching the actors and actresses how to speak. The three friends have many amusing incidents while seeking for fame and famous directors and stars are caricatured.

The principal members of the cast are Sally Rogers, Howard Fine, Elliot Rogers, Lucy Bradshaw, Dorothy Wales, and Everett Kruger. Besides these characters there are many others in the cast, making a total of sixty-one players.

The performance on January 18th will be in the afternoon, beginning at 2:45 and the performance on the 19th will begin at 8:15.

Petition That Street Be Closed For Coasting

A petition headed by Eleanor Pullman of 12 Merton st., Newton, in the Hunnewell Hill district, and signed by forty persons, was presented at the Mayor's office last week asking that Elmhurst rd. be reserved for coasting when snow is on the ground, and that traffic be prohibited on the street when it is so reserved. James Dempsey, the Mayor's secretary, informed the petitioners that Newton has a city ordinance forbidding coasting on public streets.

Former Pastor Here To Return To New. Centre

Rev. J. T. Stocking Accepts Call to First Cong. Church

Acceptance of a call to the First Congregational Church of Newton Centre by Rev. Jay T. Stocking of St. Louis was announced Wednesday night. Rev. Dr. Stocking was formerly well known here as pastor of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville from 1905 to 1914. The Newton Centre Congregational church invited Dr. Stocking to take the pastorate there about a month ago, following the resignation of Rev. Dwight Bradley who accepted a professorship at Andover-Newton Theological School.

Dr. Stocking was born in Lisbon, New York, on April 19, 1870, and graduated from Amherst in 1895. He taught at Lawrenceville, New Jersey, for three years and then entered Yale Divinity School from which he graduated in 1901. He was awarded the Dwight and Hooker scholarships which enabled him to study for a year at Marburg and Berlin, Germany. In 1903 he became pastor at Bellows Falls, Vermont, for two years before coming to Newtonville in 1905.

In 1914 Dr. Stocking resigned the pastorate of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, to become pastor of the First Church in Washington, where he remained for the following year. From 1915 to 1927 he was pastor of the Union Congregational Church of Upper Montclair, New Jersey. Since 1927 he has been pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church in St. Louis.

Dr. Stocking's sermons have been broadcast each week for some time over the radio stations of the middle west. He is a trustee of the Congregational Annuity Fund, Drury College, Oberlin College, and Iberia Academy, a member of the executive committee of the Federation of Churches and a director of the American Peace Society.

In 1903 he married Grace C. Porter of New Haven. They have two daughters.

New Pastor at Mary Immaculate Church, U. Falls

Rev. William J. O'Connell, pastor since 1930 of St. Edward's Church, Medfield, was appointed by Cardinal O'Connell on January 7 to succeed Rev. Dennis Donovan as pastor of Mary Immaculate Church at Newton Upper Falls. Father O'Connell was born in Newburyport and graduated from Holy Cross College in 1901. He studied at St. John's Theological Seminary, Brighton and was ordained a priest in 1905. He was for many years a curate at St. Patrick's Church, West Lynn. Father O'Connell assumed his new pastorate on last Monday.

Rev. Francis S. Kearney, who has been serving as administrator at the Upper Falls parish for the past several months, was appointed pastor of St. Edward's Church, Medfield, to succeed Father O'Connell.

Childs To Run For Mayor

In reply to an inquiry made by Edward H. Powers as Associate Editor of the GRAPHIC relative to whether or not Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs would be a candidate for Mayor at the next city election, Mr. Childs makes the following reply:

January 17, 1935.
Dear Ed.:
If the statement that I shall be a candidate for Mayor at the next City election will relieve the suspense of many inquiring friends, I am glad to make it, even at this early date.
Sincerely yours,
(Signed) EDWIN O. CHILDS.

Four Candidates For Mayor Now Announced

The announcement last week by General Daniel Needham that he will be a candidate for Mayor next December has resulted in the announcement of three other candidates—those of ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher and Paul H. Drake. Mr. Childs was Mayor of Newton for sixteen years, from 1914 to 1930 inclusive. Dr. Gallagher served on the Board of Aldermen from 1924 to 1934 inclusive. Mr. Drake has been a candidate for Mayor and Alderman the past two years. Alderman Sydney Holden of Newton Centre, who has been commonly mentioned as a probable candidate for Mayor has not, as yet, announced his candidacy.

Kidnap Threat Sent to Wealthy Chest. Hill Man

Thomas P. Beal of 47 Lawrence rd., Chestnut Hill, president of the Second National Bank in Boston, has been threatened that his 6 year old son will be kidnapped unless a ransom of $25,000 is paid. Beal received a threatening letter a few months ago. This letter was turned over to postoffice inspectors and the State police also notified. Later threat by telephone was received. No complaint was made to the Newton police, but the patrolmen who cover the Chestnut Hill section have been instructed to be on the lookout for suspicious looking persons near the Beal home.

Mrs. Carey Made Police Matron

Mrs. Grace (Cahill) Carey of 144 Harvard street, Newtonville was appointed matron at police headquarters on January 14th by Chief Hughes. She is a native of Newton Upper Falls and a life-long resident of this city. She succeeds Miss Margaret Campbell who retired last June. Miss Mary McCarthy served as temporary matron in the intervening months.

NEWTON DEDICATES
WINNING BY 48 TO 29

Dedicating a new board track at the Everett High field last Friday, Newton's strong track team quelled Everett by a surprising score, 48-29. Conceding nothing to the touted Everett short-distance stars, the Newton athletes piled on an early margin and increased it in every event. Aside from the relay, Everett won only two events, the 600 and 1000-yard runs. In spite of freezing winds at the track, about 350 spectators stood in the bleachers and watched their favorites trail the superior Newton entries in every event except those two, where the red and blue was very strong.

Wittens and Freeman Win

Newton scored heavily in the hurdles and the dash events where Everett was supposed to be unbeatable. Ritchie Underwood, state champion hurdler last spring, was led by Warren Wittens and Ray Huling in the final heat of the 45-yard hurdles, despite the fact that Huling was running in spiked shoes for the first time in his brief career. Wittens' time was 5.9 sec.

Captain Allen Freeman won the 50-yard dash from Romboli and Springer of Everett in 5.8 sec. The distance seemed made to order for Freeman, who breezed past the alleged "invincible" Everett sprinters in the last fifteen yards to put his team in a decisive 13-4 lead in the meet. Warren Wittens won a fast heat in the 300 from Everett's best, Underwood, and was awarded the event on the basis of time. Reaching the first bank a yard in front of Underwood, Wittens increased his margin to ten yards and won in 35.3 sec, a time that would have been a full second faster on a warm day. Tabb of Everett, who won the other heat, got the point for third place. Bob Muther, who runs a very fast 300, was being saved for use in the relay if the occasion warranted it at the end of the meet.

Everett Wins 600 and 1000

The only real upset for Newton came in the 600-yard run, in which Captain Al Freeman ran second to Frank Mascianica of Everett. Probably the sprint efforts of the Newton captain took more of his energy than he suspected, for he was never in a position to challenge Mascianica after the first three laps. Bob Kiley ran a strong race at the finish and almost overtaken the third place man, Larry Picone of Everett. The time was 1 min. 20 4/5 sec.

Another race went to Everett when Walter Palling, lanky middle-distance specialist, won the 1000-yard run in the good time of 2 min. 30 2/5 sec. Marshall Russell ran a game race to get second, after being pushed off the track into the mud on the way to the first bank. Charlie Center took third for Newton.

Newton Strong in Jumps

Everett was even weaker than expected in the three field events, where a second in the broad jump and third in the shot gave them their only points. Julius Ainsler, Ross McLean and Joe Blair went over the high jump bar at 4 ft. 10 in., and won the event at that height for lack of competition. The broad jump went to Jesse Hale with a leap of 8 ft. 8 in., as the assembled small fry of Everett roared lustily at every jump he took. Charles Springer Everett was second at 9 ft. 5 1/2 in., and the versatile Ray Huling was third at 9 ft. 3 in.

The shotputters were handicapped by having to throw from a raised wood circle unadorned with the customary stop at the front. But Mel Swig got off a toss of 40 ft. 11 in. to win, while Carl Bosworth was good enough to take second over Sammy Gentile of Everett.

Relay Won by Everett

A second-string relay finished the meet for Newton again this week. This time made up of Al Bianchi, Lee Goodbar, Duncan Whitehill and Richard Cosgrove. To show a certain blithe indifference about the outcome, the Newton team ran in their heavy training clothes, and did not attempt to push the fast Everett quartet of Romboli, Ventura, Springer and Mascianica. Everett's time for the three-quarter-mile relay was 2 min. 52.5 sec., but it is not likely they could have shown their heels to a Newton relay team at times the best men for Newton, Bud Wittens, Bob Muther, Al Freeman and Ray Huling. Discounting the five points conceded the red and blue in the relay, Everett was beaten 48-24, or just two to one.

The meet was run on a regulation twelve-lap board oval flanked by a brand new six-lane board straightaway about seventy yards long. This being the first meet over the new boards, the times in the races will stand temporarily as records or possibly until another Newton team invades Everett. Paul Dussossoit did not compete in the hurdles, having taken a fall in practice shortly before the meet. Sargent Moore, who appears to have recovered fully from his football injury, ran in the sprint for the first time this year, and will probably begin to score in that event soon.

NEWTON TIES MEDFORD
DROPPING TO SECOND
AS ARLINGTON WINS

Playing a disappointing 2-2 tie with the fifth-place Medford team, Newton dropped into a second-place tie with Melrose in the Greater Boston Inter-scholastic Hockey League race last Saturday at the Arena. Arlington took the lead in the standing by trimming Belmont, 6-2, while Melrose swapped positions with Cambridge Latin by beating that team, 1-0, in the fastest game of the program.

Through most of the first period, Newton forced Medford to play conservative hockey. The first line, of Norman McCutcheon at center, Ernie McLeod and Bill Page on the wings, got inside the Medford defensive zone on several rushes early in the game, but were unable to score. A three-man jump by Medford found the Newton line up the ice, but Captain Castoldi's desperate check broke up the rush.

Bill Daniels Scores

Medford's second line was no match for the Newton trio of John Blodgett, Bill Daniels and Bob Miner. This line was on the ice when McGinnis and Campbell, the Medford defensemen, went to the penalty box almost simultaneously for tripping. Gus Castoldi added power to the Newton attack, and it was he who made the pass from behind the Medford goal which Bill Daniels slapped home for the first Newton goal at 5:17.

It looked like another goal for Newton when Castoldi bore down on the Medford defense flanked by John Elliot and Ernie McLeod. Passing to McLeod at the defense, Gus took a return pass and shot by the goalie, but the puck struck a post and bounded away from the nets. Medford retaliated with a fast rush that closed in on Woodward, but the Newton goalie saved in good style.

Medford Goals Tie Score

Ernie McLeod justified his ranking among the league's high scorers by a clever goal unassisted at 4:45 in the second period. Castoldi scored on a pass from Campbell at 2:28, and Kenty made it 2-2 with an unassisted goal at 3:26, neither of which was due directly to a relapse on Burt Woodward's part, for the Newton goalie was poorly protected.

Ernie McLeod played his usual hard and effective game, as did Captain Castoldi. The latter took a hard blow near the eye from a stick near the end of the game, but shook it off without treatment. Norman McCutcheon was at times the best man for Newton, and his back-checking harassed the Medford attack all the time he was on the ice. In the other games played, Arlington beat Belmont, 6-2; Melrose beat Cambridge Latin, 1-0; and Stoneham took the measure of Rindge Tech, 4-0. About 4500 people saw the games.

OUR LADY HIGH LOSES
SECOND PLACE TIE

Although they led Mission High by a 13-4 margin after the first half of their game, Our Lady's basketball team was defeated 22-17 on their home court last Tuesday. While the Newton team was unable to register a single point in the fourth quarter of the game, Mission overhauled them in a spirited rally, with center Mel Reed making three goals from the floor in the final two minutes of play. Francis "Chicken" Morris scored eight points for Our Lady, although convalescent from a siege of grippe, and Reed accounted for ten points for the Roxbury Club. It was a decisive game for the victory broke the tie that existed between the teams for first place in the Catholic League, relegating Our Lady to a four-way tie for second with Cathedral, St. Clement's and St. Mary's of Lynn.

In the opening quarter, Our Lady High led 4-2, both goals by Morris on over-the-shoulder shots from the right corner. The home team had Morris at center, Russell Harney and Mario Marino, forwards, and Paul O'Brien and Captain John Seymour MacLean, guards. Morris scored again in the second quarter, and was promptly relieved by O'Neill. O'Brien added four points on field goals and Marino three for Our Lady in this period, and the Newton team led 13-4. During the first half, Mission was able to score only two goals while shooting at the north basket, where a brick wall marks the end of the court, whereas Our Lady scored freely at the open end. In the second half the situation was reversed, and Mission did the scoring while Our Lady was held to four points.

Mission Rallies To Win

Mission came back strong in the third quarter, outscoring the home team six points to four. Our Lady's goals were made by the brilliant "Chicken" Morris on a spectacular dash the length of the floor, and by Marino with a difficult shot from the corner. Right there the scoring for Our Lady was over, but Mission went ahead to make twelve points more in the last period.

When Mel Reed's third goal of the game put Mission on the larger side of an 18-17 score, the Roxbury club froze the ball effectively with a mid-court passing game, then shook Reed free to score twice more as Our Lady's defense was broken up. The game ended with the score 22-17 in favor of Mission. Reed made ten of the visitors' points and McCafferty eight. Besides "Chicken" Morris, those who scored for Our Lady high were sophomore Mario Marino with five, including two really sensational goals from the floor, and Paul O'Brien with four. Bernard Mullen replaced O'Brien for a short time in the last quarter.

Last Friday Our Lady high won from St. Mary's of Brookline 17-7 at the Brookline floor. Conservative basketball was the rule, and the visitor's defensive play held the St. Mary's score down. Francis "Chicken" Morris led the Newton team with ten points, Bernard Mullen added three, and Mario Marino and Paul O'Brien made two each.

NEWTON WINS IN
MILTON ACADEMY

Newton High basketball and hockey teams had a perfect day Wednesday at Milton Academy. The hockey team won their game 4-3, holding off the late-rally of the Milton skaters, who were taking their first defeat in four games. At the same time, the basketball team had an easy time winning from the Academy quintuplets by a 24-17 margin. Newton's second varsity basketball team beat the Milton seconds 17-11.

In the basketball game on the spacious Saltonstall gym floor, Newton ran up a lead of 23-7 in the first three periods, then coasted through to the end on that comfortable lead while Milton finally got under way for ten points more in the last quarter. Ted Laffie and Will Spellman, Newton's sharpshooters forwards, each scored eight points. Captain Donovan, Bullett Byrne, Dick Hoey each made one goal, while Charlie Fisher sank a free try for the only Newton point in the last period. Savignano also scored on a foul shot.

TRADE SCHOOL FIVE
AFTER SIXTH WIN
PLAY SOMERVILLE

When the Newton Trade school basketball team takes on Somerville Trade at Newtonville today, Coach John L. Sullivan's team will be after their sixth straight victory. The trade school team is half way through a thirteen-game schedule. Today's game starts at 4 p. m. on the drill shed floor.

Newton Trade will start the game with John Beach at center, Bill Holt and Dick Collins forwards, Jimmie Roach and Charlie Tutungian at guards. Beside these five, Coach Sullivan can depend on such replacements as Ralph Huston, brother of the illustrious Warren Huston, Otto Hartwich, Charles Hillier, John McInnis, George O'Meara, "Rick" Riccio, Fred Roach, and Stanley Sobaski. In defeating Newton Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday, Dick Collins led the Newton scoring with eight points on floor shots and two on fouls for a total of ten. Jim Roach and Bill Holt made six points each on floor shots, and John Beach added three points from the foul line.

So far Newton Trade has run up 176 points to 74 for their opponents. The victories were won from Newton Y. M. C. A. 26-20, Weymouth Trade 39-14, Quincy Trade 49-11, Weston High 25-11, and Newton Y. M. C. A. 27-18. The rest of the schedule follows: Jan. 18, Somerville Trade here; Jan. 22, Weymouth Trade there; Jan. 25, Waltham Trade here; Jan. 29, Quincy Trade there; Jan. 31, Haverhill Trade there; Feb. 5, Weston High here; Feb. 8, Waltham Trade there; Feb. 12, Somerville Trade here. Inasmuch as they have already beaten all but three of the teams on their schedule, and by a safe margin each time, Newton Trade is on the way to a very good season.

Several of the first-string Newton men spent a large part of the game on the sidelines as Coach Simmons played understudies in their positions. Dick Hoey, Squi Coletti, Ernie Savignano, Stan Gruber, Charlie Fisher and Red Callanan all played with the varsity. The scores at the end of the quarters indicate the trend of the game. Newton led 10-9 at the first quarter, 18-4 at the half, 23-7 at three-quarter time, and the final count was 24-17. Pierce led the Milton rally with three goals from the floor and two points on foul shots.

In the game for second teams, Newton won 17-11, after leading 8-2 at the quarter and 12-6 at the half. Red Callanan led with six points for Newton. Pete Donovan, Al Coletti, Don Colony, Bob Lyons, Gruber and Cetrone also played for Newton.

MacLeod, Daniels Score 4

Newton's hockey team won a fast and loose game from Milton Academy by getting off to a 4-1 lead in the first two periods, then holding Milton to two goals in the third. Ernie MacLeod was in his usual form, skating hard and pressing every opportunity to make a play. In the first period he put Newton in the lead with two goals, the first at 3:50 and the second at 10:10.

Stone put Milton back in the game with a goal half way through the middle period, unassisted. Newton's second line of Blodgett, Daniels and Miner began to work well in the last minute of the period, with Captain Castoldi coming up from his defense position, and this power combination put through two more goals, both by Bill Daniels, at 11:05 and 11:35. Milton came back with spirit in the last period, Scase making goals on passes from Cunningham, but they were still shy one goal when the game ended. The game was rough at times, heavy checking being the rule at both defense zones.

Splinters

The Northeastern interscholastic track meet at the Boston Garden, a week from tomorrow, will be a great gathering this year. The latest word is that a purposive grouping of first-raters may result in a 600-yard heat with Al Freeman of Newton, Frank Mascianica of Everett and Donald Thurber of Watertown running together.

Another former Newton hurdler who will give Milton Green competition this winter is Stanley Johnson of M. I. T., whose father is trainer for Tech track athletes. In a recent outdoor handicap meet, Stan won the 60-yard low hurdle race in 7 3/5 seconds while wearing heavy winter training clothes.

In the same Tech meet, Johnson took second in the broad jump, which was won at 22 feet even. This will not fool anyone who knows his capabilities, for Stan has jumped better than 24 feet in I. C. A. A. competition, and Don Enoch says he will be good for 25-foot jumping in time.

Douglas Chalmers and Dave McLellan took seconds in the 600 and 300-yd. handicap races in Tech's winter handicap meet.

Newton High track team runs at Brockton tomorrow, where the visiting team has to be twenty, thirty or more points better than Brockton in order to win. The track down there has four banks, and the Brockton boys know just how to run them so as to keep a half-step ahead of their arrivals.

Ice Shavings

George "Bud" Whitehead, the Newton High hockey player who suffered a broken kneecap in the Melrose game the day after Christmas, will be confined to his bed until some time in March as a result. When the time comes for letter awards, we hope this boy will not be overlooked.

Norman McCutcheon drew two penalties last Saturday, placing himself near the top in the hockey league penalty record. However, McCutcheon will not compete for honors again this season, having taken a board check from the high school faculty.

Still another hockey casualty is Edward Nichols, wing on the varsity third line, who is off the ice with a broken wrist, the aftermath of a Sunday game at the Ware Cove rink. Probably John Fitzgerald, a sophomore, will take his place.

No less than six former Newton High hockey luminaries are playing with the strong Boston Olympics, who won from Harvard 7-2 and lost to Yale 6-2 on successive nights this week. Frank Spain of Dartmouth fame and Joe Gilligan, captain last year at Yale, were centres. Herb "Wendy" Gallagher, former captain at Northeastern, shared right wing with Junie Stubbs of Harvard fame. Langdon "Ike" Powers of Dartmouth was at left wing and Bob Bennett, also of Dartmouth, played on defense.

The rink at Bullough's Pond is being used regularly for night games between unformed, half-uniformed and other local hockey clubs. Needham Hockey club defeated Waban Hockey club Monday night in a wild 5-4 set-to, and Wednesday Needham won from Nonantum H. C. approximately 7-2. Nonantum is having another chance at Needham tomorrow night, however. Tuesday night Potter Press beat Waban H. C. 5-3, to settle their series.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Dr. Osgood Entertaining On "Personality"

Mrs. Charles C. Willson, President of the Newton Federation, opened the Mid-Year Meeting at the Auburndale Club House on Tuesday, January 8th, at 2 p. m., by thanking the Auburndale Woman's Club for their kind hospitality and by reminiscing on the very happy term she spent several years ago as president of the Auburndale Club.

The Collect for Women was then read by the audience, and remarks of greeting were made by Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, president of the Hostess Club.

The records of the Fall Meeting were read by Mrs. George J. Murphy, recording secretary, and notices were read by Mrs. George H. Jackson, corresponding secretary.

Notice was given of the radio programs over WBSO, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, at 9:30 a. m., of particular value to clubwomen.

Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Motion Picture chairman, recommended the picture "Little Minister," and stated that it is coming to Wellesley and Newton.

Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham, Legislative chairman, announced that Mrs. Arthur C. Sennert, Legislative chairman of the State Federation, will discuss the Legislative program of the season at the Newton Highlands Workshop on Friday, February 1st, at 2:30 p. m. The Newton Highlands Legislative committee will be hostess for the occasion.

Mrs. Charles R. Hector, Soprano, a Club member, and Leo Lipman, Pianist, gave a most artistic musical program, that was all too brief.

Mrs. Willson then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. Phillips Endicott Osgood, as "a man well rounded in the Arts." Dr. Osgood's subject was "What Is Your P.Q.?" (Personality Quotient.) In a most humorous, dramatic manner Dr. Osgood gave the main characteristics through which personality normally develops, commencing with P.Q. 5 (childhood); in which is the child incorporating into his life the qualities he likes, and rejecting those things which he despises, and there is the necessity for the parent to lead him to like the things he should, and to dislike those he shouldn't. Some personalities do not develop beyond this child stage, stated the lecturer whimsically. Next there is P.Q. 10 (the age of objective reality), which includes testing out reality, asking for a true story, and becoming disillusioned through trying out true things, and the possibility of reaching the peculiar stage and becoming a disbeliever; and the "getting into the negative and wanting to be tough," the higher "holierism" of our day, as the speaker termed it. Then there is P.Q. 15 (age of adolescence), "if I must, I won't, if I may, I will," being the slogan, for this amateur adult seeking after personal significance by treading other people down. In spite of all we can do, said Dr. Osgood, these are beguiled by hard headedness and hard heartedness. "We have permanent adolescence all around us as manifested by sensitiveness, egotism, and inferiority complex." And finally, there is P.Q. 20 (adult life), in which the person lives and lets live, uses team play, finds himself by losing himself; and gains the knowledge that in proportion as we belong to each other we find life. In closing Dr. Osgood quoted from Cervantes "Don Quixote."

A very delightful Tea and social hour followed.

Glorious Junk Heaps Subject Of Lecture

"Glorious Junk Heaps" is the intriguing title of the talk which will be given by Mrs. Francis J. Flagg on Friday, January 25th, at the West Newton Women's Educational Club, North Gate park, West Newton. Mrs. Flagg is well-known throughout this section as a lecturer and a writer. She is a former president of the Professional Women's Club and is active among clubs of the State.

After the meeting refreshments will be served by the Hospitality committee, of which Mrs. Carl Thomas is chairman.

Lecture On Good Looks Offers Interest

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held at the Club House on Friday, January 25th, at 1:30 p. m. Coffee and a social hour will precede the business meeting which opens at 2:30 o'clock. The speaker for the afternoon will be Elizabeth MacDonald Osborne who will talk on "The Philosophy of Good Looks." Club members will find Miss Osborne an understanding guide to the study of their own personalities and their best modes of expression. There will be an Exhibition in the Reception Room of some of the Penny Art Fund prizes. The tea hostesses will be Mrs. Annie L. Eastman and Mrs. Edwin H. Ward.

Dr. Samuel Macaulay Lindsay will lecture on World Affairs on Monday, January 21st, at 8 p. m. at the Club House.

On Tuesday, January 22nd, at 10 a. m., also at the Club House Dr. Miriam Franc Skirball will review "Lust or Life," by Irving Stone, a biographical

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The January meeting of the Garden Club of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will be held on Monday, January 21st, at 12:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Louise Filene, 32 Holden road. Mrs. Gilbert R. Jones will be the assisting hostess. Before the meeting, a picnic lunch will be enjoyed by the Club members, and coffee will be served by the hostesses.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club acted as hostess for the Conference of the Twelfth District Health Institute held on Friday, January 11th. Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Club, welcomed and introduced the guests of honor and the speakers of the day. Mrs. John F. Capron, Twelfth District Director; Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, second vice-president of the State Federation; and Mrs. Charles C. Willson, president of the Newton Federation, were the honored guests.

Dr. Louise M. Leverone, State chairman of Public Health, planned the afternoon's program, presided at the meeting, and was also one of the principal speakers. She introduced first Dr. Helen McGillicuddy, from the Massachusetts Society of Social Hygiene, who spoke most understandingly on the ever-interesting subject of "Adolescence."

The next speaker, Dr. Lilyveld, a foot specialist of Rockland, emphasized in his talk on "Posture and Its Relation to Health," the importance of the proper care of the feet. He said in concluding, "To stand and to walk correctly will make the body posture take care of itself."

Mrs. George Abbott, one of the Club members, then rendered three delightful songs, her contribution to the program being much appreciated by her audience.

One of the main purposes of this Health Conference was to bring before the clubwomen the work that is being done by the Cancer committee in broadcasting information about that dread disease, and in showing the public the appalling number of fatalities resulting from it.

Dr. Leverone introduced Dr. Edward D. Leonard, of Newton, who described briefly the work of the Newton Cancer Clinic at the Newton Hospital. This clinic is open free of charge to the public and anyone who suspects the possibility of the presence of a cancer can obtain an examination and advice at the clinic.

Dr. Leverone's talk, called "Down Through the Ages," described briefly the history of cancer from ancient times to the present day. She told of its causes, some of which are known; the prevalence among different races of people; and the importance of recognizing its presence in its very early stage, so that measures may be taken to prevent it from becoming fatal. She also suggested ways and means by which all clubwomen could be of great service in helping to fight this dread disease.

After the meeting the Club members and their guests adjourned to the tea-room where Tea was served by the Hospitality committee.

Newton Community Club

"The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," a Puppet Show given by the Show Box, will be the program for the Newton Community Club on Thursday, January 24th, at 2:30 p. m., in the Underwood School Hall.

The Show Box is a traveling miniature theatre with every detail of theatrical equipment. The play, which is a medieval satire by Anatole France, is in two acts and has six characters.

The last meeting of the Child Study Class, sponsored by the Public Health committee of the Newton Community Club, will be held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Harold Higgins, 322 Franklin street, on January 25th, at 2:30 p. m. The topic will be "Play and Recreation for Children." Mrs. Briant Decker, a director of play at the Winsor School, and Mrs. Sloan, of the Children's Library at Newton, will lead the discussion. An open forum follows each talk. All mothers, whether Club members or not, are welcome. Tickets for the series are $1.00, or 50 cents for a single ticket.

The Newton Community Club enjoyed a delightful program on January 10th, when Leonard Craske, Sculptor, Actor, Author, and Lecturer, gave his illustrated lecture "Around Gloucester with a Color Camera."

Mr. Craske first explained how the pictures are made, illustrating with two color plates, shown on the screen; the first plate practically colorless as it appears to the naked eye, and the other as it appears under a microscope, showing the oil bubbles in three colors. He said that reflective light governs these colors. It is the direction and intensity of light that really makes the picture, and the light is most intense just before sunset.

These photographs, made on Agfa plates, are works of art. A glory of color in flowers and sunsets, rare views in soft pastels of rocks, sea, clouds, ships, and sand-dunes were all depicted, accompanied by word-pictures. There was a light-house, with the light burning brightly, which he considers the best of his collection. A "close-up" of the "Gloucester Fisherman," a work of sculpture by Mr. Craske, showing the soft patina left by the weather was interesting in that the surface was beautified, rather than marred by the elements. Those familiar with Gloucester were thrilled to see so many well-known land marks so beautifully pictured.

Following this, a short recess was declared by the president, Mrs. Steven Bayard Wilson, while the penny col-

Newtonville Woman's Club

The second in the series of four lectures on History in the Making, by Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor, which are free to Club members upon presentation of membership tickets, will be given on January 24th, at 10:15 o'clock. Guest tickets may be purchased at the door.

Mrs. Wallace H. Jose, chairman of the Legislative committee, will present on February 5th, for the Club's consideration, bills of proposed governmental legislation, to be acted upon at the Mid-Year meeting of the State Federation on February 28th. The delegates will wish to vote at that time according to the expressed opinion of the Club and the understanding and consequent instructions of the members on February 5th is, therefore, essential.

The chairman of the Civics committee, Mrs. Anton A. Wild, has placed in the front vestibule of the Club House a bag for contributions to the Clothing Chest. Articles may be deposited at any time when the Club House is open.

A new group is now being registered for the Class in Platform Art to be conducted by Mrs. Hortense Creede Rallsback. This course of ten lessons on stage presence, the placing of the voice, etc., will meet mornings at the home of Mrs. Percy E. Woodward, 125 Highland avenue, and is open to other than Club members. CHANGING NEWTON'S ELECTION LAWS

We do not entirely agree with the changes proposed in the petition to be heard by the legislature as to the election laws of Newton. One of the essential purposes of the bill is to eliminate the "off-year" election. Such a change also necessitates a change in the length of terms of the Aldermen and School Committee members. Proponents of the measure also would change the present set-up of one Ward Alderman and two Aldermen-at-Large from each ward to three Ward Aldermen. They would also have members of the School Committee elected, one from each ward, by the voters of that ward.

There seems to be little question of the undesirability of holding annual elections and agreement that the "off-year" election should be eliminated. City elections in such years have been featured by a small percentage of the vote being cast and there is the constant danger that a minority group, harmful to the best interests of the city as a whole, might achieve their ends.

With elections every two years at which a large percentage of the vote should be cast it would then be necessary to make the terms of Aldermen and School Committee members either two or four years. The latter is too long a term, we believe, for members of the Board of Aldermen. With a two-year term it is conceivable that there might be an entire change in the personnel of the two bodies. This possibility, however, is decidedly remote and is to be preferred to other existing dangers under the present method or under a four-year term.

As to whether or not each ward should have three Aldermen and a School Committee member elected by the voters of that ward we do not agree. Members of both of these bodies to some extent should be qualified to represent the entire city. With no aldermen-at-large it is conceivable that none of the three representatives would have that knowledge of the entire city that would enable him to view problems from such an angle. It would have a tendency to make sectional interests paramount. It doubtless will be possible to compromise in regard to the aldermen-at-large so that probably there may be two ward aldermen and one alderman-at-large from each of the seven wards. Sponsors of the bill admit their willingness to compromise in this respect.

As far as the school committee is concerned we do not agree with the contention that this should be on a ward basis. The school problem, leaving aside party politics, is one which must be retained on a city-wide basis. Our schools are for the youth of the entire city. Exclusively ward representation on this committee would mean a narrow outlook with each section striving to obtain particular benefits. Candidates might even find it practical, in order to gain election, to base their candidacy upon promises to obtain such benefits. Those entrusted with the handling of our school problems must be able to view school affairs in an unbiased manner.

The petition for changes in the election laws of Newton is sufficiently wide in scope, we believe, to admit of the possibility of other changes, not specifically stated. It is probable that a change will be sought requiring a larger number of signatures upon nomination papers. This would be desirable. If such a change is made candidates for at-large offices should be required to obtain signatures from every ward. Although no mention is made of preferential voting it is possible that an attempt will be made to eliminate this exclusive feature of Newton's laws. If so the question immediately arises whether or not we shall return to party designations, hold a run-off primary or select our officials by some other method.

The question is of great enough importance to the people of Newton so that every opportunity should be provided for expression of opinion. Sponsors of the bill are planning to seek a public hearing on the matter before the Newton Aldermen. If some agreement or compromise can be reached legislative sanction should be forthcoming and the entire matter will be put on the ballot as a referendum to the voters. Thus their voice of acceptance or rejection will decide the issue.

THE NEWTON MAYORALTY MARATHON

Indications that the office of Mayor of Newton will be much sought after next fall is in evidence. The announcement of General Daniel Needham's candidacy has brought forth further announcements, statements, and rumors of other candidates planning to enter the field. Former Mayor Childs' statement means that former Collector of Internal Revenue Thomas W. White, who opposed Mayor Weeks at the last election will not be a candidate. Ex-Alderman T. Morton Gallagher intimates he will be in the field. Paul Harris Drake has definitely announced his candidacy despite the small number of votes he polled a year ago last December. He continues to berate "machine politics" in his customary alliterative style. There are rumors that one or more present or former Aldermen will toss their hats into the ring. And all this with the city election 326 days away. The 1935 Newton mayoralty campaign may well go down in history along with the famous Greek Marathon of ancient days. Meanwhile many voters will wait until the race is in the home stretch before they get excited.

A WELCOME AWAITS

In 1914 the Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville resigned his pastorate to go to Washington. Announcement was made this week that he has accepted a call to the vacancy at the First Congregational Church at Newton Centre. When Dr. Stocking left Newton he left a host of friends and well-wishers. He has advanced in his chosen field and has held important pastorates. While many changes have taken place in the twenty years since Dr. Stocking left here there are many who recall his kindly influence and spiritual guidance. Newton Centre is to be congratulated upon securing his services and a warm and cordial welcome awaits his return.

Bearing On Biennials

Doubtless some persons will oppose the bill now before the Legislature on petition of three former Aldermen of Newton for a change in our city charter to do away with the "off year" municipal elections and have the voters come to the polls every two years instead of annually. To me, however, the proposal seems sound. I can think of no better argument in its favor than the success of the biennial State elections which system was established in 1920.

At that time there were those who insisted that biennial elections would mean a direct blow at representative government. It hasn't turned out that way and I can not find among the politicians or my political-minded friends any sentiment looking toward the return of annual elections. They agree that a term of two years is not too long. Also, that the agitation and excitement that accompany an election campaign should not be permitted oftener than once in two years.

Not Everybody Can Draw

It is difficult to speak with frankness of any likeness of oneself. If pleased with the photographer or painter's labors you hesitate to say so for fear of the charge of vanity. If not entirely satisfied that you have received justice you are likely to be equally silent; otherwise people may say, "He admires himself and what does he expect with a face like that?"

One of our citizens who is snapped more or less frequently by news photographers and whose portrait is familiar to the general public told me of an experience that he isn't going to forget for some time. He was paying an official visit to a school and there was invited to inspect the work of the art classes. One of the students walked over with a pen and ink drawing of a man. The distinguished citizen didn't recognize it as a picture of himself so it must have been pretty bad. But he did smile and ask, "Who's the funny old fellow?" And the student blushed and stammered, "That's supposed to be you, sir."

It Pays to Laugh

This is not intended to discourage long distance telephone calls. On the contrary such conversations are good for business, particularly if you happen to own some telephone stock. But that's not the point of this narrative. It seems there was a man whose Congressman was going to perform a little service for him in Washington. Well, the man waited and then received a letter from the Congressman whose secretary had slipped up and mixed the envelopes. The constituent didn't want the other constituent's letter but he did want to know what the Congressman had written and intended he should know. So he called Washington by long distance and explained. The law-maker thought it was a great joke. It seemed funny all around for the thing was soon straightened out. When the telephone bill came in the next month the constituent looked glum. "Nothing wrong?" his partner asked. "No, only our Congressman has a seven-dollar laugh."

And No One to Blame

One housing problem that often threatens to completely upset a happy home is due to a sign on the front door announcing that there is a patient within suffering from a contagious disease. Only those who have been so marooned will appreciate the feelings of a well-known Newton man recently released from quarantine. Said he, "I read everything I could get my hands on and now I find I've got to subscribe to all the fiction magazines if I want to get the rest of the continued stories."

Rotary Club

Prof. Basil Mathews, who is lecturing for four months at Andover-Newton and also at Boston University, spoke to the Newton Rotary Club last Monday on the world situation as he saw it. Ever since the War, the Professor has had unusual opportunities to study world conditions, being at Geneva for five years. He is the author of a number of books. He is a member of the Folkstone Rotary Club of Kent, England.

"Out of the War grew this intense nationalism," he said, "with much that is good but with also much that is bad. Blazed over the world is the pernicious doctrine, 'My country right or wrong.' On the other hand, there has grown up a militant Communism which we cannot accept in its entirety but which has some good elements for a better social order." According to the speaker, the Christian teaching of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man offers the only solution to a world torn by conflict. He concluded with the hope that the 150,000 Rotarians meeting weekly all over the world would be of great influence in helping to solve our international problems.

Charles B. Diman, II, representing the Classification Life Insurance and Annuities, was admitted to membership in the Club. Dr. Charles Ansley conducting a brief ritual of admonition. John Cahill, treasurer, gave a report of the excellent condition of the Club's finances, and Harry Hanson gave a brief report of the mid-winter assembly at Waltham. Under the leadership of Hassler Capron, the members and guests sang as a compliment to the speaker of the day the British national anthem.

About Town

By Edward H. Powers

"God Save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

We read in the Boston papers the other day that Leo Hughes, "ice technician" of the Newton Playground Department had made a survey of the Charles River Basin in Boston to give expert advice on the selection of the most suitable skating areas there. Leo is a pioneer in a new profession.

We have only one criticism to make regarding Alderman John Temperley's protest at not receiving the committee appointments on the Newton Board of Aldermen to which he has been and is entitled. He made the protest last Monday night. He should have made it several years ago. Temperley has been the object of scorn and criticism by some of the Aldermen who have served on the Board during the seven years he has been an Alderman. In the opinion of the writer who served with him on the Board for four years, and in the opinion of others who served as Aldermen with him, he has more sincerity of purpose and more moral courage than has been evidenced by many of those who criticized and ridiculed him. He is old fashioned in his ways and in some of his ideas. Many of our readers will agree that this country would be better if we had more men in political life with old fashioned ways.

Unlike many members of recent Boards of Aldermen, Temperley was not a "Yes" man. He has attended meetings of the Newton aldermen regularly for forty years, either as a reporter or editor of a local newspaper or a member of the Board. Therefore, he possesses unusual knowledge of Newton affairs and the conduct of its city government for the past two generations. It is not disparaging the other members of the Board to say that Temperley probably possesses more knowledge of city affairs than the other twenty of his colleagues. He should, after attending aldermanic meetings for 40 years. He is well qualified to serve on the Finance Committee. More so than many who have served on this committee in the past and at present. His intimate and wide knowledge of city affairs, his tendency toward conservatism in expenditure of taxpayers' money, his insistence on knowing what he votes for, and why, all are reasons why he should have received committee assignments which seniority entitled him to. But, because Temperley manifested these qualities and because he refused to be a "Yes" man, he was treated as being of inferior calibre. Incidentally, Temperley has conducted his own business at Newton Centre for 38 years, and kept it out of the red.

The announcement by General Daniel Needham early in January that he will be a candidate for Mayor of Newton at the election to be held on December 10th certainly gave ample notice to citizens of Newton and to other prospective candidates. By throwing his hat in the local ring eleven months in advance of the contest, the genial General cannot be accused of being an 11th hour candidate.

It is not our privilege to be personally acquainted with Mr. Needham. We have been told by those who know him that he is a man of ability and high character. Born in Groton 44 years ago, he is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School. He has been successful in his chosen profession, that of law. He has also won distinction in his chosen avocation, soldiering. He enlisted in the Massachusetts militia in 1912, served as a sergeant at the Mexican border in 1916; went overseas in 1917 with the 26th Division and rose to the rank of captain. Since the War he advanced through various grades until he now is Major General in command of the 26th Division. He became widely known throughout the State following his appointment by Gov. Ely on March 15, 1933 as Commissioner of Public Safety. Because of the McMath kidnapping case and the bank robbery and murders at Needham by the Millens and Faber, he received much publicity.

It is our belief that because of this publicity General Needham was selected as a candidate who would make a strong appeal to the voters of Newton. General Needham did not seek the office of Commissioner of Public Safety. He assumed it under adverse conditions. He filled this office in a creditable manner during the year and half he held it. But, without depreciating his service in that office, we believe he did nothing amazing while in it. True, he displayed prompt, forceful, intelligent action in the McMath case. The detection and conviction of the Millens and Faber resulted from clever work on the part of Captain Stokes of the State Police. The alleged ultra efficiency of the State Police did not materialize in the attempt to solve the murder at Rockport and the Speer murder at North-raid. Neither did the State Police perform traffic duty on our State highways the past two years to the degree they should, although we noticed an improvement in this function over preceding years.

Because General Needham has resided in Newton only 11 years and has had so many outside activities during that period to permit him taking much activity in Newton affairs and none in its city government, we believe there are other men in this city better qualified to serve as mayor. This does not mean that he would not make an efficient mayor. Ex-Mayor Childs was not an Alderman prior to his election as mayor. And we know many who have served as Aldermen whom we believe would not make efficient mayors.

The names of the members of the corporation formed to own the horse racing track in East Boston shows that the high-brows and not so high-brows who recently were combating any other of the Board and generally rates third in importance, being ranked only by the Finance and Claims and Rules Committees. The Public Works Committee some years ago became largely routine in its functions. Alderman Hill is again chairman of the Licenses Committee this year. Alderman Atkins succeeds Sproat as the member from ward 1, Guzzi succeeds Farrell from ward 3, Gordon replaces Cronin from ward 4, Walker takes McKay's place from Ward 5. Inches succeeds Goddard from ward 6 and Colby succeeds Melcher from ward 7. Of the seven members on the License Committee, five are new Aldermen.

The Public Buildings Committee last year had Gallagher as chairman, and the other members were Cordingley, Farrell, Floyd, Hill, Melcher and Temperley. This committee for 1935 is headed by Floyd as chairman. The other members are Barwise from ward 1, succeeding Gallagher; Hill from ward 2, Hutchinson from ward 3, succeeding Farrell; Temperley from ward 5, Goddard from ward 6 in place of Cordingley, and Melcher from Ward 7. Of the seven committee members, three are new.

The Education Committee, the Kenrick Fund Committee and the Legislation Committee are of minor importance among the standing committees. The Education Committee last year was composed of Temperley, chairman, Farrell and McKay. The committee this year includes—Temperley, chairman, McCabe and Rawson. The Kenrick Fund Committee last year included Hutchinson, chairman; Cronin and Temperley. The committee this year is composed of Cronin, chairman; Barwise and McKay. The personnel of the Legislation Committee last year was McKay, chairman; Farrell, Goddard, Gordon, Grebenstein, Jamieson and Sproat. The committee this year includes—Grebenstein of ward 2, chairman; Atkins, ward 1; Guzzi, ward 3, Gordon, ward 4; McKay, ward 5; Inches, ward 6; Colby, ward 7. This committee will have one important matter to study this year—the bill presented to the Legislature by a group of Newton citizens, including several former Aldermen seeking to change the charter of the city. The changes proposed aim to give home rule to the various wards by having each ward select its own Aldermen and School Committee member, to hold city elections biennially instead of annually, and to require more signatures on nomination papers.

The Select Committees of the Board of Aldermen include those on the Mayor's Address, Street Traffic and the Joint Committee on School Buildings. The latter is so named because it is composed of three Aldermen, three members of the School Committee and the Mayor. The Aldermen who were on this committee in 1934 were Floyd, who was chairman; Hutchinson and McKay. The members from the Aldermen this year are—McKay, chairman, Atkins and Lyster. The committee on Mayor's Address, the function of which is to study the inaugural address and recommend consideration of some of its features for action by the Board, is composed this year of Melcher, chairman; Atkins, Grebenstein, Inches and Walker.

The committee on Street Traffic is again largely made up of Aldermen whose occupations are not in Newton and who do not have full opportunity to know traffic conditions through daily observation. Two of the three members of this year's committee are engaged in business in Boston. These members are Goddard, chairman; and Colby. The third member is Guzzi. Last year's Traffic Committee was composed of Grebenstein, chairman, Gordon and Jamieson, all of whom were engaged in business outside of Newton.

Luncheon and Broadcast Reception at Brae Burn Club

Mrs. Louis W. Local Church Holds World Vision Institute

Dr. Hugh C. Tucker, Secretary of the American Bible Society for Brazil, will speak on "Beacon Lights along New Trails in Brazil" in the Newtonville Methodist Church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, at the opening of the ninth annual World Vision Institute of the church. Wednesday evening the four reel moving picture, "Padre Sahib," filmed amid the glamour and color of northern India, will be shown at 7:45. "The Doctor Decides," a story of life in the mountains of the South, will also be given by a cast of local talent.

Dr. Laurence W. C. Emig, the pastor, will have charge of the World Friendship prayer meeting in the Chapel Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and Prof. Robert E. Bruce, chairman of the World Service committee, will illustrate some of the 22 interesting projects offered to any one who would like to help in this world service. Gifts for medicine, literature, scholarships, libraries and various much needed helpers in mission fields are included in these projects. Dr. Howard Thurman of Howard University, Washington, D. C., will be the guest speaker at the Clafin Club dinner on Friday evening, when he will talk on "The Ultimate Basis of Success." This meeting is open to members of the club.

On Sunday morning, Jan. 27, at 11 o'clock, the Rev. Wm. R. Leslie, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, Brookline, will speak on "Russia." The closing session of the Institute will be Sunday evening at 6 o'clock when the young people, with Howard E. DuPuy, Jr., as leader, will be in charge. The Rev. Boyd W. Tucker, an associate of Dr. Tagore in Bengal, will speak on "Santiniketan" at this time. The purpose of these institutes is to give through education a clear vision of world wide missions. The sum of more than $700 was subscribed last year through gifts to the special projects offered.

Newtonville Young Man Exhibits Paintings in Newton Library

The Newton Public Library will show a group of water colors by Warren T. Berry, Newtonville artist, in the Library Art Department for two weeks beginning Monday, Jan. 21. Mr. Berry, who is a graduate of the Newton High School, the Massachusetts School of Art and the Boothbay Harbor Studios, has drawn his subjects from the quaint fishing villages, typical of the Maine coast. He has taught block printing at the Art Teachers Association in Boston and at the Boston University Extension Art Department. His work has been shown before in Newton also at the Grace Horne's Galleries in Boston and at the Morton Gallery in New York.

Master Plumbers Hold Banquet

The master plumbers of Newton and vicinity held their annual banquet at Bond's restaurant in Watertown on Jan. 9. About 50 were present. President Charles Keizer extended a welcome to the guests and then turned the meeting over to the entertainment committee composed of Harry McGourty, "Dick" Leahy, W. Stevens and J. Cavanaugh. Harry McGourty, in a glowing tribute, presented retiring President Keizer with a gold Star President's badge. The officers elected for the ensuing year, who were installed, include: M. O'Connell, president; John Burke, vice-president; Paul Uppin, secretary; Charles Keizer, L. Corcoran and James Clashy, directors. "Dick" Leahy entertained with a monologue. Games and music were enjoyed by the gathering.

Weeks Jr. High

On Thursday, January 10, the Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball squads and a large following of cheerleaders journeyed over to the Day School to help in the dedication of the new addition to the Day gymnasium. The Varsity and the Day Junior Varsity scored victories. In the Varsity game, with the final score 20-11, Bill Johnston and Don Manchester were the outstanding scoring players, while Leger, second string center playing in place of Sosman, was the outstanding defensive player. In the Junior Varsity game which Weeks lost 22-4, Coach MacConnell played fifteen men in an endeavor to find the best playing combinations.

In the Home Room Basketball Leagues, the first round has been completed. During the second round, eliminations will be made. George Hickman has been high scorer in the first ten games of the ninth grade league; John Fitzgerald, high scorer of the 8th grade; and Tony Rezzutti, of the 7th.

The Players, or What You Will Drama Club, under the direction of Miss Alice Gray, presented "The Ghost Hunters" at the assembly on January 16. Virginia Graham announced the cast as follows: Joan Cunningham, Priscilla Chapple, Earle Vaughan, Hugh Van Rosen, Irene Cook, Dean Proctor, Stage Manager, Frances Hamilton.

The school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. A. D. Parker, played during the assembly.

Warren Jr. High

Warren Junior High will make its radio debut January twenty-first at two o'clock over WBZ. The purpose of the broadcast is to acquaint the public with the school and its activities. On January fourth, 120 pupils participated in voice try-outs. The program is to be prepared and presented by pupils under the direction of Miss Esther Papp and Mr. Carl Penny of the Warren faculty.

An old-fashioned spelling bee was the special treat offered in the first assemblies of the month. Mr. Samuel Thurber of the Newton High School conducted the eighth and ninth grade contest, and Mrs. Gill of Warren took charge for the seventh grade. Albert Flagg of Junior II and Percy Nelson of Junior I were the winners.

Those participating in the spelling matches were:

Junior II—John Haman, Kenneth Boegner, Joan Lander, Edward Ayvazian, Lillian Sheridan, Eleanor Borden, Sally Gifford, Albert Flagg, Catherine Martin, Rosario Pace, and Lester Houston.

The school has been greatly interested in a collection of stones and other treasures being exhibited by John Kellar and Frank Moore of Junior I. An alligator from Florida, a pair of sandwood elephants from India, specimens of sponge and brain coral from Bermuda, an amethyst stone from Nova Scotia, and a Chinese lantern used by Boy Scouts in China are among the most notable of the objects displayed.

The following boys have been selected for the Warren varsity and junior varsity basketball squads: Varsity—Wickson, Babcock, Howard, Burns, Fernald, Van Gundy, Field, Black, Cheserone, Duffy, Rice, and Hewitt. Junior Varsity—Cowan, Foster, Smith, Garrison, Carder, Saulnier, Crocker, Shaw, Walsh, Troy, Costoldi, Cort, Richardson, Ruane, Foley, Meyers, Fanning and Doherty.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior and Senior basketball teams have had a busy week. The Juniors met Newton Vocational on Tuesday at the Vocational Court, and the Seniors travelled to Quincy "Y" on Wednesday to play 1st and 2nd team games while the Brockton Y. M. C. A. 1st and 2nd teams met corresponding Newton clubs at the local "Y" on Saturday evening. The Juniors were seeking revenge for a defeat administered by the Vocational boys at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Dec. 21st.

The Quincy "Y" team are the two-state Y. M. C. A. Champions and a win over their strong team would be a notable triumph for the Seniors. The Brockton teams, which are always strong, defeated Newton during an exhibition game New Year's day at the "Y" gym 34 to 32.

The "Y" Volley Ball Team play the strong Boston "Y" team Saturday at the Newton "Y" at 4 p. m.

The Swimming Teams are preparing for the Senior meet with Boston next Thursday.

M. C. O. F. BRIDGE AND WHIST
Middlesex Court No. 60, M. C. O. F. will sponsor a Bridge and Whist Party on Tuesday evening, January 22, at Elk's Hall, Centre st., Newton.

Joseph M. Farragher, R. S. is chairman of the Committee, assisted by the Officers of the Court.

Many beautiful prizes have been selected and will be awarded in bridge and whist.

Beano will follow the card playing. Middlesex Court will hold its 49th annual banquet and reunion on Tuesday night, February 12th at Elk's Hall, Centre st., Newton. Miss Marion Goode is chairman of the large committee arranging this event.

Team game 20-11 and won the second team game 21-11.

Tryouts are being held this week for school cheer leaders. Only ninth grade girls may try out. The judges, Miss Marguerite Lougee, Mr. Edward Tanner and Mr. R. V. Burkhard, will choose three of the contestants.

The boys of the Day opened their basketball schedule with a contest with Weeks. The Day lost the first

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Water Supply System

A very large and enthusiastic turnout greeted Rupert Thompson, Jr., new President of the Newton Kiwanis Club at Charles River Country Club last Tuesday.

Ed Hickey who has just returned from a trip to Bermuda gave a short resume of his trip. James C. Heffron was taken in as a new member of the club.

Mr. Karl Kinnison, Chief Engineer of the Metropolitan Water Supply gave a very interesting talk on the Water Supply of the Metropolitan District, comprising 20 cities and towns outside of the City of Boston. He stated that the first Water Supply in Boston was taken from Jamaica Pond and was distributed through Boston in three and four inch wooden water mains. Now the supply system consists of many large reservoirs the largest being at Ware and Clinton. The Clinton reservoir which was started in 1898 increased the supply to 140 millions of gallons of water a day. When the Ware project is completed the system will deliver 210 million gallons daily. The total cost of the project will be $5,000,000. One very interesting item was the water tunnel connection from Ware to Clinton reservoirs. It is 26 miles long, the longest tunnel in the world, and large enough for an ordinary street car to pass through.

The speaker for next Tuesday, Jan. 22nd will be Henry Parkman, Jr., State Senator and last year candidate for Mayor of Boston. He comes from the historic Parkman family of Boston. His subject will be "Problems Now Confronting the State Senate."

Newton Hudson-Terraplane Co. Leases Modern Salesroom

Myron F. Evans, Treasurer of the Newton Hudson-Terraplane Company, has recently taken a long term lease on the building at 208-214 Washington street, Newton Corner. The building, as laid out, makes one of the finest sales and service setups in suburban Boston. Modern equipment is used, and the men are all experienced mechanics, capable of doing any job from adjusting brakes to a complete overhaul or Duco job.

Being the only Hudson-Terraplane dealer in the Newtons, Mr. Evans extends to all Newton people interested in Hudson built cars, a special invitation to visit the showroom, look over the new cars, and at the same time inspect the service facilities.

Howard Cunningham, former Everett dealer, is now associated with Mr. Evans as Assistant Salesmanager, and will welcome his old friends and customers.

Y. M. C. A.

The Business Men's Gymnasium Class, which has been meeting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5:15 P. M. has become so popular that Phys. Director, Richard B. Simmons and Mr. R. J. Rutherford, Coach of Volley Ball, have arranged another class period on Thursday night. Nineteen new full length lockers are being installed for those who wish to become members of this class.

Mr. Frederic B. Eastman, vice-president of the Newton Association, is a member of a Committee of Laymen and Secretaries who are making plans for the Two-State Convention which will be held in Boston the latter part of February.

On December 31st the membership of the Y. M. C. A. had increased to 1245.

Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Director of Boy's Work, George Van Buskirk, William Conway, and Arthur H. Clarke have been spending a few days at Camp Frank A. Day. Even at this early date boys are enrolling for the 1935 Camp season.

Athletics

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Junior and Senior basketball teams have had a busy week. The Juniors met Newton Vocational on Tuesday at the Vocational Court, and the Seniors travelled to Quincy "Y" on Wednesday to play 1st and 2nd team games while the Brockton Y. M. C. A. 1st and 2nd teams met corresponding Newton clubs at the local "Y" on Saturday evening. The Juniors were seeking revenge for a defeat administered by the Vocational boys at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Dec. 21st.

The Quincy "Y" team are the two-state Y. M. C. A. Champions and a win over their strong team would be a notable triumph for the Seniors. The Brockton teams, which are always strong, defeated Newton during an exhibition game New Year's day at the "Y" gym 34 to 32.

The "Y" Volley Ball Team play the strong Boston "Y" team Saturday at the Newton "Y" at 4 p. m.

Five Gunmen Stage Carefully Planned Robbery—Seize Payroll While Armed Express Guards Are in Building

The first big robbery in this city in this age of machine-gun bandits was pulled off last Friday afternoon at 1:22 at the office of the Earnshaw Knitting Company, 148 California street, Nonantum. About 1:20 an armored car of the Brink Company arrived in front of the Earnshaw Company building bringing an $8300 payroll from the Brookline Trust Company. With the car were three armed guards. The payroll, contained in a large fibre case and a canvas bag, was taken into the Earnshaw office and delivered to Albert M. Grant, assistant treasurer of the company by the Brink guards. Grant received the payroll at a desk at the front of the office and received for it. He took the fibre case and the bag and proceeded towards a large vault at the rear of the office. The Brink employees walked out of the office and down a vestibule towards California street. Just before Grant reached the vault with the payroll two armed bandits entered a door at the rear of the office. One carrying a machine gun met Archibald Stace, purchasing agent for the Earnshaw Company who happened to be walking at the rear of the office, and backed Stace against the side of a stairway. The second bandit pointed an automatic pistol at Grant and ordered him to drop the payroll. Grant did not instantly obey the command, so the bandit again snatched the instruction. Grant complied and dropped the fibre case and canvas bag on the floor. One of the bandits picked them up and ran out the rear door. The other bandit brandished his machine gun for a few seconds and then ran after his comrade. About a half-minute elapsed from the time the bandits entered the office until they fled with the $8300.

Even while the bandits were in the office, Miss Irene Sullivan, a clerk there, who serves as relief operator on the telephone switchboard, put in an emergency call to Newton police headquarters and said—"Police! Earnshaw Company." This call was received at 1:23 at police headquarters by Patrolman William Dowling who was on house duty. The only word heard by Dowling was "police," but the operator at the telephone exchange immediately informed him that the call had come from the Earnshaw office. Dowling had frequently done traffic duty in front of the Earnshaw factory and when he told Serg. Meehan, who was in charge at headquarters of the emergency phone call, both realizing that Friday was pay day at the knitting factory, sensed that a robbery was being enacted and Meehan at once broadcast an alarm over the police radio. The alarm was received by Patrolman "Jerry" Jenkins who was in a police car on Washington street at West Newton. Jenkins raced down Watertown street to Nonantum, reaching the Earnshaw factory about four minutes after the hold-up. The radio alarm was also heard by Patrolman Dungan in a car at Newton Corner. Dungan picked up Patrolman McDonough who was nearby and arrived at the scene closely after Jenkins. Police headquarters, right after sending out the radio

To Give Dinner To Ex-Alderman Roy V. Collins

A dinner will be held next Tuesday evening, Jan. 29th, at the Brae Burn Club, West Newton, at which the guest of honor will be Roy V. Collins, past president of the Newton Board of Aldermen. Mr. Collins retired from the Board on Jan. 1st, after thirteen years of service. The dinner is being arranged by friends and former municipal government associates of Mr. Collins as evidence of appreciation of his long and conscientious service to the city. The committee in charge includes George W. Pratt of Newton Centre, Richard M. Ott of West Newton, and C. Ray Cabot of Newtonville.

Ask Damages From City for Falls on Sidewalks

Katherine Rattigan of Atkins st., Brighton, has brought a claim for damages against the City of Newton for injuries received on Nov. 28, when she fell on the sidewalk at Pembroke st. near Tremont st., Newton. She alleges that a defect in the sidewalk caused her to fall.

Truck Skids And Hits M&B Bus

Last Friday at 7:30 a. m., a truck owned by the Veech Baking Company of Dedham and driven by Clemens Haglund, of Dorchester, skidded on Commonwealth ave. at Walnut st., Newton Centre, and crashed into a Middlesex & Boston bus. The bus was driven by James Treddin of West Newton. Haglund received injuries to his chest and a passenger in the bus was cut by broken glass.

Boy Coaster Runs Into Automobile

Carl Needy, 9, of 29 Ricker rd., Newton, was slightly injured on the head when the sled on which he was coasting hit an automobile driven by Robert Woods of Brighton on Monday. The accident happened on Arlington st., Newton. Woods saved the boy from serious injury or death by managing to stop his car before the sled hit the right front wheel.

Auto Hits Woman On Washington St

Mrs. Julia Barton of 37 Lewis st., Newton, was struck Tuesday night at 7:45 by a car driven by George Mooney of Westminister ave., Watertown. The accident happened on Washington st. near Lewis terrace, Newton, and Mrs. Barton received injuries to her legs. Mooney reported that the brakes on his car must have become frozen and did not function properly.

"Romany Revels" At Newton Centre

One of the coming social events of the season is the light opera "Romany Revels," to be given at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 8 and 9, with Mrs. Thomas Cunner, general chairman, and Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell as chairman of the planning committee. Among those aiding in this Gypsy carnival are the following: Mrs. Fred Shaw, programs; Mrs. George E. Squier, tickets; Mrs. A. Harry Hutchinson, refreshments; Mrs. Melville D. Limine, dancing; Mr. and Mrs. William C. Noetzel, scenery; Mrs. Edward A. Andrews, stage; Mrs. James Mitchell, make-up; Mrs. LeRoy A. Schall, costumes; Mrs. Douglass Francis, head usher; Mrs. Fred Bond, assisted by members of the Junior Women's Club, candy.

Icy Streets Cause Collisions

The icy streets of the past week have caused several automobile accidents. A car driven by Beverly Seccord of 31 Wesley street, Newton, while proceeding on Arlington street, Newton on Sunday night hit the blade of a city snow plow causing it to swerve and strike two city employees, Edward Norcross and Salvatore Pannella, who were working on the plow. It was reported that the two had received injuries. Second reported that two trucks, each attached to a snow plow, were parked on either side of Arlington street and the glare from the headlights on one of these trucks blinded him, and caused him to hit the plow on the other truck.

A truck driven by Demetrius Karakelas of Revere and owned by the Chestnut Hill Market hit a parked car on Boylston street, Newton Centre on Monday. Robert Flowers of Dorchester, seated in the parked car, reported that he was injured. The accident was caused by the truck skidding.

Vincenzo Again Petitions For Gas Station

Frank Vincenzo of Adams st., Newton, has again petitioned for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station on Washington st., at the corner of Cross st., West Newton. For the past several years Vincenzo has similarly petitioned a number of times, and each time his application has been refused after property owners in the neighborhood of the proposed station have come to City Hall and protested. Since Vincenzo first started to petition, the Board of Aldermen passed a rule limiting such petitions to one within a year. Practically the same opposition which objected to Vincenzo's past petitions will again be in evidence.

Auburndale House Burned Wednesday

A fire which apparently started in some paper in the back of the house at 82-84 Freeman street, Auburndale about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon caused $2000 damage to the building and contents and necessitated occupants of the two apartments there to flee to the street. The fire was detected by Mrs. E. P. Butler of 84 Freeman street. She ran to a neighbor's house from where a telephone alarm was sent. The other apartment in the house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown and the former was ill in bed. Brown was carried from the burning house by George and Ray Paul of 76 Freeman street with the assistance of John Turner. The fire spread from the cellar up into the house. Lt. Frank Davis of Engine 5 fell while fighting the flames and strained a ligament in his side.

Two Women Rob Nonantum Store

Two women, one middle aged, and the other a blonde, about 20 years old, entered the drug store of Alex Fox at 334 Watertown st., Nonantum, late Saturday night and gave a prescription to Frank Tracy, a clerk in the store. Tracy went behind the partition at the rear of the store and filled the prescription. While he was thus engaged the two women rifled a cash drawer at the subpost station in the store and took $108 in cash and two money-orders. When Tracy came out to the front of the store with the prescription, the two female thieves had made a quiet getaway.

Newton Y. M. H. A. to Run Annual Minstrel Show

The Newton Young Men's Hebrew Association will hold its Annual Minstrel Show and Dance on Tuesday evening, March 5, 1935, at 8:15 p. m., at the Newton Centre Women's Club in Newton Centre.

The organization is indeed fortunate in having secured the services of "Ned" Childs as its principal character of the show, as certainly there is no one better fitted to handle the job, considering "Ned's" vast experience in amateur theatricals. All local talent that would care to participate in the show will be welcomed. Rehearsals are being held Thursday evenings at 7:45, and Sunday afternoons at 2:00, at the "Y" headquarters at 126 Adams street.

Newton Woman Elected National Defense Delegate

At the fourth annual conference at Faneuil Hall, Boston, on January 19th under the auspices of the Massachusetts Dept., Ladies of the C. A. R. E., Mrs. Cornelia G. Francis of Newton was elected chairman of the Resolutions Committee and a delegate to the National Defense Conference to be held in Washington, D. C., on Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1. She will represent the Massachusetts Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense.

State Board Grants License To Moore

The controversy over the granting of a renewal of a liquor store license to Fred S. Moore of 72 Algonquin rd., Chestnut Hill, was ended last Monday when the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission approved the license which had been granted to Mr. Moore at 307 Washington st., Newton. Mr. Moore has been a resident of Chestnut Hill for many years and is secretary of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Society. Last year a license was granted him for a package goods store to sell liquor at 315 Centre st., Newton, under the name "Newton Corner Wine Shop." Associated with him in this venture as a silent partner was Samuel Berkman of Roxbury. Moore decided to apply for a license at a different location, and disassociated from Berkman. The Newton License Commission approved his application and disapproved one which came from Berkman for use at the old location. Berkman took an appeal to the State Liquor Commission. That body turned down both applications after a hearing. Subsequently, upon learning of Mr. Moore's standing in the community, the State Commission decided to approve the action of the local commission and granted Moore the license.

Hole In Street Damaged Auto—Asks City to Pay

Vincent Loughlin of 90 Withington rd., Newtonville, has presented a claim of $28.55 to the city for repairs to his automobile. The car was damaged on the night of Dec. 19, when it went into a hole on St. James st., Newton. Loughlin states this hole was four feet long, two feet wide and two feet deep.

Six Months For Stealing Whiskey

William Tafe, 27, of 51 River st., Wellesley, was sentenced to serve 6 months in Middlesex County prison in the Newton court last Friday. He was found guilty of breaking the window of Shaughnessy's liquor store at 2366 Washington st., Newton Lower Falls on last Thanksgiving eve. George Connors and Francis Bigley of Wolsey, who were also arrested by Patrolmen Jenkins and Cunningham on the night of the break, were placed on probation. A fourth Wellesley man, James Moore, was also arrested. He was fatally injured in an automobile accident a few weeks ago.

Health Report For December

The report of the Newton Health Department for December shows that there were 59 deaths during the month in this city; 34 males and 25 females. The death rate per 1000 of population for the month was 9.68. Cancer caused 6 deaths, diabetes 2, Hodgkins disease 2, heart ailments 20, pneumonia 11, accidental falls 2, and automobile accident 1. Communicable diseases reported during the month included—diphtheria, 1 case; scarlet fever 10, measles 1, whooping cough 19, chicken pox 58.

Guzzi To Support Childs For Mayor

Alderman Alfred R. Guzzi of West Newton has announced that he will support Edwin O. Childs for Mayor at the next city election. Guzzi's name recently appeared on the list of those who endorsed the candidacy of General Daniel Needham. Guzzi explains that when he agreed to be listed as one of Needham's supporters, he did so with the proviso that if Childs would be a candidate he would advocate the election of the former mayor.

Frank F. Carr Dies At Wheel of Auto

Was Principal of Weeks Junior High School

Frank F. Carr of 38 Otis st., Newtonville, principal of the Weeks junior high school at Newton Centre, died suddenly of heart failure while driving his automobile on Oakwood rd., Newtonville, about 11 o'clock Saturday night. He was taking some friends to their home when he was stricken. He managed to stop the car before collapsing.

Mr. Carr was born in Palermo, Me., on August 27, 1876. He graduated from Castine Normal School in 1898 and took graduate studies at Harvard College. He taught at Chelsea and Dover, New Hampshire, and in 1904 was made principal of Claffin School at Newtonville. In 1922 he became principal of the F. A. Day junior high school, and in 1931 he was made principal of the Weeks junior high school. He had taken an active part in Boy Scout work. He was a member of the Newtonville Improvement Association, Parent-Teacher Association, Massachusetts Junior High School Principals' Association and the Central Congregational Church.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Emma S. Carr; two sons, Richard Carr of Chicago, and F. Fairfield Carr, a student at Massachusetts State College; and two daughters, Mrs. Albert Stevens of Arlington, and Helen E. Carr of Newtonville. His funeral service was held at Central Congregational Church on Wednesday. Rev. Randolph Merrill officiated. Burial was at Albion, Maine.

Change at Newton Centre Postoffice

Joseph J. Nolan of Gardner st., Newton, who has been Superintendent of the Newton Centre postoffice for the past two years, has been transferred to the position of foreman of carriers in the Boston postoffice. Daniel W. Sheehan of Jamaica Plain is serving as temporary superintendent at the Newton Centre postoffice. He has been a foreman of carriers.

Fined $60 For Drunken Driving

Richard C. Turner was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor, and $10 for drunkenness. He appealed. Turner was arrested at 1 a. m. on Dec. 4 by Patrolmen Green and Keating after the car he was driving had hit another car on the turnpike at Newton Highlands. The police testified that Turner was proceeding the wrong direction on one of the one-way roadways of the turnpike. Turner admitted that he had taken several drinks earlier that night.

Over Sixty Trucks Used To Battle Severe Storm

Main Thoroughfares Open—Side Streets Blocked

The heavy snowfall and gale of Wednesday's blizzard confronted the Newton Street Department with the hardest task it has had in many years. Not only did more inches of snow fall than during almost any storm within memory of the present generation, but the dry, powdery flakes were piled high in drifts by the high wind. Wednesday afternoon the Street Department not only had its twenty large trucks pushing plows, but hired trucks were being placed in operation with plow attachments. By Wednesday night 45 hired trucks were attempting to clear the streets in addition to the city-owned trucks. As the blizzard increased in intensity and drifts kept growing, many of the hired trucks became disabled either through rear ends or clutches giving out under the tremendous strain. Other trucks became stalled during the night and yesterday, and had to be shovelled out. Scores of stalled automobiles along streets also impeded the efforts of the trucks in the fight to keep the principal streets open for traffic. A large percentage of side streets could not be plowed by the trucks, so difficult were conditions. Sidewalks, for the most part, could not be plowed.

In addition to approximately 300 regular city employees, several hundred unemployed men were put to work yesterday morning to assist in clearing away the snow. Men were hired until the supply of city-owned shovels became exhausted. Street Commissioner Charles Mahoney and his office staff were kept busy yesterday answering telephone calls from residents of side streets who asked that these streets be plowed. Mr. Mahoney stated that his department was doing everything within its power to clear all the streets as soon as possible, but because of the quantity of snow and drifts, the limit in the number of trucks which could be obtained, the stalling of trucks in the drifts, necessitating that they be shovelled out, all this made progress difficult, but he hopes that all streets will have been plowed by tonight or early tomorrow morning. Mr. Mahoney said that about 100 Street Department employees had been working almost constantly from Sunday noon until last night.

Newton was fortunate in not having had any fires Wednesday night or yesterday. With many streets in the city not open to traffic, fire trucks could not have reached many buildings. Chief Randlett ordered all men on duty Wednesday. He obtained two horses and a pump and this emergency equipment has been kept at Engine 3 house, Newton Centre. Yesterday twelve firemen and ten Boy Scouts were engaged in digging out hydrants. Employees of the Street Department also assisted in this work.

NEWTON BLANKS RINDGE TO KEEP IN SECOND PLACE HOCKEY TIE

Scoring their first victory in league competition since New Year's Day, Newton's hockey team won from the lowly Rindge Technical six by a 4-0 margin at the Boston Garden last Saturday. Ernie McLeod, colorful right wing, made one goal and three assists, while Captain Gus Castoldi took two of the McLeod passes to score. It was more or less a routine afternoon in the league program as three first-division teams won from three second-division teams by lopsided victories, and the only unusual feature, aside from a plethora of penalties and fistfighting, was the game in which Belmont defeated Cambridge Latin by 2-0.

McLeod's Assists Win
Newton went into the lead early in the first period when McLeod coasted in at the right and passed to Captain Castoldi in front of the Rindge goal. Late in the same period, with 10:25 of the twelve minutes elapsed, the play was virtually duplicated by the same high-scoring pair, and Newton led 2-0.

Rindge made it a hockey game in the second period with several thrusts at the Newton goal, but Burt Woodward kept the situation well in hand with some good saves. The third Newton tally came at 3:35 in the last period. Bill Page fed a pass to McLeod in the right lane, setting up a perfect scoring play. Kramer came out to make the save, but Ernie tapped the puck past him into the cage. John Herriek made it 4-0 with less than a half-minute to play, pushing home a pass from McLeod.

New Players Used
Doctor Martin was able to experiment with his replacements as Rindge showed no great power. John Herriek and John Fitzgerald saw service at center, Allan Turner and Donald Harrington on the wings, and Herbert Buttrick in goal. For these five the Rindge game was their initiation into league hockey, and all show promise. In the other games, Melrose beat Stoneham 4-1, Belmont upset Cambridge 2-0, Arlington defeated Medford 3-0. Consequently Arlington remains in first place, half a game ahead of Melrose and Newton, with Cambridge a game and a half behind them in fourth place.

With Ernie McLeod adding four points to his scoring record in the Rindge game, the league statistics take on more interest for Newton hockey followers. Leading the list is Ray Chaisson of Cambridge Latin, 10 goals, 2 assists. McLeod holds second honors with 7 goals, 4 assists. Captain Gus Castoldi is fifth with eight points, and Bill Page is ninth with six points. Newton leads the league in team scoring with 23 goals, but Arlington and Melrose have been more successful at keeping their opponents from scoring.

OUR LADY HIGH FIVE LOSSES THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

Our Lady's basketball team lost their third successive game in the Catholic league to St. Mary's of Lynn at the Newton court Tuesday. Last Friday they were beaten by St. Charles, 20-12. In the St. Mary's game, the score stood 12-11 at the half, but the Lynn club pulled away during an exciting second half to win, 31-24. The loss of Francis "Chicken" Morris, Our Lady's ace and high scorer, is being keenly felt while he is out of school with the grippe.

NEWTON READY FOR FIRST BIG TRACK TEST

Newton's track forces are all ready to do battle for interscholastic honors in the Northeastern University games in the Boston Garden tomorrow afternoon. The meet has gained popularity suddenly since it was moved from the Y. M. C. A. to the North Station sports palace, and the entry list numbers almost 550. Coach Don Enoch, who has seen the Newton High flyers go through their dual meet opposition without a real test, figures the Lynn Classical, Brookline and Watertown are the teams Newton will have to beat tomorrow.

According to Coach Enoch, "Brookline will be very, very strong, particularly if Bob Hartman wins both the hurdles and the high jump. Watertown also is liable to be very dangerous. But Lynn Classical will be the team to lick, provided their ace runner, Hayden, is in condition to run." Last Wednesday Hayden was sent home from school with some ailment or other.

Newton-Brockton Relay
Newton will be matched against Brockton in a team race, getting away from the traditional race with Brookline, which takes place at least twice later during the season. If Brockton has entered the same four who ran against Newton last week, they will be Harold Werner, Adolph Kelley, Stuart Roberts and Charles Kozlowski. Newton's relay quartet, who have not run in competition, will be Warren Wittens, Ray Huling, Bob Muther and Allen Freeman, with Paul Dussossoit as alternate.

For the regular events, Coach Enoch has entered the following competitors: Allen Freeman, dash; Warren Wittens and Ray Huling, hurdles; Bob Kiley and Burleigh Fernald, 600-yard run; Johnson Quick and Freeman, 1000-yard run; Wittens, 300-yard run; Ross MacLean and Joe Blair, high jump; Mel Swig and Carl Bosworth, shotput. Sargent Moore will run the dash, provided he has worked off the "incomplete" rating which has made him temporarily ineligible.

Newton 48, Brockton 29
The track team won a routine victory over Brockton last Saturday by 48-29, at the difficult armory track in Brockton. A Newton stalwart took first in every event except the hurdles and the relay. Captain Samson of Brockton was beaten in the 1000-yard run by Johnson Quick in the closest finish of the program.

At the start of the 1000, Marsh Russell took the lead, with Quick running fourth, behind two Brockton men. The field was large and the track troublesome, so that this order held for the greater part of the race. Quick fought his way to the front at the last lap, then ran into the thick of the laggards. Captain Samson of Brockton came up fast and was barely beaten out by the Newton runner at the finish. The time, 2m 43 4/5s, is a fair indication of the type of track the boys ran on.

Al Freeman won the 30-yard dash from two Brockton sprinters in 4s flat. Wittens and Huling were beaten by David Sullivan of Brockton over the 35-yard hurdles in 4 4/5s. Wittens and Bob Muther beat Werner of Brockton in a 39 4/5s 300. The 600 went to Captain Freeman in 1m 27s, and Bob Kiley gave Coz of Brockton a great race for second place. Howard Fine and Jess Hale placed one-two in the broad jump, and Mel Swig won the shot. Bosworth taking third for Newton. Swig's best heave was 44 feet even. The Newton relay team, composed of Bosworth, Goodbar, Skinner and Cosgrove, lost to a fast Brockton team.

the first quarter, but the invaders made it tie game at 12-12 before the half was over. At the end of the third period St. Mary's had a three-goal lead, 24-18, and they increased their margin by one point in the last quarter to win, 31-24. Play was fairly even during the second half, both teams putting on a good passing game.

Mario Marino led the scoring for Our Lady's with three field goals from the corner and three points on foul shots. Joe Catly was high man for St. Mary's of Lynn, also with nine points. Bernard Mullen made six points. Russell Harney four, John Fitzgerald and O'Neil two each, while Seymour MacLean accounted for one point on a four try. Bernard Mullen was lightly hurt when he collided with the brick wall at the north end of the court.

In the game which St. Charles won last Friday from Our Lady's, Harney made six points for half the home team's total. Paul O'Brien, Mario Marino and Seymour MacLean also scored. The 20-12 victory was by St. Charles in four years scored by St. Charles on the Newton floor.

NEWTON EDGES RINDGE 28-25 FOR FIRST WIN ON CAMBRIDGE COURT

Outscoring the strong Rindge Technical high school quintet, 28-25, on the Rindge floor, Newton opened its quest for the suburban basketball championship last Friday. The hard-fought victory was the first won by a Newton basketball team on Cambridge courts since Newton resumed the game eight years ago. Ted Laffie and Al Smith led the scoring with nineteen points between them, while the strong defensive play of Pete Morrison, Bullet Byrne and Captain Ellis Donovan held the Rindge attack in check.

Rindge Ahead 4-1, Then 9-8
Newton started slowly and was outscored 4-1 in the first quarter of the game. Consequently it looked black for the Frank Simmons' men when a fresh lot of Tech players took the floor to start the second, ostensibly their first-string five. But Ellis Donovan's second point on foul tries, goals by Laffie and Byrne, and a spectacular scoring rush by Al Smith made seven points to five for their opponents, bringing the score to 9-8 in favor of Tech half time.

The passing attack of the Newtonians had begun to function well, and they seemed to have become used to the court, where daylight streams through great panes of unbreakable glass at either end. Bill Spellman replaced Smith for a few minutes in the only Newton substitution of the game.

Third Quarter Newton's Best

That Coach Simmons had diagnosed Newton's troubles between halves appeared likely when his team started the third period with a rush. With the Newton attack running circles around the defenders, Al Smith made two field goals, one on the third attempt, and intercepted a Rindge pass to set up Ted Laffie for another. Laffie made four goals himself, including one from almost mid-court.

Having been held to eight points, four of them on foul shots, Rindge trailed Newton, 20-17, at the beginning of the last period, and the same margin won the contest for Newton, each team making eight points in the fourth quarter. Al Smith and Ellis Donovan sunk goals from the middle of the floor, Byrne added one from close in, and Morrison and Donovan each converted one foul shot. The last Rindge goal dropped toward the basket as the game ended with the score, Newton 28, Rindge 25.

Splinters

Tomorrow's Northeastern interscholastic track meet at the Boston Garden will be a tremendous event. Thirty-seven schools have made a total of 539 individual entries, and there is to be no division into classes.

Newton's coach, Donald Enoch, is not going to worry much about the meet. He figures that if his team comes through the dash and the hurdles with seven points, they can win. If they pick up only three or four points in the short events, they stand little chance.

Captain Allen Freeman is likely to surprise the folks by running the 1000-yard run instead of the 600. One of the Newton key men, Allen will be a safe bet for scoring in the dash, having found the 50-yard distance to his liking at Everett.

Bob Muther will take a bye in the 300 tomorrow, saving his energy for the relay. Consequently the fast-stepping sophomore may be the best man of the four by the time the relay is called, for Wittens, Huling and Freeman will all compete in other events.

Almost before the dust raised by the schoolboy runners has settled, another invasion of track athletes will test the Boston Garden boards, for the annual K. of C. meet, the Prout Memorial games, takes place tomorrow night.

M. I. T. has a one-mile team race with Yale on the Prout meet program, and four sophomores will run for Tech, among them Dave McLellan of Waban. Doug Chalmers and Dick Jarrel of Newtonville are other Tech entries.

Northeastern's track teams defeated Brown handily last week at Providence. Frank Tuscher of Newton ran second in the varsity 600. Bob Quigley took first in the dash and second in the 300 while Bob Gutzier won the mile and ran second in the 1000 in the freshman meet. Jim Colligan placed second in the freshman shotput.

NEWTON QUINTET LOSES FIRST GAME TO CANTAB FIVE

Newton High lost a fast, desperate, ly-fought basketball game to Cambridge Latin by the score of 16-12 at the Newton gymnasium last Wednesday. After trailing 10-6 at the half, Newton came almost abreast of the visitors by cutting their margin to 12-10, in the third quarter, but they were unable to overcome the handicap. The Newton second ran away with their game, winning 38-9.

Scoring twice in the first period on field goals, Ted Laffie gave Newton a 4-1 lead at the end of the period. Cambridge then unleashed an attack that ran up nine points during the second quarter, giving them the lead that ultimately spelled victory. Fred Coady, captain-elect of football at Cambridge Latin, tied the score at 6-6 by sinking both shots on a two-try foul, then added a goal from the floor to start his team ahead. Pete Morrison stood at mid-floor and sank a looping shot for the only Newton points in the second quarter, and Cambridge led 10-6.

Newton Rallies

Newton rallied in the third quarter and held Latin to two points on a field goal by Mike Kishkis. Al Smith broke away to score on a rush under the basket, and Captain Donovan sank one from outside the circle. Newton came close to tying the game at 12-11 at this point, for their attack was faster than that of the visitors, but several fairly obvious shots went astray on the way to the hoop, and the passing game did not stand up under pressure.

Ted Laffie, Bill Spillman and Al Smith alternated at the forward position during the last quarter. Bullet Byrne played the whole game at center, as did Captain Donovan and Pete Morrison at the guards. "Snooks" Gallagher opened the period for Cambridge with a short toss for a goal, and made another shortly afterward, making the score 16-10. Newton's hopes were revived when Al Smith scored on a rush. Brown of Cambridge added a point on a foul try, and the game was over.

Newton won the game for second teams, 35-9. The Newtonites led 11-2 after the first quarter, and scored eight more before the half.

NEWTON TRADE FIVE WINS EIGHT STRAIGHT

Newton Trade School basketball team kept their record clean by winning their eighth consecutive game at the expense of Weymouth Trade last Tuesday at Weymouth, by the score of 48-24. In the second team game, Newton won 26-10. On their home floor last Friday Coach Sullivan's varsity won their seventh straight from Somerville Trade 34-10. Against Weymouth, Bill Holt and Dick Collins led the Newton Trade scoring with sixteen and fourteen points respectively. Frank Roach added five, Fred Roach and "Rick" Riccio four apiece, John McInnis three. John Beach, regular center, made one goal from the floor before leaving the game with a bad ankle. Against Somerville, Ralph Tutunjan, relief guards, went scoreless. For Weymouth, Russetta was top scorer with four field goals. Stan Sohaski led the Newton seconds in their 26-10 triumph with eight points.

Newton had an easy time with Somerville Trade last Friday at Newton. Of the 34-10 total, Frank Roach made eight for Newton and Livingstone eight for the visitors. Beach, Holt and Riccio contributed six points each. Collins four, Sohaski and McInnis two apiece. This afternoon Coach Sullivan's teams will take on Waltham Trade at the Newton drill shed court. Although his team beat Waltham twice last year, he looks for the hardest game of the schedule to date. With the exception of Waltham and Haverhill, both strong teams, Newton Trade has now defeated every scheduled opponent at least once.

Here and There

Robert Fyfe of 91 Wyman st., Waban, scored better than 90 in the R. O. T. C. rifle competition at the University of Vermont, where he is a first-year student.

Charles Gallagher of Newton, a sophomore at Providence College, is a regular forward on the varsity basketball team, which has been beaten this year only by Yale. Gallagher was a star in three sports while at Our Lady's two years ago.

John I. Argersinger of Waban is on the swimming team at Union College in Schenectady, N. Y. Swimming the 220-yard breast stroke event, Argersinger won second place against Colgate and third in the Williams meet.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Education Conference for 12th District

The Wellesley Hills Woman's Club will be hostess to the clubwomen of the Twelfth District, of which Newton is a part, for an Education Committee Conference, on Wednesday, January 30th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Community Play House. The State Federation Education Committee, of which Mrs. Edgar Tregoning is chairman, is arranging this program. Mrs. Burr J. Moriam, of Framingham, the Twelfth District member of her committee, has the affair in charge, announcing it as an "Educational Tea." Mrs. Paul E. Elicker, chairman of the Education Committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club, has attracted so much interest throughout the State by her Education Conferences for the Newtonville clubwomen and for members of High School students, which have proven so successful, that she has been invited by the State chairman to give an account of these Conferences at this meeting.

Mrs. Poole To Be Guest Speaker

The principal guest of honor and speaker at the Mid-Winter Meeting of the Mothercraft Club of Massachusetts, on February 4th, at the Hotel Lenox, Boston, will be Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The meeting will begin with a Luncheon Conference at 12:30 o'clock, this to be followed by a reception to Mrs. Poole in the new Mothercraft National Headquarters at this Hotel. It is interesting to learn that this Club, founded by the founder of Mothercraft in this State, Mrs. Mary Dickinson Kimball, who is its president, has a membership nationwide.

Tickets for the Luncheon may be secured at $1.00 from Mrs. Homer P. Angell, 3 Grant road, Swampscott, by ordering as soon as possible, so that she may make the many preliminary arrangements for this affair which is sure to be especially popular on account of the presence of Mrs. Poole.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Literature Study Group of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur C. Badger, 17 Lee rd., Chestnut Hill, on Wednesday, Jan. 30th, at 2:30 p. m. The subject will be "The Spectator Papers: Essays of Joseph Addison; Essays of Richard Steele."

Coming to the Newton Centre Woman's Club on February 8th and 9th is the eagerly-awaited "Romany Revels," a gypsy carnival and light opera, of which there will be many attractive details later.

Mrs. Benjamin Badenock and Mrs. William Flinn, members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, are sponsoring a series of six lessons in Creative Fiction Writing, by Mrs. Frances Harris, critic and analyst, at the Club House and Newton Centre Library alternately on Wednesday mornings from 10 to 12 o'clock, the dates being January 23rd, and 30th, and February 6th, 20th, and 27th. The Group is open to anyone interested in writing fiction.

Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.

On Monday, January 28th, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. Ernest G. Hapgood of Chester street. Mrs. Mark H. Ward will report on Music, Arts, and Crafts, of the American Indian, and Miss Anna S. Thompson and Mrs. Isaac Goddard will present Current Events.

Newtonville Woman's Club

"Emerson's Concord," an informal talk by Mr. Wallace C. Boyden, is announced for the meeting of the Literature Class which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Mace Andrews, 67 Clyde street, on January 28th, at 2:30 p. m. This Class is sponsored by the Education Committee and all Club members are welcome.

Mrs. Paul E. Elicker, chairman of the Education Committee in the Newtonville Club, will explain the methods followed by conducting the Club's series of six Conferences on Education at the Educational Tea of the Twelfth District, to be held January 30th at Wellesley Hills.

The sixth in the course of eight lectures on History in the Making by Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will be given on January 31st, at 10:15 o'clock. On Tuesday, January 15th, Annual Guest Night was observed by the Newtonville Woman's Club at their Club House on Washington park. Members with their guests filled the auditorium and were most appreciative and enthusiastic in their enjoyment of the program arranged so well for them. After a few words of welcome by the president, Mrs. Edwin P. Crawe, the evening was turned over to Mrs. Ernest L. Nichols, Music chairman, and Mrs. George L. Davis, chairman of the Program committee. The musical numbers consisted of three groups of songs by Miss Frances Foskette, a Dramatic Soprano, of Boston. Her powerful voice and striking personality in her renditions of opera and oratorio selections were received with much applause, as were her Russian songs, and those of a lighter vein. Miss Foskette was accompanied by Mr. Edwin Bilchre, one of the leading concert pianists of Boston today, a man who thoroughly understands the art of accompanying. His own solos showed great ability and his

The topics to be discussed are "Experiments in Communism and Fascism," "Hitlerism and the Isolation of Germany," and "Significant Aspects of Recent Political Events."

State Legislative Program to Be Discussed

There will be an Executive Board meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs on Monday, January 28th, at 10 a. m., in the Newton Library, Newton.

The Legislative committee of the Newton Federation, Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham, chairman, is sponsoring a Legislative Conference at the Workshop in Newton Highlands for Friday, February 1st, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Arthur C. Sennett, State Legislative chairman, will discuss in detail the legislative program of the season. The Legislative committee of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, Mrs. Ralph W. Mailoux, chairman, will be hostess for the occasion.

Dr. Lila Burbank, representing the State Federation, followed Dr. Leonard, and explained what this fund was meant to cover. An opportunity to contribute was afforded when members of the Public Health committee passed baskets.

After an intermission, Mrs. Lowell D. MacNitt, Day chairman, presented the Lyric Trio, comprising Emily Vance, Reader; Florence Cedar, Soloist; and Frances Archer, Pianist. The first half of their program was given with the artists wearing French peasant costumes, the reading of Pierrot and Pierrette by Mrs. Vance being outstanding. In the second half, the costumes worn were early English and not only the readings but the words of the selections were written by England's greatest author, William Shakespeare.

State Federation

RADIO. Tomorrow morning, Saturday, the 26th, Mrs. Edgar B. Richardson, State director of Radio, will present Mrs. Herbert Stephens, State Federation chairman of Art, and Mrs. David A. Westcott, third vice-president, as speakers on the program from Station WBZ during the half-hour 11:30 to noon. For the music of the program she will present Florence Sieder Aranov, Soprano.

Mrs. Stephens will have as guest speaker Mr. Harold F. Lindergreen, director of the Vesper George School of Art, whose subject will be "Art as a Vocation."

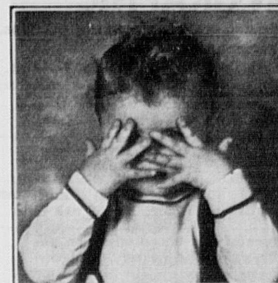

ART MEETING. Mrs. Herbert Stephens, chairman of the division of Art of the State Federation, is inviting all members of Art committees to meet at the Museum of Fine Arts at 11 o'clock, on February 1st, with Mrs. Mary P. Sayward and Mrs. Stephens, to discuss programs and ways of using the Museum collections.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS. The International Relations Conference will be held February 8th, at Hotel Westminster. Mrs. W. O. B. Little, chairman of this committee, has secured as speakers Mrs. James W. Morrison and Mr. Lewis Rex Miller. Mrs. Morrison, who is the daughter of Dudley Foulke, of Chicago, will speak on "What Has the Munitions Investigation Revealed?" Mr. Miller, who is the editor of the Weekly Magazine of the Christian Science Monitor, a world traveler and university lecturer, will take for his subject "Highlights of Today's World Picture." Tickets for the luncheon at 12:30 p. m., may be had from Mrs. Malcolm Green, 38 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, before February 5th, or from any member of the International Relations committee.

WASHINGTON NEWS. Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, director for Massachusetts in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has been in Washington, the past week, with Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, president of the Massachusetts State Federation. They have been attending the Board Meeting of the General Federation, of which Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole is president. Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, chairman of the 1935 Triennial program at Detroit, Michigan, on June 4th to 12th, has also been in Washington. The Conference "On the Cause and Cure of War" has been attended by Mrs. George A. Melen, also a Massachusetts woman holding office in the General Federation as assistant parliamentarian; and Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, clerk of the State Federation.

THE GREAT POET WHO COULD NOT READ A LINE!

"Dispel this cloud . . .
restore the light of heaven

The man who wrote these words is regarded as one of the greatest poets who ever lived—Homer, the blind bard of ancient Greece.

History does not tell how Homer lost his sight, but we do know how another great poet—Milton—lost his eyesight. Constant reading in poor light helped to make Milton blind.

GUARD YOUR SIGHT

Our purpose in repeating these facts of history is not to fill you with fear, but to warn you against the common menace of defective vision. Defective vision is so commonplace that many accept it as normal. Seventy people in every hundred over fifty have defective vision.

IMPORTANT—If your sight is defective, if you suffer from "eye" headaches, or similar symptoms, your eyes need more than better lighting. See an eye specialist.

LIGHTING FREE SURVEY

Poor lighting is a common cause of defective vision. But how can you tell if your lighting is poor? The easiest and most certain way is to have one of our Home Lighting Specialists make a sightmeter survey of your home. You can have this survey made FREE by calling your Edison Shop.

HIS INFLUENCE WILL LONG REMAIN

The death of Frank F. Carr, principal of the John W. Weeks Junior High School was a great shock to Newton and the local schools which he had served for more than thirty years. He was regarded as a man of great ability in the field of education and possessed a depth of character and personality that will be sorely missed. Throughout the years he served he had an important part in guiding the many pupils under his care to scholastic achievement. Many Newton pupils have attained a high standing in college examinations and Frank Carr helped to build the foundations which enabled them to reach this goal. He has gone, but his influence will long remain.

NATURE VERSUS MAN AND MACHINE

Wednesday night's blizzard once again proved that nature is more potent than man and his machine. Wind, snow, cold, and other elements combined defeated machinery and human ingenuity. It is possible, of course, that had there been sufficient equipment and man-power available the city could have kept ahead of the storm. It will be several days before things are back to normal and unless the temperature moderates considerably we are likely to be handicapped by the effects of the blizzard for weeks. Nevertheless man will continue to devise means to cope more efficiently with nature—for such is the progress of civilization.

This Week at Your Boys' and Girls' Library

Vernon St., Newton Corner

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GROUP ORGANIZED

The Junior High School Library Council, a group of twenty-eight boys and girls, consists of two members from each of the three grades and a reporter from the school paper of the four Junior High Schools in the city.

The members were chosen by their respective schools to meet at the Boys' and Girls' Library, Vernon St., Newton Corner, and have designated the third Thursday of each month for their meeting.

The November and December meetings were given over to a statement of the objects of the Council and the election of officers. The secretary's report of the January meeting will follow in this column.

The programs of the meetings will vary from time to time and will include council participation as well as outside speakers and members of the library staff.

The staff of the library is gratified at the enthusiasm of the members of the council and feels confident that through them the school and the library will be brought into closer relation. It is hoped in this way to bring the opportunities and advantages of a special library for young people to all sections of Newton.

The officers of the Council are as follows:

Chairman, Nancy Flagg, F. A. Day Jr. High; Secretary, Jean Hamant, Levi Warren Jr. High; 7th grade member of the Executive Council, Robert Goldich, John W. Weeks Jr. High.

The following are members of the Council:

Important Assessors' Notice

HAS BEEN CHANGED FROM APRIL 1st TO JANUARY 1st.

Under the new law—Chapter 59, Section 29, such lists are required to be filed between January 1st and February 15, 1935.

Blanks may be obtained at the Assessors' Office, and at the local Banks. On application, they will be sent by mail. To avoid mistakes or misunderstandings, they should be made before a member of the Board of Assessors whenever it is possible to do so.

The Assessors' Notices calling on all owners of Personal Property and real estate to make their returns, will also be found on Bulletin Boards throughout the city on and after January 1, 1935.

About Town

By Edward H. Powers

Do your part. Shovel the snow off your sidewalk.

Philip Johnson, a Boston attorney, delivered an address at the Boston Y. M. C. U. on Sunday night in which he told his audience that Governor Curley is a real idealist. Mr. Johnson is an astrologist by vocation and he told his audience that the stars gave him the information regarding Governor Curley.

The city ordinance requiring owners or occupants of properties abutting tar and cement sidewalks in this city to clear such sidewalks of snow and ice, within 24 hours following the end of a snowstorm, is largely an ordinance which is not being enforced. This results in pedestrians being compelled either to walk on the street and face the danger of being struck by an automobile or walking on a snow or ice covered sidewalk and risking a fall and injury. Perhaps if this ordinance was enforced, there would be fewer claims for damages against the city by victims of slippery sidewalks.

Five young hoodlums gave an exhibition of wanton vandalism a few minutes before midnight on Monday when they deliberately broke the glass on all four sides of the traffic beacon at the corner of Pearl st. and Jackson st., Newton. As a prelude to this act they awakened the neighborhood by shouting obscene epithets at each other. This nice, manly, intelligent group then proceeded along Green st. towards West st., Nonantum. About a year ago a gang of five hoodlums, probably the same mob, performed a similar display of lawlessness at the same place, then breaking all four panes of glass in the traffic beacon. The police are endeavoring to learn the identity of these results of paternalism in government and ultra leniency towards juvenile offenders.

On the 23rd of last August there was a "hold-up" by bandits at the Newton Centre office of the Newton Trust Company. Four bandits drove up to the bank building at 11 o'clock that morning in an automobile; three of them alighted and ran into the bank building while the fourth remained in the car ready for a quick getaway. Employees in the bank office pressed the alarm which signalled police headquarters at West Newton of the hold-up. A radio alarm was immediately broadcast and within one minute and forty-six seconds a police car arrived at the scene. Within a couple of minutes three other police cars reached the locus of the hold-up. Three of these cars allegedly traveled considerable distances. The first bandit to emerge from the bank was shot down by an automatic operated by one of the crack shots of the Newton police. The second bandit to leave the bank quickly surrendered when he saw himself about to be shot by another policeman. The third bandit was afraid to come out, so two of the Newton police put gas masks on and with quick firing shot guns entered the bank and captured the robber.

The supremacy displayed by Newton police over the bandits in that "hold-up" displayed to members of the City Government, bank officials and hundreds of adult and children spectators (who had read of the fact there was to be a hold-up in Boston newspapers the preceding day) how well prepared the police of Newton were to cope with bandits. They were equipped with cruising cars which contained radios, they had the most modern firearms, a radio broadcasting station at police headquarters immediately relayed an alarm with a direct connection from the bank building. The newspapers contained plenty of publicity on Friday, August 24 telling that Newton would be a tough spot for bandits to stage a hold-up. The robbery at Newton Centre was "make believe" and the bandits were members of the Newton police department.

Last Friday afternoon at 1:22 another hold-up was staged in this city. And this robbery was no fake. It was the "real McCoy." One of Newton's largest industries is the Earnshaw Knitting Company, manufacturers of babies garments. The plant is located on California street, Nonantum, near the Watertown line. It is a thinly settled area. The five bandits who staged the hold-up knew their stuff, and they had certainly been well "tipped off" regarding the lay of the land, the details of the Earnshaw office and its surroundings, and the time and method of delivering the payroll. Their robbery of the $8390 payroll was executed perfectly with the delivery of the money. The automobile in which they arrived at and escaped from the place was operated not on California street, but over a narrow lane which runs from the rear of the Earnshaw factory through vacant land to Watertown street near the Watertown-Newton line. The bandits' automobile arrived in the yard at the rear of the factory just as Brink's armored car arrived in front of the Earnshaw office on California street. And, even while Brink's guards were emerging from the building after delivering the payroll, two of the bandits had entered the rear of the office, seized the two receptacles containing the $8390, and rushed out of the building to their waiting automobile. Within another minute they had speeded along the lane to Watertown street and made a getaway over Morse street, Watertown.

Did the first police car reach the scene of the robbery in less than two minutes? It did not. It was four minutes after a message had been telephoned from the Earnshaw office to police headquarters that the first Newton policeman reached the locus of the hold-up. He was Patrolman Jenkins who picked up the radio broadcast from police headquarters as he was driving along Washington st. at West Newton. He was followed a minute later by a police car from Newton Corner containing Patrolmen Dungan and McDonough. Behind them in a taxi came Patrolman Loughlin from Newton Corner. A few minutes after an armored car arrived containing Patrolmen Barr and Taffe. It had been at Newton Highlands. It was trailed by another police car.

But, several minutes before the first Newton policemen got to the spot, the bandits were far away. Which proves that there is some difference between a prearranged simulated "hold-up" and the real thing. The Earnshaw office has no direct burglar alarm connection with police headquarters as have the bank offices, and probably a minute was lost because of this. On the day of the faked robbery at the Newton Centre bank office last August, the various police cars were all primed to go. Last Friday when the robbery occurred at Nonantum, two of the police cars which responded to the radio call had policemen in them when police headquarters broadcast the alarm. The armored car which was at Newton Highlands, and other police cars in various parts of the city were not occupied at the time. The men who had hidden in them were at nearby traffic posts guiding school children across streets. One of the officers assigned to the armored car was near enough so that he heard the radio call. We mention this because it again emphasizes the strain placed on the Newton police department by school traffic duty.

If the department provided patrolmen to perform school traffic at all places requested by parents of Newton school children, it would be necessary to increase the force by a couple of hundred men. As it is, all the day patrolmen perform school traffic duty, and at least eight men who work on the night platoons must work in turn days on this duty. It has been suggested from time to time during the past several years that unemployed men who are receiving aid be deputized to serve as school traffic officers. Enough intelligent men are available for this work. Either this should be done or much needed additional men appointed to the police department. One suggestion has been made that the school janitors serve as special traffic officers. The school department has objected to this proposal for two reasons. One is—that it would be very hazardous for a janitor to leave a school building with the possibility that something might go wrong with the huge boilers used to heat the schools. The second reason is—that to send a janitor out from a school or boiler room out onto a street in winter weather, would not be conducive to safeguarding the janitor from colds and their consequences.

Some enterprising individual with a truck or tractor which has a plow attachment could have obtained many jobs the past couple of days plowing open driveways to private garages.

A resident of the Farlow Hill section in Newton is reported as trapping gray squirrels. Chapter 131 of the Massachusetts statutes forbids the killing of gray squirrels except during the season between Oct. 20 and Nov. 20. It also forbids the taking at any time of squirrels by traps.

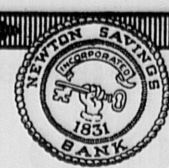

The boys and girls of today to whom the snowstorm of Wednesday was the greatest in their long lives, will be telling their children 25 and more years hence of the big blizzard of 1935.

Wednesday's snowstorm was one of the heaviest in this area since automobiles became commonly used. It proved that while motor cars have outclassed horses for transportation purposes under normal conditions, they surely are not practical when highways are covered with deep snow. Possibly some mechanical genius may invent snow-shoes for automobiles which can be attached to the much publicized "knee-action" wheels.

The fact was brought home to residents of Newton last Friday with the payroll hold-up at the Earnshaw Knitting Company that dastardly human beings are numerous and brazenly active in this country. The utter callousness of these killer type criminals was evidenced by the manner in which they flourished a machine gun and automatic pistol in an office where thirty young women were seated at work. The taking of human lives, including those of defenseless women and children means nothing to such vipers who acquire false courage in a large percentage of cases by the use of narcotics. And yet we have mushy men and women who urge the abolition of capital punishment. We have pardon and parole rackets which free murderers and other desperate criminals in order that lawyers of a low type may profit, and we have even observed the executive of a proud State conniving with such racketeers. We see vicious bandits who committed several murders and who were convicted, not given the death penalty which the law provides, but permitted to live on while legal technicalities are used to cheat the law. It is not strange that bandits, kidnappers and murders are constantly increasing in this country.

Persons who fume, fret and protest because the side street, or even streets of comparative importance are not plowed and cleared of drifts within 12 or 24 hours following the end of a heavy snowfall, don't realize that while man has accomplished wonders in the transition from former methods to this machine age, he cannot achieve the impossible. Street departments and railways cannot cope with such a blizzard as that of Wednesday to the extent that automobile and rail traffic will not be seriously affected.

A man has a right to get indignant after he labors clearing away a big snowdrift in front of his business place or residence in order that he may park his automobile out of the narrow cleared roadway, and then finds that some other fellow has appropriated the parking space thus cleared.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK

"The Place for My Savings"

Bad Weather Friends

Every Winter there comes an eagerness to write some verses which shall immortalize two figures on our snow-filled streets and do justice to their heroism. It is difficult to explain each failure to seize the impulse before it has vanished. At the moment I am inspired — eyes gleaming and heart throbbing — but before I am able to assemble pencil and paper another thought has crowded itself into my mind where there is room for but a single idea.

If ever I find freedom of time and the poetic mood, with its implements, coordinated, this column will contain as sincere a tribute as I am capable of to the splendid horse that draws the plow and the sturdy man who guides both in opening the snow-drifts on our sidewalks and crossings. They are breaking our paths for you and me. Forced to plunge where no one that day has ventured, they must be strong, virile and undeterred.

It may be commonplace to them but to me there is much to admire. Bold and unhesitating in the face of a cutting blizzard, the big horse lifts his hoofs as his bulk sways between the straps. Behind him the plow contemptuously brushes aside the snow, piling up a kinking border on each side of the cleared lane. The man, coated with accumulated flakes, reveals the courageous spirit of the toiler, steering both horse and plow and nimbly keeping his own footing.

They are friends of ours, if only we stop to think; closer and more important to our everyday lives than we know. We should appreciate them.

"Fawncy This!"

It used to be in London town That, worn by men of great renown, "Galoshes" kept their tootsies dry. It seems the word has crossed the pond.

And possibly gone far beyond, Though no one knows the reason why.

"Galoshes" may suggest high rank, Or is it merely British swank? I'd like to have some one explain. The Land of Freedom's worthy pride, Simplicity, should still abide, So why not humbler words retain?

If half a pair is one galosh, "Galoshes" must mean two, by gosh, You'll sure agree that's only fair. No Anglophobia for me, I still speak plain A-mer-i-ky, And "rubbers" on my feet I'll wear.

"Investigation Underway"

The response to the appeal made in this column for calendars was productive of much good. In more ways than one it did something. Among the contributions was a little book, which, in addition to days, months, etc., gave an abundance of information about the moon. That fact led to an introduction to Hecate. It was our first meeting with her. The name intrigued us. Hecate, it seems, is not only a goddess in her own right, but one of the moon's deities. So deeply impressed with Hecate have I become that I am going to learn more about her. The report, I hope, will be ready at an early date.

NEWTON TAXPAYERS

Owing to huge appropriations made by the government in its National Recovery Program, doubtless there will be an increase in the tax rate.

May I assist you in the preparation of your new tax form for household furniture, books, pictures, statuary, rugs, silverware, etc., which should be returned by February 15. An appraisal by an expert might be the means of saving you money this year and in years to come.

It seems there was nothing new in our complaint about the figures in the quarterly water bill. Nothing has ever been said in the spirit of fault-finding that isn't familiar to officials the world over wherever water is metered and sold to consumers. The most familiar protest, I understand, says, "There are only two of us and yet we pay twice as much as the people next door with eight in the family." However, my hat is off to the inspector who advised a complainant against drinking water "chasers" with his favorite brand of stimulant. Suggested that he use ginger ale and keep down the water bill.

Senator Henry Parkman, Jr., gave a very interesting talk on the subject "The use of interstate compacts to obtain uniformity in Labor Legislation" at the Newton Kiwanis Club luncheon held at the Charles River Country Club last Tuesday. With only six of the club members absent it made the largest attendance in many weeks. Many visiting Kiwanians availed themselves of the opportunity of hearing Mr. Parkman as well as several visitors with members. The name of Parkman in the history of Boston as well as Massachusetts is a name well known in the field of education, philanthropy and politics. The speaker was introduced by John Carver.

The speaker for next Tuesday, Jan. 29th will be James A. Moyer of the Department of Education of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He has been head of the Division of University of Extension courses for the past five years. His subject will be "Place of the University Extension Course in Modern Education."

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

The first pupils' recital of the season to be held at the Police School, will be given on Friday evening, Feb. 1st, at 7:30 o'clock in the Assembly Hall. There will be violin and piano solos, orchestra selections and other numbers as well. The pupils, parents and their friends, as well as the general public are cordially invited to attend.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

in which she stressed balance in their program of far flung activities for American club women before the Annual Mid-Winter Meeting of the Board of Directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs last Wednesday, the 16th. This was Mrs. Poole's last formal report to the Board as president of the Federation.

Setting forth a work chart ranging from international Peace steps to correction of abuses in the fields of radio and motion pictures, Mrs. Poole warned the Federation against the "dangerous" trend toward specialization in women's club work.

"There are comparatively few women who have a 'one-track mind' on civic work, particularly in our type of club women," she explained. "She wants to do many things for the good of the world and we can turn our weakness of a multiplicity of projects into one of our strongest assets if we keep before us the necessity of keeping up to the minute in this changing world and its demanding problems."

Ratification of the Child Labor amendment, enactment of a new Pure Food law, passage of legislation to regulate the Sale of Pistols and other small arms were measures mentioned to the Board for their continued support. The Board was asked to consider whether the Federation should officially join those who are asking that the Senate publish the terms upon which it would consent to entrance of the United States into the League of Nations.

Mrs. Poole reported "a growing feeling among thinking people" that something should be done to prevent substantiated programs in radio broadcasting. Since, she said, the public "usually gets what it wants," the Federation's contribution to the motion picture and radio situation is to "bind all our efforts on raising the quality of the demands made by the public."

Referring to the work for clean movies as one of the most controversial activities, Mrs. Poole termed the Federation's program "one of the sanest and best-balanced programs of any organization." She added that she "deeply resented the continual statements that our organization or any of its leaders is in the pay of the motion picture industry."

The president called attention to the Federation's co-operation with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the National Recovery Administration, the Department of Justice's crime conference and the munitions investigating committee. She commended President Roosevelt's recent step to take profits out of war.

Turning to the internal financing of the organization, Mrs. Poole reported slow progress in raising the $1,000,000 Endowment Fund, estimating at the present rate it will take 35 years to reach the goal. The Federation's work, she said, is increasing faster than its income.

In concluding Mrs. Poole urged more recognition of the minority viewpoint within the Federation on controversial subjects, but at the same time insisted that the minority, in opposing the work of the Federation, should admit that it does not represent the majority viewpoint.

In concluding Mrs. Poole urged more recognition of the minority viewpoint within the Federation on controversial subjects, but at the same time insisted that the minority, in opposing the work of the Federation, should admit that it does not represent the majority viewpoint.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Christian Science: God's Law of Freedom and Dominion

By WILLIAM DUNCAN KILPATRICK, C.S.B., of Detroit, Michigan

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, a free public lecture on Christian Science was given on Thursday evening, January 17th and Friday evening, January 18th. The Thursday evening lecture was given in the Newton Centre Woman's Club where the lecturer, Mr. William Duncan Kilpatrick, C. S. B., was introduced by Mr. William E. McKee, First Reader of the church, and on Friday evening in the church edifice, Walnut and Otis Streets, Newtonville, where the lecturer was introduced by the Second Reader of the church, Mrs. Esther S. Davis who spoke as follows:

Friends: It is my happy privilege tonight to extend to you all a warm welcome, in behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton. When Christ Jesus was on earth, people came to him to be healed. He appeared in that age as the great savior of the world, who will be God and man that destroyed sickness and sin, and met their need. In this age, Christian Science has come to us as the impersonal savior, and when we attend a lecture authorized by The Mother Church, we are touching the hem of the garment of Christ, and if our heart is open, and our mind receptive, with the faith that Jesus recommended, we will receive the same correct view of God and man that he taught, centuries ago, and we will be healed, fed and blessed. Our lecturer, this evening, Mr. William Duncan Kilpatrick of Detroit, Michigan, is well qualified to present this view of Christ Truth to us, for he has been engaged in the healing ministry of Christian Science for many years, as a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of the lecture is "Christian Science, God's Law of Freedom and Dominion."

In the tenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Luke it is reported that Jesus sent seventy of his disciples out into the world to practice the science which he had been teaching them. According to the narrative, the seventy returned unto him with joy, saying, "Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name." To which Jesus replied, "Rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven." By which, of course, he meant that they were to rejoice not so much over the works that they did as over the fact that they had the spiritual understanding to do them. In those few words Jesus emphasized the fact that one's spiritual understanding—that is, the understanding of God and man's relation to God—is a necessary prerequisite to the overcoming of material conditions, and that the inevitable consequence of such understanding or right thinking is, among other things, individual dominion over materiality. We can but infer, therefore, from his statements that the principal purpose of our great Master's career was to endow men with that mental equipment or spirituality which would enable them to conform to his injunction to do the works that he did without restriction or limitation.

The Mission of Jesus

Jesus' words and works proved not only the supremacy of spiritual understanding in connection with things material, but they proved that as one grows in the understanding of God and God's spiritual universe one's individual ability to control the material or the unreal is correspondingly enlarged and perfected. Jesus taught that spiritual understanding is a necessary foundation for all Christian endeavor; that the spiritual is the real, and matter, or the material, is unreal, because not of God; and that, therefore, the spiritual gains ascendancy in our concept of creation, to that extent are we able to bring out in our individual experiences a more harmonious materiality. That is, before we can mentally eliminate all matter as he did we must be able, through our understanding of God and God's creation, to control and regulate our concept of the material.

This does not involve, in any sense, the use of what is known as will-power, or the operation of the carnal mind over matter. The carnal mind and matter, as we shall see, are one, and therefore one could not be used as a corrective of the other. The material and all the inharmonies of human existence were shown by Jesus to be but products of wrong thought, or the absence of a right comprehension of God. Through the correct understanding of God as explained in Christian Science we gradually learn how to bring into our thinking and our lives the harmony and sublimity of the divine, and through the influence of the divine in our thinking our outlook and our lives are brightened and purified. As our thinking is brought into obedience to God, our living and our environment become spiritual and purified, and therefore instead of regulating and controlling the material through the operation of the human will or the carnal mind, we are bringing out peace, harmony, and happiness through the operation of God in our consciousness. We are ruling out the inharmonies of wrong thinking by the substitution of the divine in thought. It is God in consciousness who does the work.

As explained by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, on pages 217 and 218 of her book "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous" we read: "An improved belief is one step out of error, and aids in taking the next step and in understanding the situation in Christian Science." "Jesus demonstrated the divine Principle of Christian Science when he presented his material body absolved from death and the grave." Jesus' demonstrations of the spiritual over the material advanced in an ascending scale of importance, so that his final accomplishment was the complete individual elimination of all material conditions, even the individual elimination of a material world and a material body. This complete and final victory over the world and the flesh we have been wont to term his "ascension"; but before this final accomplishment of complete spirituality, Jesus established the indisputable fact that all matter is but carnal thought objectified, and that, therefore, through the application of the spiritual in our thinking, we are able, to that extent, to exclude the carnal, and thus present a more harmonious material concept. On page 177 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the textbook of Christian Science, by Mary Baker Eddy, we read, "Matter, or body, is but a false concept of mortal mind;" and on page 591 of the same book Mrs. Eddy tells us that matter is "another name for mortal mind." Obviously, then, the less of the mortal we express in our thinking and the more of the spiritual we entertain, the more harmonious becomes our concept of the material. Thus Jesus demonstrated that he could control and regulate, through the Christ, the condition of his body as well as of the world about him, thereby presenting to humanity a more harmonious material existence as proof of his spirituality. As St. Paul puts it, where he says, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies as living sacrifices, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

Jesus' first recorded proof of the supremacy of the spiritual in connection with the material occurred at the wedding feast in Cana of Galilee, when he turned the water into wine. The miracles or demonstrations of Jesus thereafter proceeded in an ascending scale of importance, and included healing of all manner of sickness, dementia, leprosy, broken bones, withered limbs; stilling of tempests; calming the waters of a storm-swept sea; the instantaneous transportation of a ship across the sea of Galilee; his disappearance from the midst of an angry and threatening throng; the multiplication of the loaves and fishes; discernment of the unexpressed thoughts and intents of others; passing through closed doors; the overcoming of material lack; the elimination of space; and the overcoming of death, not only for others but for himself—all of which were for your and my guidance in working out our individual salvation from the material. Every step taken by Jesus in his brief career must sooner or later be taken by you and me, in one way or another, and not death itself will relieve us of this necessity nor hasten the hour of its accomplishment.

Mary Baker Eddy

The discovery of Christian Science, or scientific Christianity, by Mary Baker Eddy, in 1866, advanced the accepted concept of the Master's mission from a mere system of human ethics—the ultimate of which was the condemnation and destruction of sin through the questionable doctrine of vicarious suffering—to the larger and fuller apprehension of his life-mission to include a method of individual control over sin, sickness, and all material conditions, thereby endowing humanity with that broader view of the spiritual and eternal which rules matter out of the realm of the real and invests mankind with complete dominion over things mundane.

As we begin to glimpse the full import of Christian Science,—what it has brought to mankind; the light it has thrown on the sacred Scriptures; the freedom it promises and brings to a suffering, sinful, poverty-stricken world, we begin in some degree to comprehend and appreciate the meaning and colossal importance to humanity of the life of Mrs. Eddy. No influence since the time of Jesus of Nazareth has been felt throughout Christendom as has the life-work of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. Her life and her writings are filling the hearts of a sick and weary world with hope and joy. Her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," is the most widely read book in the world today outside the Bible. In fact, it is a book which has given back to a starved humanity the Holy Bible in all its purity of purpose, and is indispensable to a right comprehension of that sacred book in connection with one's study of Christian Science. In Science and Health may be found the key which unlocks the secrets of Jesus' wonderful accomplishments, whereby we too may take up the cross as did he, and don the crown of spiritual endeavor.

God

The religious error of the centuries has been a circumscribed, localized, and humanly personalized concept of God; and this in spite of a Bible so filled with exact statements as to God and His nature that it would seem almost humanly impossible for anyone familiar with Bible teachings to go as far astray as erudite theology has gone in its concepts and conclusions about God.

In the twentieth chapter of the book of Exodus we find this most illuminating and unequivocal command: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them;" which, of course, not only includes a ban against the worship of idols or images but includes also a ban against the worship of any likeness, either mental or material, of which an image or likeness would be a supposed counterpart or replica. In other words, an idol or an image could not possibly represent or express the God which mankind should worship. God could not only not be an image but an image or an idol could not represent God. If, then, we are holding in thought a humanly personal or circumscribed God as the object of our devotions; if we are worshipping a God which we mentally pattern in the unlikeliness of a human being; in fact, if we are worshipping a finite God,—a God who could be represented or depicted by outlines, boundaries or form,—are we not disobeying this sacred, unmistakable, and unavoidable command?

If God is not something of a finite or circumscribed nature; if He is not a humanly conceived God, what is He? What does the Bible tell us about Him? It would be a rather useless procedure for the Bible to tell us so definitely what God is not, and then leave us to blind conjecture to determine what He is or what He is like. Jesus, the best authority we have, stated in no unmistakable terms exactly what God is and how we are to worship Him. Jesus said that God is Spirit, and, "They that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." Now what does the term "Spirit" here signify? Does it signify something that is humanly devised, humanly circumscribed, pictured, or patterned? Does it signify anything that could be localized, limited, or outlined? No, indeed. It signifies something that is infinite; something that fills all space; something that is everywhere, in all places, at all times, and under all circumstances and conditions. It signifies essence or ever-presence, in contradistinction to that which might be conceived of as outlined, humanly formed or placed. It signifies something even more infinite and ever present than the very air we breathe. Would you attempt to make a graven image or likeness of something that fills all space? Could you, in fact, conceive of such an image or likeness?

This all-embracing term "Spirit" as signifying God includes many synonymous terms used by other Bible writers to define God, such as the term "Life." In the book of Deuteronomy we are told that God is Life. If God is Life and God is Spirit, Life, then, must be spiritual, filling all space and ever present. One would not think of making a graven image or likeness of Life.

St. John furnishes us with another synonym for this infinite God in the term "Love." St. John plainly states that God is Love. Now just how anyone could think of making a graven image or likeness of Love I do not know. Yet this is practically what men have been doing for ages: trying to localize, finitize, materialize and humanly personalize a God who is Love. Love is something that you and I must express in thought, is it not? John did not say that God is a loving God. He said that God is Love itself, and there is no other way in human experience that a God who is Love could be expressed or realized except in individual thought. St. Paul uses another term to define this infinite God where he refers to Him as Mind—as the Mind which was in Christ Jesus. The term "Mind" thus used by St. Paul to define God must indicate a Mind which is infinite, which fills all space, and which is ever present and ever available. This Mind could not be circumscribed or confined to a brain or a skull; it must be unlimited and unconfined. God as Mind must be that state of intelligence and this intelligence must be ever present, filling all space, and ever available. It must include all deific and divine qualities, such as love, patience, kindness, purity, honesty, and so forth, none of which could be expressed or realized in any way but in thought. An infinite Mind which is God must have existed throughout all time, regardless of persons or localities, and could only find expression through the thinking of individuals. One would not think of making a graven image or picture of a Mind which fills all space.

Thus we see that the Bible not only tells us what God is not, but it also tells us in no unequivocal terms just exactly what God is, what His nature is, and how He is to be expressed or realized by man.

Man

In the first chapter of Genesis we find that man is created in the image and likeness of God. It is obvious that this image or likeness could not be unlike God; otherwise it would not be an image or likeness. If God is Mind and Love and Spirit, and so forth, then man must be the exact image of Spirit and Mind and Love and Spirit. Man could not include one element of materiality, because Spirit is infinite and fills all space. Man could not include one element of mortality or death, because Life knows no such thing as death. Man could not include one element of hate, because Love fills all space and knows naught but love. Man could not include one element of evil, because God is good and knows no sin. Man could not include one element of ignorance or spiritual barrenness, because Mind or God is all the intelligence there is, and this divine intelligence is conscious of nothing but the spiritual.

This infinite Mind, which is God, must have some medium of expression, and the only medium of expression that Mind or divine intelligence could possibly have would be through ideas. Divine intelligence, for instance, must be expressed through you and me in our thinking, and this thinking, to conform to St. Paul's injunction to have that Mind in us which was also in Christ Jesus, must consist in expressing ideas which have their inception in the Mind which is God, and not in ourselves. Take, for example, love. You and I may express love in our thinking. That love is not something which you and I have created or which has originated within us. It is something you and I have appropriated from that inexhaustible supply of Love or divine Mind or intelligence. Love has always existed. As there is but one God, and as God is Love, there could not possibly be more than one Love. So the Love which you and I express in our thinking comes to us from without. It comes to us from the infinite intelligence, and is expressed through you and me as idea. Kindness, patience, tenderness, gentleness, are all ideas of Love. Now, ideas are the only sons and daughters that Mind or intelligence has. Therefore these ideas, resident in individual consciousness, or thinking, constitute man. Man as a son of God must be an idea, a compound idea, of that divine intelligence or Mind which is God. God is Mind or divine intelligence, existing in infinity outside human consciousness. This Mind is evidenced or expressed through ideas of brain or of the individual, in their entirety outside human consciousness, constitute the Christ. When these ideas, or the Christ, wholly displace false carnal beliefs in human consciousness they reveal and constitute the individuality of man, or the true man, the man of God's creating.

So the man of God's creating is not made up of flesh and blood and bones; he is not subject to birth, growth, maturity, and death. He is co-eternal and co-existent with God, dwelling as a divine idea in the consciousness of the Mind creating him. He is ideal, divine, pure, unstructured, eternal; never subject to matter or the vagaries of matter; never fallen; never subject to sin, sickness, poverty, want, unhappiness, or death. To the extent that you and I admit into our consciousness and express in thought those ideas which constitute the Christ, those ideas which are the sons of God, to that extent, and to that extent only, are we becoming God's children, and bringing ourselves under God's eternal laws of health, happiness, freedom, and spirituality. Love, kindness, obedience to good, spirituality in thought, purity, honesty, forgiveness, forbearance, patience, and the like, are all children of God, and you and I may avail ourselves of their blessing to just the extent that we admit and entertain them in individual consciousness. We have the privilege, here and now, of availing ourselves of our sonship with God, depending entirely on our method of thinking and nothing else.

Mortal Man

What, say you, then, of this material man, this man of flesh and blood and bones, this Adam-man? Who made him? What of his beginning and what of his end? What of this world into which he is born, in which he lives, and out of which he thinks he dies? As the creation of spiritual man, or God's man, is recorded in the first chapter of Genesis, so the second chapter of Genesis is accredited with the account of the creation of this material man, this Adam-man, and this second and material account of the creation of man pictures him as the product of a mist or a mystification or a misunderstanding. This term "mist" is referred to in other parts of the Bible by other names, such as the "covering cast over all people," and "the veil that is spread over all nations," spoken of in Isaiah. In Hebrews, this term "veil" is used as a synonym for the flesh. In other parts of the Bible we find the terms darkness and ignorance used in place of the term "mist" or "veil." St. Paul, in referring to the material, uses the term "carnal mind" in place of the term "mist." Therefore, our conclusion is that material existence is not a product of God or intelligence, but is the outcome of the lack of intelligence or Mind; God, in other words, the material is a state of non-intelligence, or no intelligence, which in its last analysis is unconsciousness. Mrs. Eddy refers to material existence as a dream, in which the dream and dreamer are one. The process, then, of awakening us from this state of unconsciousness into our true and spiritual state of existence involves putting off the material and putting on the spiritual. Referring to this material man, whose origin is described in the second chapter of Genesis, Isaiah said, "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of?" Job, referring to this material man, this man of flesh and blood and bones, thus said: "Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not." Peter said of him, "All flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away." Jesus said, "The flesh [that is, this man of flesh and blood and bones; this Adam-man] profiteth nothing." Thus we find that the writers in the Bible do not attach much sanctity to the creation or perpetuation of this mortal man—this Adam-man. He certainly is not a child of God. He is not even a fallen child of God who subsequently may regain a state of original perfection. He never enjoyed a state of perfection, nor have any of his ancestors or forbears enjoyed a state of perfection from which they have fallen. God's man could not be unlike God. He could not sin any more than God could sin. He could not have fallen unless God had fallen. He could not be sick; he could not be poverty-stricken; he could not be material more than God could be sick or poverty-stricken or material.

How to account for this mortal sense of man; how to escape from all the direful consequences which the belief in his reality brings us; and how to claim and appropriate to ourselves our God-given heritage of freedom and dominion as children of God, is explained to us in Christian Science. Just as God is ever present Mind or divine intelligence, existing outside our individual consciousness, awaiting admission thereto through our individual thinking, so, what St. Paul has called the carnal mind, that which is referred to as the "mist" or the "veil," counterfeiting the divine at every point, claims existence as one mind outside mortal man or human consciousness, awaiting admission thereto. Just as we admit the divine into thought at our own will or volition, so do we admit the carnal into thought at our own will or volition. As divine ideas are not emanations of brain or of the individual, or the case of carnal thoughts—they are all expressed through man in consciousness or thinking. So thinking may be said to be the process of accepting into consciousness or rejecting from consciousness divine ideas or carnal thoughts, rather than the process of creating or originating either.

Material Existence

As the reflection of divine ideas through man constitutes spiritual existence, without any taint of matter or materiality, sin, sickness, or death, so the expression of carnal thoughts in individual consciousness or thinking constitutes our material concept of existence—this world of ideas and this man of flesh. Matter and the material world, including mortal man, with all his sin, his sickness, his poverty, his want, and his woe, exist, not because of any creative power of their own, but because of the existence of the carnal in individual thought.

This carnal mind, so called, in its attempted counterfeit of the spiritual, contains all the elements of evil, and these elements of thought admitted to individual consciousness result in individual material existence. Because of the supposed existence of the carnal mind in your and my thinking—or the absence of the divine—we are conscious of matter. The material world is simply the carnal mind expressed in individual consciousness, and therefore must be a counterfeit world. You and I, for instance, think in terms of the carnal mind; this carnal thinking in turn is objectified as matter. Thus matter has no more substance than thought, because matter is thought. The process of material existence is something after this fashion: first, the carnal mind claiming existence outside of human consciousness or thinking; secondly, the admission to your and my consciousness of carnal thoughts coming from this so-called mind; thirdly, the individual objectification of these carnal thoughts as matter. Your and my material world are simply the individual objectification of carnal thoughts which you and I admit into consciousness from this one so-called carnal mind which claims existence outside of mortal man. Therefore, your world and my world are individual and separate; that is, your world is the individual objectification of carnal thoughts which you admit into your consciousness from without, and my world is the individual objectification of carnal thoughts which I admit into my consciousness. Consequently, each of us makes his own individual world by his own individual thinking, and therefore there must be as many material concepts of existence as there are individuals, and each material concept of existence must be a counterfeit of the true and spiritual—the infinite.

The material does not exist outside your and my thinking. It exists in and because of our thinking. On page 67 of "Retrospection and Introspection" Mrs. Eddy furnishes us with the most illuminating explanation, where she says: "Sin [that is, the carnal mind] existed as a false claim before the human concept of sin was formed." Now what is the human concept of sin, or the carnal mind? Why, matter or material existence. "Hence," she says, "one's concept of error [or the carnal] is not the whole of error," explaining, of course, that the carnal exists outside human consciousness and becomes a part of one's conscious existence only to the extent that it is admitted to individual thinking. Then she goes on to say in this same article, "The human thought does not constitute sin, but vice versa, sin constitutes the human or physical concept;" that is, the carnal mind does not originate in individual thinking, but comes from without, and this carnal mind admitted to thought or consciousness constitutes our physical concept of existence. "Sin" is both concrete and abstract," she goes on to say; that is, error or the carnal mind exists in its abstract state as one so-called mind outside human consciousness without physical evidence, but when it is admitted to human consciousness it becomes concrete or individual, that is, material. So the carnal mind becomes objectified as matter only as it becomes active in individual thinking. Therefore, each individual concept of material existence must, of necessity, be separate and distinct from every other individual concept of existence.

The Physical Senses

The five physical senses are mental objectifications of the carnal mind; therefore, we are not conscious of matter because we see, feel, taste, smell, or hear matter. We are conscious of matter because seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, and hearing are creations of thought. We do not see with our eyes or hear with our ears, even from a material point of view. We see, feel, taste, smell, and hear with our thinking. An unconscious man, for instance, is possessed of all his material faculties, and yet he cannot see, feel, taste, smell, or hear a thing. He doesn't even know that he has a material body, and he can't begin to see, feel, taste, smell, or hear again until he begins to think again. And further than that, someone else may do our seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling and hearing for us; that is, we may be made to see, feel, taste, smell, and hear what someone else thinks. Take, for example, the operations of the hypnotist. I have seen a hypnotist take possession of the mentality of another to the extent that the victim could be made to see, feel, taste, smell, and hear anything the hypnotist might suggest. I have seen the victim of a hypnotist be made to suffer intense physical pain when no bodily injury had been inflicted, and I have seen such a victim become perfectly oblivious to bodily injuries, pin-pricks, and needle thrusts, at the suggestion of the hypnotist. I have seen subjects of hypnotism be made to think that they were enjoying the extreme pleasure of swimming when there was no water in sight. I have seen them listen intently and with extreme delight to the strains of beautiful music which did not exist. I have seen them enjoy a banquet in the absence of a particle of food. In fact, I have seen individuals so completely dispossessed of their own power to think that their seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, and hearing have been exclusively that of someone else. They have seen, felt, tasted, heard, and smelled the thoughts of another, a fact which not only proves that we see, feel, taste, smell, and hear our own thoughts, or thoughts only, but which proves also that our thinking is not done through the medium of brain, and that the operation of thinking is of such an indeterminate nature that someone else may take complete possession of our physical senses and do our seeing, feeling, tasting, smelling, and hearing for us.

The Artist and His Canvas

All our experiences of life exist in our own consciousness. All the sin, the sickness, the poverty, the want, the woe, the unhappiness of mortal living exist only in and as a consequence of the carnal mind entertained in individual consciousness. All happiness, joy, love, purity, holiness, freedom, abundance, true health and harmony exist in the divine Mind or God, and become a part of our conscious existence to the extent that this Mind finds an abiding place in our thinking. So, do you not see how completely within our own control are our own lives and experiences? Every material condition has its spiritual opposite in Spirit or God, and as the material is quite obviously the product of our own erroneous thinking, do you not see how we may begin to change our material picture for good by gradually excluding the carnal from thought and substituting in place thereof the divine or spiritual? Material existence may be likened to the canvas of an artist. With the brush of carnal thoughts we paint our material picture of existence with all the experiences of life. We paint into that picture matter, grief, sorrow, want, lack, unhappiness, poverty, hate, greed, selfishness, fear, strife, dishonesty, impurity, loss—all of the phases of the carnal mind. Nothing ugly, harmful, or discordant can come into a picture that is not made possible by the carnal in our individual consciousness, and nothing can erase from that picture these dark images of thought but the divine entertained in human consciousness.

Our picture as it now exists is a world of matter filled with sin, grief, regrets, sorrows, failures, mistakes, want, workless and helpless men, broken homes, shattered fortunes, crippled businesses, disappointments, misunderstandings, disagreements, jealousies, hatreds, suspicions, trickery, treachery, occultism, secret mental manipulation, passions, false appetites, and the like. All of these exist in the individual picture which you and I have painted with our brushes of carnal thoughts. All these exist in our individual worlds because of the carnal which exists in our individual thinking. So, do you not see that our remedy for individual freedom from all this lies not in changing the world's thought, nor in changing material conditions or manifestations, but in changing, by the influx of the divine, our individual thinking?

For every untoward, harmful, ugly, and baneful incident, experience, or circumstance in our individual picture, there is a corrective, alternative and obliterating spiritual idea which, if admitted to and entertained in individual consciousness, will, to that extent, change and brighten our individual pictures of existence. For every hate there is an idea of love. For every argument of unhappiness there is the panacea of joy. For every ill there are God's ideas of perfection and health. For every want there is the idea of God's abundance; for death there is Life; for false appetites there is the idea of completeness and satisfaction; for dishonesty there is honesty; for impurity there is spirituality; for inharmoniousness there is harmony; for strife and mistakes there is the one Mind; for selfishness and greed there is ever present abundance and fulfillment; for matter there is Spirit.

We paint into our pictures exactly what we hold in thought, and just as the artist changes his canvas by a stroke of the brush here and there, painting out the shadows with the sunshine, the gloom with the light, the rough places with the traceries of harmony, so each one of us may paint and regulate his own world and experiences for good by refusing to admit the carnal into thought and by tracing on his world canvas only those pure and exalting ideas which he knows come from God, and which, when allowed place in consciousness, obliterate the dark and unpleasant aspects of the mortal picture and brighten it with the sunlight of God.

If we would have a world filled with love, happiness, harmony, contentment, abundance, success, and joy, you and I must make it so. Each of us creates and lives in his own individual world. If we would have our world filled with love, you and I must put the love there. If we would have our world filled with joy and happiness, you and I must put the joy and happiness there. If we would experience abundance, we must not think in terms of poverty. If we would enjoy joy health, we must not think in terms of matter. No one else, no outside condition or influence, can make for sorrow or happiness in our individual world. Each one of us experiences and takes out of existence just what he puts into it. Our world will not contain anything of love for us if our consciousness is filled with hate and criticism. Our world will not contain anything of joy or happiness for us if our own thoughts are those of worry and sin. Our world will not contain anything of abundance and success for us if our own thoughts are those of fear, penury, and lack.

Heaven and Prayer

We think ourselves into the kingdom of heaven. We never enter heaven through the doorway of death. Death is a part of that carnal mind which brings sin and suffering and pain and want and woe. Death, the Bible tells us, is the work of the devil, and one would not hope to gain heaven with the tools of Satan. Right thinking, or spiritual thinking, is prayer. Right thinking is the process of mental purification and mental purification rules out of thought all that has to do with the carnal—all sin, sickness, and death. Heaven is that state of consciousness which harbors no trace of the material—no element of the carnal. Hence, right thinking or mental purification leads to heaven, and Paul's demand to "pray without ceasing" becomes a paramount and constant necessity.

So, do you not see how regularity of our right thinking becomes, how by bringing God into our lives, by admitting divine ideas into consciousness, we bring good into our daily experiences? Our material world at its best is but the carnal in thought objectified, and therefore, the substitution of divine ideas in our thinking must eliminate some of the carnal in our world, and in place of the carnal establish the divine and harmonious. Our material world is an inharmonious one to our mind and not only because of the inharmonies in our own thinking. As fast as you and I can bring into thought the harmony of the divine, just so fast will materiality lose its inharmonious aspects and assume the aspects of peace and harmony. When we can so fill consciousness with the divine that we can see our brother man as Jesus saw him, we will not come in contact with dishonesty, trickery, or hate in our everyday life. To the extent that we see through our own pure thinking see man as God's child, to that extent does he cease to be dishonest, untruthful, and hateful to us. So, do you not see that a powerful instrument for good we have with us always, and now our right and pure thinking constitutes an impenetrable armor of protection from all the evil influences and forces claiming existence in the realm of the material?

Individual Control of the Material

Thus we begin to understand that our mental attitude toward others is governed not so much by our concern for the welfare of others as by our concern for our own welfare. If we cannot see our brother man as God's child, free from sin, sickness, poverty, and the like, we certainly cannot expect to eliminate these conditions from our own experiences. Jesus did not admonish us to love our neighbor as ourselves so much on account of our neighbor as on account of ourselves. Jesus knew that in the proportion that we see our neighbor as a perfect child of God, unfettered by sin, sickness, and poverty, in that proportion are we overcoming those conditions in our own individual consciousness and experience. And thus do we realize the necessity of protecting our own thinking at all times and under all conditions. In the material picture which we paint with the brushes of mortal or carnal thought we must understand that one wrong thought held in consciousness affects the entire picture, and that we cannot hope to bring out harmony in any of our experiences if wrong thought exists in one particular. That is, one wrong thought in consciousness has the uncomfortable and inevitable faculty of affecting the entire picture, just as a wrong stroke of the brush in the hand of the artist may mar the entire aspect of the painted canvas.

Hate, malice, impatience, dishonesty, and so forth, toward one person or one thing in our lives, even though our mental attitude towards all other persons and things is ideal, will affect our entire mortal picture and will bring inharmonies into everything we undertake. And just as one wrong thought works ill in our entire material picture, so one right idea held in consciousness will change the entire picture for good, and the more of God we entertain in consciousness, the more harmonious and sublime becomes our mortal, material picture, our lives and our environment. I have known a failing or a bankrupt business to be revived and resuscitated by the correction of an erroneous or inharmonious condition in the home. I have known nothing in all my experience that tends to business failure more certain.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Grace T. Whittemore, widow, to the Newton Co-operative Bank, dated December 31st, 1928, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5313, Page 311, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction on the sixteenth (16th) day of February 1935, on the mortgage premises, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage:

TO WIT: "Four certain parcels of land with the buildings thereon comprising lots numbered 3 and 4, situated on the southeasterly side of Washington Street in said Newton, as shown on a plan of the 'Subdivision of the Estate of Grace T. Whittemore in Newton, Mass.', dated November 1925, Rowland H. Barnes and Henry F. Boake, Civil Engineers, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5313, Page 311, and lots numbered 11 and 12, situated on the northeasterly side of Whittemore Road, as shown on the above-mentioned plan.

Said lots 3 and 4 are together bounded and described as follows: Northeastly by said Washington Street, one hundred forty-four and 3/4 (144 3/4) feet;

Southeasterly by land shown as lot numbered 2 on said plan, one hundred twenty and 1/100 (120 1/100) feet;

Southeasterly by land shown as lots numbered 13, 14, 15, and 16 on said plan, one hundred thirty-seven and 57/100 (137 57/100) feet;

Northwesterly by land shown as lot numbered 5 on said plan, one hundred twenty and 1/100 (120 1/100) feet;

Southwesterly by land shown as lot numbered 6 on said plan, one hundred and 1/100 (100 1/100) feet;

Southwesterly by land shown as lot numbered 10 on said plan, one hundred and 1/100 (100 1/100) feet;

Southwesterly by land shown as lot numbered 12 on said plan, one hundred and 1/100 (100 1/100) feet;

Said parcels comprise a portion of the premises conveyed to me by deed of John A. Gray dated April 12, 1888, recorded with said Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1842, Page 535, and are hereby conveyed restricted to the use of a record so far as now in force and applicable and to the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Newton.

There is excepted from the above described premises so much thereof as was released to the City of Newton by instrument dated June 24, 1929 and recorded with said Deeds, Book 5410, Page 244. Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes or other municipal liens and assessments, and to tax titles outstanding, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00) in cash or certified check to be paid by the purchaser on the day and time of the sale, and the balance within ten (10) days. Other terms to be announced at the sale.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Middlesex, ss. Probate Court

To William B. Payne, Harry M. Payne, Junior M. Payne, minor, of Norwood, in the County of Norfolk; Edna B. Payne of said Norwood, individually, and as she is executrix of and administratrix of the estate of Harry M. Payne, late of said Norwood, deceased, and as she is guardian of said minor, of said Norwood, in the State of New York; Bartlett H. Hayes of parts unknown and to all other persons interested in the estate of Frederick W. Payne late of Newton, in said County of Middlesex, deceased.

A petition has been presented to said Court by Philip Ketchum, as he is surviving trustee under the will of said Frederick W. Payne, representing that said Frederick W. Payne gave the residue of his estate in trust, and provided that upon the death of this wife, Alice S. Payne, the trust fund should be divided equally between his sons, said Harry M. Payne and said George D. Payne; that said George D. Payne also assigned to said Harry M. Payne, as to the validity of said claims; and praying that the validity and effect of said judicial assignments be determined; that said petitioner be instructed as to who is entitled to said said estate; that expenses and costs be assessed against said fund, and for such further relief as may be deemed proper and necessary.

If you desire to object thereto you or your attorney should file a written answer in said Court at Cambridge, before ten o'clock in the forenoon, on the twelfth day of February, 1935, the return of this citation, and also file a written answer or other legal pleading within twenty-one days thereafter.

Witness, John C. Leggat, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five.

Warren Jr. High

Warrenites who remained for the entertainment on Wednesday afternoon, January 16th, were convinced that the days of magic were certainly with us. As they watched Mr. Mischa Tulin, the celebrated Russian artist, stand before his desk-like instrument and with extended hands draw forth melodious tones of violin, cello or flute, they fairly gasped with amazement. Handel's "Largo," Bizet's "Pearl-fisher," "Home on the Range," and "Trees" were the selections chosen to reveal the range and beauty of this strange musical instrument, the Theremin, named in honor of its inventor, Professor Theremin. It is the first new addition to the list of musical instruments in the past 110 years, and at present there are but two in use. Mr. Tulin, who was born in Russia and studied at the Imperial Conservatory of Music in Petrograd, explained how the electrical current and the nearness of the human body to the instrument produced the various sounds in greater variety than any instrument except the organ.

The members of the Transmitter staff with their sponsor, Miss Walsh, will attend the meeting of the League of Eastern Massachusetts High School Publications to be held on January 25 at Wellesley College.

The Warren Athletic Association has elected the following officers: President, John Fifield; Boys' Vice President, Richard McLellan; Girls' Vice President, Doris Carter; Secretary, William McLellan; Treasurer, Mary Walsh.

Room 114 has voted to gather 2500 old victrola records in order to obtain a combination radio-victrola for their classroom. They are hoping that people will respond generously to solicitors.

Among the visitors at Warren this week were Supt. of Schools, Mr. Julius E. Warren, and several students from Wellesley College, Simmons College, and Sargent School of Physical Education.

Rehearsals are now in progress for the Faculty play which will be presented early in February. The play is "Green Stockings," a comedy in three acts, by A. E. W. Mason.

Warren Junior High presented the following program in its first radio broadcast on Monday, Jan. 21st, at two o'clock from Station WBZ: Announcements, Marcia Burrows; Accounts of Warren, Jerry Harvey; Piano solo, "Hungarian" by MacDowell, Dorothy Kovitz; School News, William Stark; Biographical Notes on important birthdays of the week, William Walsh, Doris Carter, Mary Dillon; Robert Burns, Lillian Railsback; Harmonica selections, Salvatore Yerardi; Interview with Miss Cleveland on the meaning of Educational Guidance.

The Reds were undefeated in the girls' basketball color games. The outstanding players in this series were: Mary Hildreth, Lorraine Stickney, Jerry Harvey; Blues: Ruth Jones, Jean Kennison, Paris DePuchio; Greens: Lena Lechario; Yellows: Virginia Wilder.

Warren can add little to the glowing tributes which have been paid to Mr. Frank F. Carr of the Weeks Junior High School. The friendly relationship which our school has always maintained with the schools under his supervision brings this loss very close to us. The Warren School Community extends its sympathy to the members of his family and to the Weeks Junior High School.

Bigelow Junior H. S.

On Monday, Jan. 14th, at 2:00 p. m., the Bigelow Junior High School broadcast over Station WBZ. John Roney, president of the ninth grade, was announcer and master of ceremonies. The program was as follows: School Song, Violin solo, by William MacDonald, accompanied by Mary Louise Shadman; Reading, "The Ballad of the Oysterman," by Virginia Rowland; Duet, Laura Lord and Mary Louise Shadman; Selections, "Two Seas," "Feeling Fine," Irene Sampson; Accordion solo, by Herbert Jackson; School song.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Gulesian are rejoicing over the birth of a son on Jan. 20th. This child will be named Mark for his paternal grandfather. Mrs. Gulesian was Miss Doris Natho and a former member of the Bigelow faculty. Mr. Gulesian is the teacher of General Shop.

Mr. Laughton gave a very interesting talk in a special assembly on Friday morning, Jan. 18th. This talk was on winter sports, especially skiing, and it was repeated in another special assembly on Monday morning, Jan. 21.

On Thursday, Jan. 10, the Bigelow won a home game of basketball from the Warren Junior High School. The score was 22 to 15. On Thursday, Jan. 17th, at the Weeks Junior High School, the score was Weeks, 23; Bigelow, 14.

Weeks Jr. High

The Senior Class held its first meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 16. William Johnston, the recently-elected president, presided and presented the other officers to the class. In order to eliminate the necessity of holding class meetings too frequently, it was voted that a cabinet composed of one member from each ninth-grade home room be elected. The members of the cabinet were: Room 104, David Birtwell; Room 204, Ellis Dierdor; 208, Peter Geisler; 211, Robert Higgins; 213, Donald Manchester; 216, Roy Spilman; 314, Lee Pattison; 317, Leland Sosman; 319C, Charles Nightingale.

tainty than in harmony in the home. The same rule applies in all departments of human existence. A lady I know had been suffering for some years from a very pronounced and painful tumor. At a Christian Science lecture she gained a clear spiritual understanding of a certain passage of Scripture. This clear understanding operating in her consciousness healed her almost instantaneously of that tumor, although the particular passage of Scripture had nothing to do specifically with tumor or with healing. This but illustrates in a degree how Truth or right ideas operating in individual consciousness affect, alter, and heal that which needs correcting in the mortal picture which the carnal mind has painted for us.

Freedom

Every carnal thought expressed as a material object every carnal thought expressed by word of mouth, every carnal thought which comes to your and my consciousness, comes by way of mental suggestion. That which you and I feel, see, taste, smell, or hear through the material direction of Mr. Peterson, were taken on a conducted tour of the new publishing house of the Christian Science Publishing Society. It required an hour and a half to go through the various departments of the building. Most interesting processes were witnessed, including the operation of the printing presses, the binding of periodicals and books, and the gold-leafing of the pages of the books. The editorial, business, and mailing departments were also visited; and throughout the building, many points of architectural interest were pointed out.

The Weeks basketball teams won both games last week when they entertained the Bigelow aggregations. The Varsity has developed into a fast group with good scoring power, while the Junior Varsity has shown considerable improvement since the first game. The results: Weeks Varsity, 23, Bigelow, 13; Weeks Junior Varsity 14, Bigelow 4.

Day Jr. High School

The teachers and pupils of the F. A. Day Junior High School wish to extend deepest sympathy to the family of Mr. Frank Carr who died last Saturday. Mr. Carr was the organizer of the Junior High School system in this city, beginning with the F. A. Day. For several years he served the school faithfully as principal, advisor, and friend, before assuming the responsibility of organizing the Weeks Junior High. His death brings a deep sense of loss to all his friends and associates.

Twelve eighth graders have announced their candidacy for class officers. They are speakers at the rallies held in the auditorium on Thursday and Friday mornings during the home room period. Howard Thomas acted as rally chairman and introduced the candidates. Primaries will be held on Monday, radio appeals on Tuesday, and the final election on Wednesday.

The winter meeting of the League of Junior High School Publications will be held in Alumnae Hall at Wellesley College on Friday afternoon. Nine members of the "Daytonian" staff, accompanied by Mr. Addison Cowles, Miss Helen Spelman, and Mr. Russell Burkhardt, will represent the school. Frank Scheel will be there in his capacity as treasurer of the League.

Boys' Department News

On Friday, January 18th, thirty-five members of the Boys' Department gathered for supper served under the direction of one of the Secretaries.

After supper the whole group went into the auditorium where a period of games was in progress. First, William McMahon of Newtonville volunteered to go for an airplane ride and his trip proved to be one of the most entertaining features of the evening.

Albert Sementelli, also of Newtonville, then showed his "speed" in a "football race" in which the contestants were requested to run two steps forward, then one backward in their progress toward the goal. Albert won his heat and the finals by a foot.

The next event was a match box relay in which the contestants were required to pass match box covers from nose to nose without using their hands.

After a game of "Blow Out" the group went for the ever welcome "splash" in the pool and from there to the social room for an interesting story before leaving for home.

Sliding Party

Saturday afternoon found a group of the "Y" boys gathered in the "Y" field for one of their Saturday afternoon Sliding Parties. The hill and field make a perfect and safe place to slide and the group had quite a period of sport before being called together for the distance sliding event. This proved to be quite exciting as each trial seemed to find a new mark posted and a new boy in the lead. However, the event ended with Edward Patrick of Newton taking first place; Dominic Magnarelli also of Newton, second; Stewart Stoney of Watertown, third; and Leslie Spaulding of Newtonville, fourth.

Toboggan Party Planned
Saturday afternoon, January 26th, has been set aside for a Toboggan party for the members of the Boys' Department. The whole group under the direction of a leader, will leave the "Y" building early in the afternoon for the Newton Centre Playground and there will spend the afternoon on the toboggans.

senses is simply a suggestion of the carnal mind. There is nothing in material existence but thought, and these thoughts, no matter whether they appear as persons, places, things, or thoughts, stand constantly at the door of consciousness knocking for admission, and the admission of these thoughts creates that carnal consciousness which expresses itself as a material world. The very atmosphere is surcharged with mortal or carnal suggestions, crowding for admission into individual consciousness, and it is only through spiritual understanding that we gain the acumen whereby we may distinguish the true from the false and thereby throw about us that wall of protection which proves a sure defense from all evil influences.

Thought is the most potent and tangible thing in the material world, whether it be expressed as matter or unrecognizable by the physical senses, and unless one is instructed in the ways of true holiness and spiritual understanding, one becomes the puppet and slave of all the evil and hidden influences of carnal existence. Many evil influences exist in the realm of the mental to which individuals become victims and subject without their knowledge or consent because they are not instructed in and familiar with the power and potency of the divine. When one learns of the omnipotence of divine ideas and understands how to distinguish the divine from the carnal, then one, through his alliance with God by right and pure thinking, ceases to become a victim of the mental and evil suggestions and influences which today are handling and manipulating the thoughts and consciousness of humanity through directed mental suggestion.

So, do you not see that our deliverance from all the worries, the cares, the poverty, and the misery of mortal living lies with God? My friends, bring Him into your consciousness. Make Him a part of your conscious existence, your life and your being, and He will be your "very present help in time of trouble." Having that Mind in you which was also in Christ Jesus is praying with God. Pray constantly. Never cease your constant, conscious communion with Him whom "to know aright is Life eternal" (Science and Health, p. vii). "Be instant in season," and out. Cherish and guard those silent, consecrated moments you spend with Him. They are worth more to you than untold riches and the beguiling joys and pleasures of the flesh. Lengthen your moments of silent and reverent prayer with Him into hours—hours of holy, sanctified communion. Know God as you would a dear friend. Know Him as your Mother and your Father. Talk with Him. Think with Him. Your moments and hours of holy contemplation of God, and with God, will bring to you unknown and unthought-of blessings; they will bring a comfort, a conviction, a peace that nothing else can. Your hours of silent prayerful thought will be to you "Immanuel"—"God with us"—and will unfold you in the love, the compassion, the care, and the guidance of His infinite and omnipotent wisdom. His Christ is here and now pleading ing for asylum with you. Let him in, welcome him, cherish and hold him. He is saying to you in the words of St. John: "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him,

Negro Baritone at Newton Church Sunday Evening

Sylvester Carter, Negro baritone, will sing at the Community Sunday Evening Service to be held at the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Centre and Wesley streets, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Carter, though still a college student, has already won an enviable place for himself as a soloist. He is a graduate from Bates College, Maine. While there he was soloist and director of the Glee Club, an honor student and voted the most popular member of his class. At present Mr. Carter is attending the School of Medicine of Boston University and is the director of its Glee Club. This young artist has given programs in the various states of New England and is heard frequently over the radio.

Rev. Newton A. Merritt will preach.

Hubbard Pharmacy Awarded Prize in Statewide Contest

The Hubbard Pharmacy at 425 Centre street, Newton, won another distinct honor on Monday when it was awarded a prize in the state-wide contest for drug store displays in competition with 2200 drug stores throughout Massachusetts. The competition included both window and store displays and was conducted last October during National Pharmacy Week. The window display at Hubbard Pharmacy featured an old style display of herbs and drugs and was arranged by George A. Ouellet, one of the staff of registered pharmacists at Hubbard Pharmacy. More than 350 herbs were displayed together with descriptive photographs and cards. An interesting feature of the display was a map of the United States showing where the various herbs grow.

At the meeting of the Mass. State Pharmaceutical Association at Worcester on Monday Mr. Wilfred Chagnon brought out before a group of several hundred druggists that the prescription department in his drug store was primary and not a side line. He said that a drug store may well be judged by the size, completeness of stock and neatness of its prescription department. The Hubbard Pharmacy was established in 1887 by Fred A. Hubbard and Harry Proctor and has always enjoyed a high reputation. It carries one of the most complete stocks of herbs, drugs and biologicals of any drug store in Massachusetts and its staff includes five registered pharmacists.

Stearns School Group to Hold Annual Meeting

The Stearns School Centre, an organization, which through the help of a social worker carries on a wide variety of activities and offers recreational facilities to women and boys and girls in the Stearns School building, held their annual meeting on Monday afternoon, January 21, at 2 o'clock, at the home of the President, Mrs. Cecil W. Clark, 363 Walnut street, Newtonville.

Mr. Sterling L. Williams, of the Social Studies Department of Newton High School, addressed the group, speaking on "Hitler and the German of Today." Mr. Williams, who has traveled extensively, discussed the present day problems with the insight and knowledge gained from first-hand information.

NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION, INC.

On Tuesday, Jan. 22nd, the directors and officers of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, Inc., gave a luncheon in honor of Mrs. George Talbot, who is retiring after 15 years of devoted service as president of the association. Forty-eight guests met at the Brae Burn Country Club and after the luncheon, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, the new president, expressed the regret of the board of directors in Mrs. Talbot's retirement and presented her with a fitted traveling bag and silver traveling clock in token of the long friendly years of work together. Mrs. Talbot remains on the board of directors.

The annual meeting of the Newton Hospital Aid was held at the Newton Hospital early this month.

The retiring president, Mrs. George H. Talbot, presided. The annual reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and accepted. Mrs. F. H. Williams in charge of the Benefit Shop, in giving her report, asked for the continued co-operation of all members in donations for the shop. The good derived is two fold, helping the needy people who are able to buy clothing and furniture at small cost.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read by Mrs. Joseph Lovell, chairman, and one vote cast by the secretary. The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson; vice presidents, 1st, Mrs. Frank A. Jay Jr.; 2nd, Mrs. Pitt F. Drew; 3rd, Miss Mary Sawyer; 4th, Mrs. W. V. Taylor; 5th, Mrs. Jane Dutch; 6th, Mrs. Charles Floyd; 7th, Mrs. Charles Riley; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest J. Weaver; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Francis Williams; treasurer, Mrs. J. Morley Lodge.

Miss Allen, superintendent of the Newton Hospital, spoke of the activities and improvements at the Hospital during 1934.

The gifts to the Hospital from the Newton Hospital Aid during 1934 were:

New Clinic Equipment, $175.00; Herald-Traveler Subscription, $7.80; Rug, $50.00; Curtains, $25.00; Fellowship, $250.00; Two Scholarships, 1st and 2nd yr. nurses, $50.00 and $75.00; X-Ray Equipment, $1508.00; Mistifier for premature nursery, $180.00; Insulation for premature nursery, $350.00; Sound proofing room for noisy patients, $215.00; Free Bed, $106.00.

Following this Dr. Crawford O. Smith spoke on "A Harvest of Dictators."

The meeting was followed by a luncheon served in the Nurses' dining room Mrs. Clarence L. Weaver acting as luncheon chairman.

Two Newtonville Young People in Exhibition Dance

Clara Schwab of 230 Cabot st., Newtonville and Donald Berry of 957 Washington st., Newtonville, made their debut in exhibition dancing at the annual meeting of the First Newlework Guild of Boston at Hotel Vendome, Boston, Monday afternoon. In the Spanish Episode of "The Pageant of Shawls," which was presented by the Guild, Miss Schwab did a solo Spanish dance. Mr. Berry joined her in a tango to "Orchids in the Moonlight" and a waltz done to "Indian Love Call" the latter having been set to three-four time by Mrs. Norman P. Hall who accompanied the dancers on the piano.

Miss Schwab, who is the daughter of Mrs. Bruce H. Schwab, is a junior in the Newton High School, while Mr. Berry, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Berry, is a member of the senior class. He appeared at the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the Newton Centre Dramatic Club a few months ago when he did the Mexican dance "La Cucaracha."

Newton Boys and Girls at Annual Camp Reunion

The Newtons were well represented at the annual mid-winter banquets and reunions of Camps Wyanoke and Winemont which were held at the Hotel Statler Saturday.

Nearly two hundred boys and girls gathered at the two dinners and from 11 to 5 acquaintances were renewed and summer experiences recalled. Following the banquets both camps gathered in the Georgian Room where they were entertained by the Floyds, magicians, and mind readers. Later movies taken at Wyanoke last summer were shown.

Anson Piper of Newton Highlands entertained with cornet solos and Mr. C. Ralph Spaulding, Newtonville, with the violin. Among the speakers was Billy Squier, representing the Senior camp, from Newton Centre.

Among the Newton boys at the reunion were R. H. Bicknell, Jr., Robert H. Elwell, George L. Engle, Jr., Newton Centre; Richard F. Kerr, Newton Highlands; Bradford King, Newtonville; Andrew J. Mahoney, Waban; Richard S. McCrudden, West Newton; Anson Piper, Newton Highlands; Peter and Philip Seiler, Newton Centre; Renshaw Smith, III, Newton; William Squier, Newton Centre; John Wilkins, Newton Highlands; Roger Gardner, Newton Centre and Andrew Seid, Waban. Mr. C. Ralph Spaulding, Mr. Walter S. Sears, and Melvin C. King, of Newton, and of the Wyanoke staff, were also present at the dinner. Camps Wyanoke and Winemont are operated by Walter H. Bentley of Winchester.

Parish Players To Present Three Plays

On the evening of January 30th, Wednesday, the Parish Players will present three one-act plays in St. Paul's Parish House. The feature of the evening will be a new play by Rev. Charles O. Farrar called "He Who Commands the Tower," a drama of 15th century setting. The cast includes Caroline Allingham, Dorothy Goddard, Lloyd Yeager, Kemp Lambert and Wm. Newby. Following this play, which opens the evening, a short skit, "Hush Money" will be presented with Jeanne Sargent, Henry Crossen and John L. Allen. The third and final play of the evening will be a comedy, "Mrs. Pat and the Law" enacted by Mrs. Winnifred Douglas, Genevieve Dorothy, Paul Swail and Edgar S. Swail.

WHITE TO SUPPORT CHILDS

Jan. 22, 1935.

Editor of Newton Graphic:
I desire to inform my friends that I do not intend to be a candidate for mayor of Newton this year.

That office demands experience in civic affairs. Proven ability to govern for the good of all the people and not for the benefit of a clique, a return to the Pay as you go Policy and a reduction of taxation.

It is hardly necessary for me to state that Edwin O. Childs stands for all that is right in governmental administration and in civil life.
